Allies Move For Urgent U. N. Action

Double Soviet Veto May Block Airing Of Case

Bevin, Denouncing Russia, Warns U.N. May Be Shattered

PARIS, Sept. 27 (AP) — Britain's Ernest Bevin warned today that the United Nations may fall apart over the East-West conflict and the possibility arose that a double veto by Russia will keep the Berlin crisis out of the Security Council.

The Foreign Secretary told the United Nations Assembly that Russia alone will be to blame if the black fury of an atomic war grips the world. If it is impossible to work on a world basis, he declared, "we must proceed on a regional basis."

Accusing Russia of insincerity, untruthfulness and evasion, he said: "It is better to have our difficulties now than to live in a fool's paradise." He added:

"If the black fury, the incalculable disaster of atomic war should fall upon us, all I can say is, that one power x x x will alone be responsible for the evils which may be visited upon mankind."

A delegate from Soviet-dominated Poland told a reporter tonight that Russia may invoke the double veto to block council acceptance of the Western Powers' Berlin case and thus snuff out an airing of the charges against Russia at the very start. His statement came as the three powers moved swiftly for emergency council handling of the situation.

Allies Complete Notes

The Western Powers completed their notes to the council charging Russia with threatening world peace through her road, rail and river blockade of the battered German capital.

The notes ask for urgent action. The council may take up the case as early as Thursday with the very life of the United Nations — and perhaps peace — at stake. Identical notes from the United States, Britain and France will be delivered to United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. (9:30 a. m. EST).

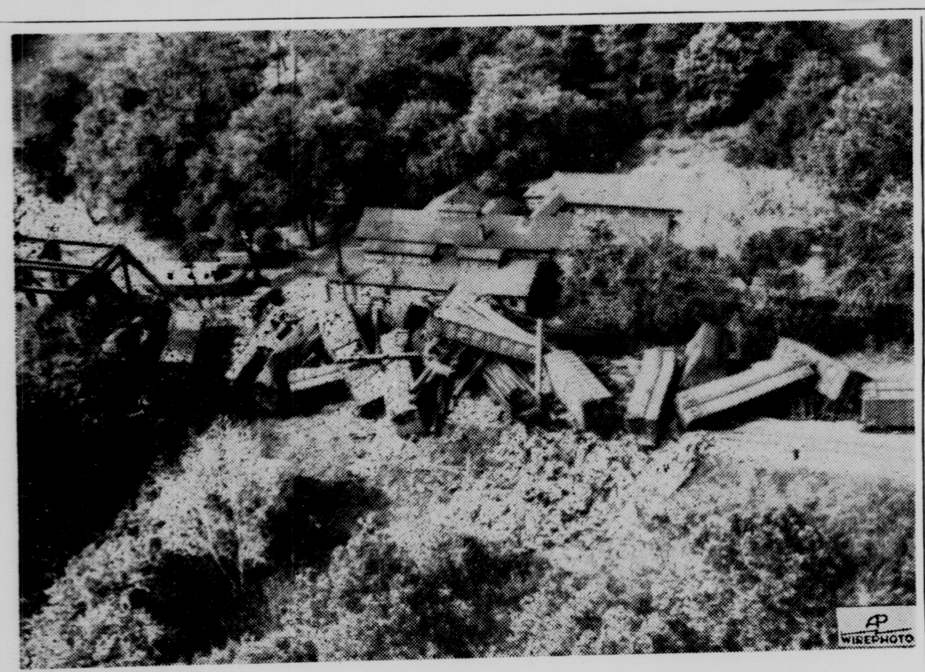

But debate on the merits of the case may never start. Juliusz Katzsuchy, the Polish delegate, said Russia would argue in the council that the Berlin situation is not a threat to peace. He said the Soviet Union may use the double veto to keep the problem off the agenda (calendar).

Under the double veto — used three times in council history by Russia — she would vote against putting the Western-Power complaint on the agenda, arguing that the negative vote was a veto. If other members challenged, Russia would veto the challenge.

Berlin Resolution Suggests All Four Powers Quit City

Germans Have Little Hope For Agreement

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Berlin city government told the quarreling Allied occupation powers today they should get together on a Berlin settlement or all get out of the city and let the Germans run it.

Berliners looked to the United Nations as a last desperate chance for a peaceful settlement of the East-West dispute over the blockaded city, but most people felt there was little hope.

The German press was almost unanimously pessimistic that the United Nations could succeed where direct negotiations had failed. The Communist press claimed Berlin was none of the United Nations' business and warned its intervention might wreck the world peace organization.

Amid the speculation following the breakdown in East-West negotiations two things seemed immediately certain:

Airlift To Be Expanded

1. The airlift supplying Berlin's western sectors over the Soviet ground blockade will be expanded as much as necessary to meet the needs of approaching winter.

2. The building of a Western German government in the British, French and American occupation zones will be speeded as a counter-thrust against the growing Soviet pressure on Germany.

A resolution drafted by the executive branch of the Socialist-dominated city government contained the suggestion that the Germans be given full responsibility for the city government.

But the resolution also asked that "so long as the occupation of Germany continues" and Berlin remains under four-power control "no one power have any more influence in Berlin than any other."

This was a direct slap at the Russians, who have been seeking to overthrow the legally elected government and achieve full Communist control of the city.

Regrets Collapse Of Talks

The resolution regretted that direct negotiations on a Berlin settlement had failed, but added "we see in the approach of the three Western Powers to the United Nations still one possibility to

Dewey Urges Water Power Development

Truman Reminds Clark He Stopped John And Not Joe

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark got wrapped up in his own enthusiasm today in introducing President Truman to a campaign audience.

Speaking of the President's record, Clark told of how the President "stopped Joe Lewis" in the courts.

When he arose to speak, the President reminded him "it wasn't Joe Lewis I stopped — it was John — I haven't that much muscle."

Truman Scorns What He Calls Republican "Lullaby" Of Unity

SEATTLE, Sept. 27 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey urged tonight a big western water power expansion to bolster United States security in a world where Russia is "repudiating all normal means of solving international differences."

"Just as we needed vast amounts of hydro-electric power to develop the atomic bomb, we now need more power to wage the peace," the Republican presidential nominee said in a campaign address prepared for delivery in Civic Auditorium.

Dewey figured the nation's water power will have to be increased by almost 20 per cent in the next five years.

On his way to Seattle, the New York Governor told an overflow audience in a 4,000-seat auditorium in Portland, Ore.:

"It is a time when the shadow of serious conflict again hangs over the meetings of the United Nations; when our former ally is again repudiating all of the normal means of solving internation differences.

Dewey added that all the rulers of the world should know his presidential campaign is being waged:

"For the purpose of strengthening our country, of bringing to it a new unity, and adopting a competence in our foreign policy which it does not have."

He said those leaders should be aware "we have a way of closing ranks immediately when a debate is settled."

In his Seattle speech tonight, Dewey placed emphasis on regional development of the nation's rivers. He stressed home rule as against the sweeping federal control which applies in the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Calling for power and reclamation development to build a stronger nation the New York Governor said "we are determined to be strong enough to live in peace."

Truman Rejects GOP "Lullaby"

BONHAM, Texas, Sept. 27 (AP)—President Truman rejected tonight what he called a Republican "lullaby" of unity and pledged the Democrats to unite the nation for the benefit of the "ordinary folks."

Campaigning from daybreak on into the night into Northern Texas, Mr. Truman said nothing he can say about the Republicans "is as bad as their record." He said it would be "disastrous" for the Republican party to say "whom it is working for."

The Truman train came here from Dallas where Walter Bedell Smith, American ambassador to Moscow, joined the President for a personal conference on the Berlin crisis and the Russian situation.

Smith flew from Washington to Dallas. He was closeted with the

Actress Collapses, Dies On Los Angeles Stage

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27. (AP)—Actress Miriam King, 31, collapsed from a heart attack and died on the stage before nearly 300 persons viewing a benefit performance last night.

The tragedy occurred at a small South Side theater. Miss King was playing in a skit with Henry Davidson when she collapsed.

Davidson, thinking she had merely fainted, ad libbed as though the faint was part of the act. He carried her to the wings, then returned to the footlights to ad lib some more.

When Miss King was pronounced dead, however, Davidson announced it to the audience and the curtain was rung down.

"We shall stay on and work together with the other peoples of the world," the Russian added in an interview said to have taken place in Paris Sunday.

U.S. And Soviet Russia Not On Verge Of War, Smith Tells Newsmen

Conditions Critical, Envoy Says After He Confers With Truman

BONHAM, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP) — Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith conferred with President Truman tonight and said relations with Russia are very "critical" but not on the verge of war.

Smith told reporters conditions at no time since the war have been more critical.

Asked whether that means we are going to war, Smith replied: "That's too deep for me to answer. But I'll modify critical and say serious. I don't by 'critical' mean we are trembling on the verge of war."

"If our present policy of firmness, patience and determination is followed you don't necessarily have to face the ultimate."

Smith flew to Texas from Washington to confer with the Chief Executive for some 3½ hours while Mr. Truman's campaign train was rolling from Dallas to Bonham.

Gives President Fill-In

The President relayed word to reporters that Smith gave him a "complete and valuable" fill-in on the crisis in Berlin.

Smith himself said he was able to supplement messages he had been sending to Mr. Truman.

Smith talked informally with reporters in the press car of the campaign train.

Before switching his description of present relations with Russia from "critical" to "serious" Smith said he thought he was reflecting the President's views and he certainly was expressing his own.

A reporter told him there was an impression growing from the presence of Premier Stalin, that the Moscow talks among Britain, France, Russia and the United States were going reasonably well. He asked if their failure had been anticipated.

Smith said he thought a State Department news release covered the subject.

Stalin Looks "Extremely Well"

To an inquiry whether Soviet foreign policy was designed to "cover up domestic difficulties," the Ambassador answered quickly: "No, I don't think so."

While our relations with the Soviets are worse than at any time since the war, Smith said, there were difficulties in the Pacific before the war, with Japan serving as a sort of buffer.

As for Stalin himself, Smith said the last time he saw the Premier about two weeks ago "he looked extremely well." He said Stalin is a little older, of course, but "quite vigorous and alert." Russian leaders, the Ambassador said, are always asking if a change of administrations in this country would result in a change in American foreign policy. He went on:

"We always answer—no—, that that policy is a considered policy supported by both major political parties and about 90 per cent of the people of the United States."

Hunter Imitates Squirrel's Bark Little Too Well

WOLFSVILLE, Md., Sept. 27 (AP) — C. Wesley Swope, Jr., certainly can do a swell imitation of a squirrel's chatter.

The 44-year-old man was out hunting today and trying to lure a squirrel with his imitation. Unknown to him, Swope's father was hunting in the same area.

The elder Swope heard the "squirrel" chattering and fired into the bushes. The shot gun pellets hit the son in the neck, chest and abdomen, but not seriously.

Bernadotte's Holy Land Peace Plan Backed By Britain

Bevin Calls It "Best Hope" For Settlement

PARIS, Sept. 27 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin today called on the United Nations to approve speedily Count Folke Bernadotte's Palestine peace plan. He termed it the "best hope for healing the breach" between the Arabs and the Jews.

Spokesmen for the Arab nations expressed opposition to any imposition of a Palestine settlement by force. Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan, foreign minister for Pakistan, assailed Israel as a "cancer" in the Middle East that must be removed.

Bevin opened Britain's policy declaration to the 58-nation Assembly with a review of the Holy Land situation. He noted that the United States and France also are backing the plan put forward by the assassinated United Nations mediator. The Arabs oppose it and the Jews have criticized some parts.

Poll Shows Plan Supported

"We (the British) have decided to support Count Bernadotte's plan in its entirety and we would urge speed in dealing with it," he said.

As Bevin spoke an informed source said an American poll of many United Nations delegates showed a wide basis of support for the Bernadotte plan.

The poll was understood to have taken into account such major issues in the plan as these:

Arab acceptance of the state of Israel, Arab insistence on the right of Arab refugees to return to their homes in Jewish territory, Arab agreement on giving Western Galilee to Israel, Jewish agreement to give the Negeb to the Arabs, the internationalization of Jerusalem, the political future of the Arab section of Palestine, and the Jewish desire for a corridor from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem.

Deletes "War" Statement

In a text distributed by the Foreign Office before Bevin began to speak, he warned that Palestine "hostilities might break out again" if no decision is taken within the next few weeks. However, Bevin deleted this statement in his delivery.

"We believe that the plan is one in which the two parties should be able to acquiesce without sacrificing any of their vital interests," Bevin declared. He added that his delegation felt "justified in asking the Assembly to tackle this problem urgently so that the United Nations may decide on their course of action and on the means of carrying it into effect."

Indonesians Battle Reds

BATAVIA, Java, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Communist radio reported today heavy fighting between Indonesian and Communist forces within 20 miles of Madioen, center of the Red-led revolt against the republic.

The report indicated this may be the main meeting between the Indonesian and Communist troops.

ACCUSED — Prosecution of Dr. John H. Chapin (top) on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage was recommended yesterday by the House Un-American Activities Committee. Dr. Chapin, New York resident employed by a Newark, N. J., brewery, during the war was an atomic bomb project scientist. He is accused of passing along secret information to Arthur Adams (bottom), identified in the committee report as an active spy for Russia. Adams is presumed to be in the Soviet Union.

Dr. Studebaker's Charges Denied By FSA Chieftain

Agree They Don't Like Communism

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Two government officials who fell out over how to run the United States Office of Education agreed on one thing today: Neither likes Communism.

The two, who appeared before a Senate investigation committee, were:

1. Dr. John W. Studebaker, who resigned last July as United States commissioner of education. He said the office was subjected to "partisan" control by the Federal Security Administration.

2. Oscar R. Ewing, FSA administrator, who branded as "absolutely untrue" charges brought by Studebaker that FSA hampered an effort by the Office of Education to foster an anti-Communist program in the nation's schools.

Studebaker Hits "Centralization"

Studebaker testified that Ewing favored a positive program to "sell democracy" to school children. He said he liked that but also wanted a negative program of anti-Communism.

The former education commissioner added that speeches and articles from his office were censored by the FSA and that the organization was too centralized. He called—as did school administrators from 40 states in a statement at Chicago today—for removal of the Office of Education from the FSA.

Ewing argued that the centralization of which Studebaker complained was simply in line with the

AFL Boss Blasts Congress Record

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—AFL President William Green accused the 80th Congress today of having "tried to turn the clock of progress backward."

Green contended in a speech prepared for radio broadcast that in reality the Republican-controlled Congress represented a "minority" of the American people because only one-third of the nation voted in 1946.

Citing high prices, inflation, the housing shortage and curbs on labor, Green said:

"Don't blame Congress. Blame yourself and the millions of other Americans who failed to vote in 1946 and thereby failed to elect a Congress which would truly represent them."

Turning to international affairs, Green noted "the collapse of our hopes for a secure peace" and declared:

"We can come to only one conclusion—that the policy of Soviet Russia is at the root of the entire trouble."

Only by exercising their right to vote, he said, can Americans prevent the spread of Communism and "make our democracy work."

Bevin's Speech Draws Moscow Radio Criticism

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Moscow radio tonight described Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's speech before the United Nations as "an attempt to veil his rejection of Soviet proposals for peace and security."

This brief comment came in a news bulletin in English heard by the Soviet monitor in London. There was no mention of the Western Powers' plan to take the Berlin dispute to the Security Council.

Two Accused Of Giving Away Atom Secrets

Communist Party Organizer Involved, House Group Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Spy trials for four persons—including two atom bomb scientists and a Communist Party official—were urged today by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

A 36-page report, in which the committee said it has been able so far only to "scratch the surface" of atomic spy activities in this country, recommended these legal actions:

1. Prosecution of Steve Nelson, Communist Party organizer in Pennsylvania, on charges of outright espionage, and citation of Nelson for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer committee questions.

2. Prosecution of Dr. Clarence F. Hiskey, his former wife, Marcia Sand Hiskey, and Dr. John H. Chapin were atomic bomb project scientists during the war.

The committee accused the latter trio of conspiring with one Arthur Adams to pass along to Adams secret information on their work in New York and Chicago on development of explosive derivatives of uranium. The report identified Adams as an active spy for Moscow and said he is presumed now to be in Russia.

Case Of "Scientist X"

The proposed prosecutions would be under the 1917 Espionage Act, which provides a maximum penalty of death or up to 30 years imprisonment.

The committee also said a mysterious "Scientist X" should "either be prosecuted forthwith or cleared." That is a separate West Coast case.

The report said Dr. Martin D. Kamen, now a professor at Washington University in St. Louis, "very definitely gave classified information" to a Russian consular official in San Francisco in 1944. Kamen "concedes that what he did constituted a gross indiscretion," the report said.

The Kamen affair was reported as separate from the Hiskey - Chapin and "Scientist X" matters, although the committee declared it was pursuing leads which indicated a tie-up of all atomic spying at the top.

The report expressed assurance that the information the committee has gathered is already available to the FBI and the Manhattan Project which developed the A-bomb. It added that doubtless the evidence "has been officially before the Attorney General and the President since shortly after the incidents in question occurred."

Truman Order Attacked

It points out that prosecution before the existence of the A-bomb was disclosed by its use at Hiroshima would have revealed the secret. But it calls "indefensible" the failure to prosecute since then.

The report said an order by President Truman has prevented disclosure to the public of "the full story of the Soviet espionage conspiracy in the United States during World War II," because Congress "has been denied access to the evidence in the flies of the executive branch of the government."

It recommended that a federal grand jury be given "all the facts" immediately, and that persons engaged in wartime espionage "be forthwith brought to Justice.

The report quoted Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, chief of the atomic bomb

Sen. Harlan Bushfield, Of South Dakota, Dies

MILLER, S. D., Sept. 27. (AP)—United States Sen. Harlan Bushfield (R-SD) died today in Miller Hospital after a long illness. He was 66 years old.

Physicians said death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been hospitalized since September 18.

Bushfield had been junior senator from South Dakota since January, 1943, after two terms as governor of South Dakota. His Senate term was until January, 1949. Although he previously had announced he would seek a second term, he withdrew from the race in January, this year, because of his health.

600 MPH Plus
New Jet Bombers Faster Than Early Jet Fighters

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP) — The Air Force disclosed today it has two jet bombers faster than early models of the F-80 Shooting Star jet fighter. It rated one bomber at more than 600 miles an hour.

This is the Boeing B-47 Stratojet, a six-engine warplane of radical design about the size and weight of the B-29 Superfortress. It will be produced at Boeing's Wichita, Kans., plant.

The other speedy bomber is the North American B-45, a four-engine jet of conventional shape weighing 41 tons and rated in the "550 m.p.m. class."

Air Force Secretary Symington disclosed in New York Saturday that a jet bomber "ran away from jet fighters," but gave no details. Other Air Force officials released additional released additional information today.

Both the B-47 and the B-45 are faster than the "A" and "B" models of the F-80 which are in general service with the Air Force. Those models will be replaced by the F-80C, which has a speed of 600 miles an hour compared with 500 to 550 mph for the earlier types.

The B-47 probably is faster than the F-80C and may be faster than the Republic F-84 Thunderjet. However, it is not likely to match the speed of the North American F-86 which recently raised the worlds speed record to 670 miles an hour without using full power.

In addition to its six jet engines hung under the wing, the B-47 has 18 rocket motors installed in its fuselage for additional thrust on takeoff or for bursts of speed in flight.

The Navy announced today it has ordered a new "compound" engine which will add 15 per cent to the range of search and attack planes.

The engine is known as the "Turbo-Cyclone 18" and was developed by Wright Aeronautical Corporation, Woodbridge, New Jersey. The engine is basically the one used in the B-29 Superfortress.

Asks $50,000
No Communist, Hiss Says In Suit Against Chambers

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Alger Hiss, holder of several federal government posts for four years, asked $50,000 damages today because he said Whittaker Chambers' statements about his alleged Communist Party membership were false.

Hiss filed suit for slander and libel in the United States District Court here because Chambers has a farm residence at Westminster, Md. Hiss, a former Baltimorean, now resides in New York.

Hiss' suit claimed that Chambers, a senior editor of Time Magazine, made "untrue, false and defamatory statements" about him in five appearances before the House Un-American Activities Committee and on a radio broadcast August 27.

After appearances of both before the committee, Hiss challenged Chambers to repeat his statements publicly beyond protection of congressional immunity.

In the radio broadcast "Meet the Press" over station WOL in Washington, Hiss' suit quoted Chambers as declaring "Alger Hiss was a Communist and may be now." The broadcast was transcribed, Hiss said.

Chambers also was quoted as saying on the broadcast that "I am accusing him of membership in the Communist Party. I am not even accusing him of that. I am simply saying that he was a member of the Communist Party." Hiss said the broadcast was carried by 345 other stations and heard by an estimated 12,000,000 people.

Dewey Urges Water Power Development

Truman Reminds Clark He Stopped John And Not Joe

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark got wrapped up in his own enthusiasm today in introducing President Truman to a campaign audience.

Speaking of the President's record, Clark told of how the President "stopped Joe Lewis" in the courts.

When he arose to speak, the President reminded him "it wasn't Joe Lewis I stopped — it was John — I haven't that much muscle."

Truman Scorns What He Calls Republican "Lullaby" Of Unity

SEATTLE, Sept. 27 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey urged tonight a big western water power expansion to bolster United States security in a world where Russia is "repudiating all normal means of solving international differences."

"Just as we needed vast amounts of hydro-electric power to develop the atomic bomb, we now need more power to wage the peace," the Republican presidential nominee said in a campaign address prepared for delivery in Civic Auditorium.

Dewey figured the nation's water power will have to be increased by almost 20 per cent in the next five years.

On his way to Seattle, the New York Governor told an overflow audience in a 4,000-seat auditorium in Portland, Ore.:

"It is a time when the shadow of serious conflict again hangs over the meetings of the United Nations; when our former ally is again repudiating all of the normal means of solving internation differences.

Dewey added that all the rulers of the world should know his presidential campaign is being waged:

"For the purpose of strengthening our country, of bringing to it a new unity, and adopting a competence in our foreign policy which it does not have."

He said those leaders should be aware "we have a way of closing ranks immediately when a debate is settled."

In his Seattle speech tonight, Dewey placed emphasis on regional development of the nation's rivers. He stressed home rule as against the sweeping federal control which applies in the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Calling for power and reclamation development to build a stronger nation the New York Governor said "we are determined to be strong enough to live in peace."

Truman Rejects GOP "Lullaby"

BONHAM, Texas, Sept. 27 (AP)—President Truman rejected tonight what he called a Republican "lullaby" of unity and pledged the Democrats to unite the nation for the benefit of the "ordinary folks."

Campaigning from daybreak on into the night into Northern Texas, Mr. Truman said nothing he can say about the Republicans "is as bad as their record." He said it would be "disastrous" for the Republican party to say "whom it is working for."

The Truman train came here from Dallas where Walter Bedell Smith, American ambassador to Moscow, joined the President for a personal conference on the Berlin crisis and the Russian situation.

Smith flew from Washington to Dallas. He was closeted with the

Actress Collapses, Dies On Los Angeles Stage

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27. (AP)—Actress Miriam King, 31, collapsed from a heart attack and died on the stage before nearly 300 persons viewing a benefit performance last night.

The tragedy occurred at a small South Side theater. Miss King was playing in a skit with Henry Davidson when she collapsed.

Davidson, thinking she had merely fainted, ad libbed as though the faint was part of the act. He carried her to the wings, then returned to the footlights to ad lib some more.

When Miss King was pronounced dead, however, Davidson announced it to the audience and the curtain was rung down.

Vishinsky Says Soviet Won't Abandon U.N.

LONDON, Tuesday, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Daily Herald quoted Andrei Vishinsky, Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister, today as saying "we shall not abandon the United Nations."

"We shall stay on and work together with the other peoples of the world," the Russian added in an interview said to have taken place in Paris Sunday.

U.S. And Soviet Russia Not On Verge Of War, Smith Tells Newsmen

Conditions Critical, Envoy Says After He Confers With Truman

BONHAM, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP) — Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith conferred with President Truman tonight and said relations with Russia are very "critical" but not on the verge of war.

Smith told reporters conditions at no time since the war have been more critical.

Asked whether that means we are going to war, Smith replied: "That's too deep for me to answer. But I'll modify critical and say serious. I don't by 'critical' mean we are trembling on the verge of war."

"If our present policy of firmness, patience and determination is followed you don't necessarily have to face the ultimate."

Gives President Fill-In

The President relayed word to reporters that Smith gave him a "complete and valuable" fill-in on the crisis in Berlin.

Smith himself said he was able to supplement messages he had been sending to Mr. Truman.

Smith talked informally with reporters in the press car of the campaign train.

Before switching his description of present relations with Russia from "critical" to "serious" Smith said he thought he was reflecting the President's views and he certainly was expressing his own.

A reporter told him there was an impression growing from the presence of Premier Stalin, that the Moscow talks among Britain, France, Russia and the United States were going reasonably well. He asked if their failure had been anticipated.

Smith said he thought a State Department news release covered the subject.

Stalin Looks "Extremely Well"

To an inquiry whether Soviet foreign policy was designed to "cover up domestic difficulties," the Ambassador answered quickly: "No, I don't think so."

While our relations with the Soviets are worse than at any time since the war, Smith said, there were difficulties in the Pacific before the war, with Japan serving as a sort of buffer.

As for Stalin himself, Smith said the last time he saw the Premier about two weeks ago "he looked extremely well." He said Stalin is a little older, of course, but "quite vigorous and alert." Russian leaders, the Ambassador said, are always asking if a change of administrations in this country would result in a change in American foreign policy. He went on:

"We always answer—no—, that that policy is a considered policy supported by both major political parties and about 90 per cent of the people of the United States."

Hunter Imitates Squirrel's Bark Little Too Well

WOLFSVILLE, Md., Sept. 27 (AP) — C. Wesley Swope, Jr., certainly can do a swell imitation of a squirrel's chatter.

The 44-year-old man was out hunting today and trying to lure a squirrel with his imitation. Unknown to him, Swope's father was hunting in the same area.

The elder Swope heard the "squirrel" chattering and fired into the bushes. The shot gun pellets hit the son in the neck, chest and abdomen, but not seriously.

Bernadotte's Holy Land Peace Plan Backed By Britain

Bevin Calls It "Best Hope" For Settlement

PARIS, Sept. 27 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin today called on the United Nations to approve speedily Count Folke Bernadotte's Palestine peace plan. He termed it the "best hope for healing the breach" between the Arabs and the Jews.

Spokesmen for the Arab nations expressed opposition to any imposition of a Palestine settlement by force. Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan, foreign minister for Pakistan, assailed Israel as a "cancer" in the Middle East that must be removed.

Bevin opened Britain's policy declaration to the 58-nation Assembly with a review of the Holy Land situation. He noted that the United States and France also are backing the plan put forward by the assassinated United Nations mediator. The Arabs oppose it and the Jews have criticized some parts.

Poll Shows Plan Supported

"We (the British) have decided to support Count Bernadotte's plan in its entirety and we would urge speed in dealing with it," he said.

As Bevin spoke an informed source said an American poll of many United Nations delegates showed a wide basis of support for the Bernadotte plan.

The poll was understood to have taken into account such major issues in the plan as these:

Arab acceptance of the state of Israel, Arab insistence on the right of Arab refugees to return to their homes in Jewish territory, Arab agreement on giving Western Galilee to Israel, Jewish agreement to give the Negeb to the Arabs, the internationalization of Jerusalem, the political future of the Arab section of Palestine, and the Jewish desire for a corridor from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem.

Deletes "War" Statement

In a text distributed by the Foreign Office before Bevin began to speak, he warned that Palestine "hostilities might break out again" if no decision is taken within the next few weeks. However, Bevin deleted this statement in his delivery.

"We believe that the plan is one in which the two parties should be able to acquiesce without sacrificing any of their vital interests," Bevin declared. He added that his delegation felt "justified in asking the Assembly to tackle this problem urgently so that the United Nations may decide on their course of action and on the means of carrying it into effect."

Indonesians Battle Reds

BATAVIA, Java, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Communist radio reported today heavy fighting between Indonesian and Communist forces within 20 miles of Madioen, center of the Red-led revolt against the republic.

The report indicated this may be the main meeting between the Indonesian and Communist troops.

AFL Boss Blasts Congress Record

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—AFL President William Green accused the 80th Congress today of having "tried to turn the clock of progress backward."

Green contended in a speech prepared for radio broadcast that in reality the Republican-controlled Congress represented a "minority" of the American people because only one-third of the nation voted in 1946.

Citing high prices, inflation, the housing shortage and curbs on labor, Green said:

"Don't blame Congress. Blame yourself and the millions of other Americans who failed to vote in 1946 and thereby failed to elect a Congress which would truly represent them."

Turning to international affairs, Green noted "the collapse of our hopes for a secure peace" and declared:

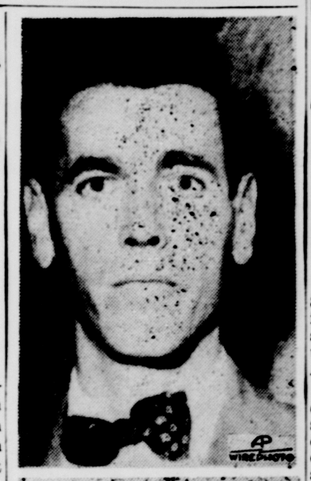

"We can come to only one conclusion—that the policy of Soviet Russia is at the root of the entire trouble."

Only by exercising their right to vote, he said, can Americans prevent the spread of Communism and "make our democracy work."

Bevin's Speech Draws Moscow Radio Criticism

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Moscow radio tonight described Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's speech before the United Nations as "an attempt to veil his rejection of Soviet proposals for peace and security."

This brief comment came in a news bulletin in English heard by the Soviet monitor in London. There was no mention of the Western Powers' plan to take the Berlin dispute to the Security Council.

ACCUSED — Prosecution of Dr. John H. Chapin (top) on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage was recommended yesterday by the House Un-American Activities Committee. Dr. Chapin, New York resident employed by a Newark, N. J., brewery, during the war was an atomic bomb project scientist. He is accused of passing along secret information to Arthur Adams (bottom), identified in the committee report as an active spy for Russia. Adams is presumed to be in the Soviet Union.

Two Accused Of Giving Away Atom Secrets

Communist Party Organizer Involved, House Group Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Spy trials for four persons—including two atom bomb scientists and a Communist Party official—were urged today by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

A 36-page report, in which the committee said it has been able so far only to "scratch the surface" of atomic spy activities in this country, recommended these legal actions:

1. Prosecution of Steve Nelson, Communist Party organizer in Pennsylvania, on charges of outright espionage, and citation of Nelson for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer committee questions.

2. Prosecution of Dr. Clarence F. Hiskey, his former wife, Marcia Sand Hiskey, and Dr. John H. Chapin were atomic bomb project scientists during the war.

The committee accused the latter trio of conspiring with one Arthur Adams to pass along to Adams secret information on their work in New York and Chicago on development of explosive derivatives of uranium. The report identified Adams as an active spy for Moscow and said he is presumed now to be in Russia.

Case Of "Scientist X"

The proposed prosecutions would be under the 1917 Espionage Act, which provides a maximum penalty of death or up to 30 years imprisonment.

The committee also said a mysterious "Scientist X" should "either be prosecuted forthwith or cleared." That is a separate West Coast case.

The report said Dr. Martin D. Kamen, now a professor at Washington University in St. Louis, "very definitely gave classified information" to a Russian consular official in San Francisco in 1944. Kamen "concedes that what he did constituted a gross indiscretion," the report said.

The Kamen affair was reported as separate from the Hiskey-Chapin and "Scientist X" matters, although the committee declared it was pursuing leads which indicated a tie-up of all atomic spying at the top.

The report expressed assurance that the information the committee has gathered is already available to the FBI and the Manhattan Project which developed the A-bomb. It added that doubtless the evidence "has been officially before the Attorney General and the President since shortly after the incidents in question occurred."

Truman Order Attacked

It points out that prosecution before the existence of the A-bomb was disclosed by its use at Hiroshima would have revealed the secret. But it calls "indefensible" the failure to prosecute since then.

The report said an order by President Truman has prevented disclosure to the public of "the full story of the Soviet espionage conspiracy in the United States during World War II," because Congress "has been denied access to the evidence in the flies of the executive branch of the government."

It recommended that a federal grand jury be given "all the facts" immediately, and that persons engaged in wartime espionage "be forthwith brought to Justice.

Dr. Studebaker's Charges Denied By FSA Chieftain

Agree They Don't Like Communism

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Two government officials who fell out over how to run the United States Office of Education agreed on one thing today: Neither likes Communism.

The two, who appeared before a Senate investigation committee, were:

1. Dr. John W. Studebaker, who resigned last July as United States commissioner of education. He said the office was subjected to "partisan" control by the Federal Security Administration.

2. Oscar R. Ewing, FSA administrator, who branded as "absolutely untrue" charges brought by Studebaker that FSA hampered an effort by the Office of Education to foster an anti-Communist program in the nation's schools.

Studebaker Hits "Centralization"

Studebaker testified that Ewing favored a positive program to "sell democracy" to school children. He said he liked that but also wanted a negative program of anti-Communism.

The former education commissioner added that speeches and articles from his office were censored by the FSA and that the organization was too centralized. He called—as did school administrators from 40 states in a statement at Chicago today—for removal of the Office of Education from the FSA.

Ewing argued that the centralization of which Studebaker complained was simply in line with the

Sen. Harlan Bushfield, Of South Dakota, Dies

MILLER, S. D., Sept. 27. (AP)—United States Sen. Harlan Bushfield (R-SD) died today in Miller Hospital after a long illness. He was 66 years old.

Physicians said death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been hospitalized since September 18.

Bushfield had been junior senator from South Dakota since January, 1943, after two terms as governor of South Dakota. His Senate term was until January, 1949. Although he previously had announced he would seek a second term, he withdrew from the race in January, this year, because of his health.

600 MPH Plus
New Jet Bombers Faster Than Early Jet Fighters

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP) — The Air Force disclosed today it has two jet bombers faster than early models of the F-80 Shooting Star jet fighter. It rated one bomber at more than 600 miles an hour.

This is the Boeing B-47 Stratojet, a six-engine warplane of radical design about the size and weight of the B-29 Superfortress. It will be produced at Boeing's Wichita, Kans., plant.

The other speedy bomber is the North American B-45, a four-engine jet of conventional shape weighing 41 tons and rated in the "550 m.p.m. class."

Air Force Secretary Symington disclosed in New York Saturday that a jet bomber "ran away from jet fighters," but gave no details. Other Air Force officials released additional released additional information today.

Both the B-47 and the B-45 are faster than the "A" and "B" models of the F-80 which are in general service with the Air Force. Those models will be replaced by the F-80C, which has a speed of 600 miles an hour compared with 500 to 550 mph for the earlier types.

The B-47 probably is faster than the F-80C and may be faster than the Republic F-84 Thunderjet. However, it is not likely to match the speed of the North American F-86 which recently raised the worlds speed record to 670 miles an hour without using full power.

In addition to its six jet engines hung under the wing, the B-47 has 18 rocket motors installed in its fuselage for additional thrust on takeoff or for bursts of speed in flight.

The Navy announced today it has ordered a new "compound" engine which will add 15 per cent to the range of search and attack planes.

The engine is known as the "Turbo-Cyclone 18" and was developed by Wright Aeronautical Corporation, Woodbridge, New Jersey. The engine is basically the one used in the B-29 Superfortress.

Asks $50,000
No Communist, Hiss Says In Suit Against Chambers

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Alger Hiss, holder of several federal government posts for four years, asked $50,000 damages today because he said Whittaker Chambers' statements about his alleged Communist Party membership were false.

Hiss filed suit for slander and libel in the United States District Court here because Chambers has a farm residence at Westminster, Md. Hiss, a former Baltimorean, now resides in New York.

Hiss' suit claimed that Chambers, a senior editor of Time Magazine, made "untrue, false and defamatory statements" about him in five appearances before the House Un-American Activities Committee and on a radio broadcast August 27.

After appearances of both before the committee, Hiss challenged Chambers to repeat his statements publicly beyond protection of congressional immunity.

In the radio broadcast "Meet the Press" over station WOL in Washington, Hiss' suit quoted Chambers as declaring "Alger Hiss was a Communist and may be now." The broadcast was transcribed, Hiss said.

Chambers also was quoted as saying on the broadcast that "I am accusing him of membership in the Communist Party. I am not even accusing him of that. I am simply saying that he was a member of the Communist Party." Hiss said the broadcast was carried by 345 other stations and heard by an estimated 12,000,000 people.

Czechs Receive World Fund Loan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — A $6,000,000 loan to Czechoslovakia, the first such credit granted in the Soviet sphere, was announced by the International Monetary Fund today.

The new venture into economic co-operation across the Russian-erected barrier dividing Europe was disclosed as governors of the 47-nation fund and World Bank assembled in cautious optimism over the progress of world recovery.

Chairman Wang Yun-wu, Chinese finance minister, declared in the opening address that the Marshall Plan guarantees that reconstruction in Western Europe will go forward —and "it is now well-nigh certain that recovery there will be achieved."

But the governors heard a word of caution from President Truman that it cannot be achieved without "the co-operative effort of all nations."

In a message read by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Mr. Truman said, "much remains to be done."

Announcement of the Czech loan came as a surprise. Camille Gutt, the fund's managing director, told reporters it is in line with the policy of both bank and fund to promote East-West trade as an essential of economic recovery.

Wallace Questions U. S. Charges Against Russia

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP) — Henry Wallace's reaction to the latest American accusations against Russia was to pour new criticism on the United States government.

Wallace arrived in Dallas by plane at 5:50 p. m. (CST) from Indiana, shortly after President Truman left the city.

The Progressive Party candidate for President issued a statement in which he said the Democrats and Republicans "must heap crisis upon crisis" in order to justify the draft law and military spending; and "this latest crisis is an absolute necessity for them."

He said it is impossible, without more information, to know whether Russia has violated an agreement concerning Berlin—as charged by the United States, Britain, and France last night.

A. T. And T. Ups Its Wage Hike Offer

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP) — The long lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company today increased a wage offer it had made last week to the 25,000-member CIO American Union of Telephone Workers, but the company offer still is "entirely unacceptable," the union said.

Following a meeting between company and union representatives, a union spokesman said the company offered to add another dollar per week for plant craftsmen in the New York area.

This, he said, would bring the top increase for New York plant craftsmen to $6 weekly.

The union has members in 42 states and the District of Columbia.

Present wages or union demand have not been disclosed.

Studebaker testified today that he did not doubt the honesty or loyalty of anyone in the FSA. He also replied "no," to this question by Sen. O'Conor (D-Md):

"Did Ewing attempt to stifle criticism of Communist infiltration into the schools—did he place you under wraps about what you could say?"

In the course of his testimony, Studebaker said that a "loyal but naive" FSA official—John Thurston, administrative assistant to Ewing—hampered his efforts to teach school children about the evils of communism.

Arab Plane Shot Down When Signal Disregarded

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 27 (AP)—An Arab plane in which two British correspondents were killed was shot down by an Israeli fighter when it failed to heed a warning to land, a government statement said today.

The plane crashed last Friday in flames, killing David Woodford, of the London Daily Telegraph and John Nixon, of the BBC.

An Israeli spokesman said the fighter approached the Arab plane north of Safad, signalled it to land then fired a warning burst. These were disregarded and the plane was shot down, he added.

The part dealing with giving responsibility to the Germans said:

"Since it is difficult to bring about a permanent and definite solution of the Berlin crisis on an international basis, we address to the occupying powers and to the world the urgent call to withdraw—within the framework of the general termination of the occupation of Germany — all occupation troops also from Berlin.

"Only the transfer of full responsibility for political and economic life to the democratic representatives of the German nation can lead to a situation which will prevent any repetition of the present crisis."

will use. Some observers expect the Russians to walk out if the council goes ahead with debate. Others expect a Soviet veto at the end if there is a debate.

The three-power notes cite Article 39 under Chapter Seven, the most powerful section of the United Nations Charter. The council is given the power to eliminate threats to the peace through such pressure as economic and diplomatic sanctions and, finally, armed force.

It was a typical Bevin crisis speech, delivered with such emotion that his voice broke at intervals. The impact was electrifying and the 58 delegates — except for those from the grim-faced Soviet bloc—gave him a noisy ovation. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky took notes throughout and strode out of the chamber at the conclusion.

The Berlin crisis rumbled around the world. In Moscow, foreign diplomats were asking whether Russia would withdraw from the United Nations, whether the United Nations itself would flounder on the issue.

In Berlin, a Russian-controlled newspaper echoed some of Bevin's fears with the declaration that if the Western Powers force a United Nations debate on Berlin "a wedge will be driven into the United Nations which may split the entire world organization."

Studebaker testified today that he did not doubt the honesty or loyalty of anyone in the FSA. He also replied "no," to this question by Sen. O'Conor (D-Md):

"Did Ewing attempt to stifle criticism of Communist infiltration into the schools—did he place you under wraps about what you could say?"

In the course of his testimony, Studebaker said that a "loyal but naive" FSA official—John Thurston, administrative assistant to Ewing—hampered his efforts to teach school children about the evils of communism.

Arab Plane Shot Down When Signal Disregarded

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 27 (AP)— An Arab plane in which two British correspondents were killed was shot down by an Israeli fighter when it failed to heed a warning to land, a government statement said today.

The plane crashed last Friday in flames, killing David Woodford, of the London Daily Telegraph and John Nixon, of the BBC.

An Israeli spokesman said the fighter approached the Arab plane north of Safad, signalled it to land then fired a warning burst. These were disregarded and the plane was shot down, he added.

The part dealing with giving responsibility to the Germans said:

"Since it is difficult to bring about a permanent and definite solution of the Berlin crisis on an international basis, we address to the occupying powers and to the world the urgent call to withdraw—within the framework of the general termination of the occupation of Germany — all occupation troops also from Berlin.

"Only the transfer of full responsibility for political and economic life to the democratic representatives of the German nation can lead to a situation which will prevent any repetition of the present crisis."

will use. Some observers expect the Russians to walk out if the council goes ahead with debate. Others expect a Soviet veto at the end if there is a debate.

The three-power notes cite Article 39 under Chapter Seven, the most powerful section of the United Nations Charter. The council is given the power to eliminate threats to the peace through such pressure as economic and diplomatic sanctions and, finally, armed force.

It was a typical Bevin crisis speech, delivered with such emotion that his voice broke at intervals. The impact was electrifying and the 58 delegates — except for those from the grim-faced Soviet bloc—gave him a noisy ovation. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky took notes throughout and strode out of the chamber at the conclusion.

The Berlin crisis rumbled around the world. In Moscow, foreign diplomats were asking whether Russia would withdraw from the United Nations, whether the United Nations itself would flounder on the issue.

In Berlin, a Russian-controlled newspaper echoed some of Bevin's fears with the declaration that if the Western Powers force a United Nations debate on Berlin "a wedge will be driven into the United Nations which may split the entire world organization."

14 Killed During Race

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, Sept. 27 (AP) — Fourteen spectators were killed and more than 35 injured today shortly after the start of an automobile road race near Porto Alegre. The accidents occurred when the cars skidded on muddy roads.

The Important Miss

People remember the evil that one does far longer than they do the good. The one miss stands out. The popular ball player is wildly applauded when he makes a home run—but is often jeered when he strikes out.

In a little book of wise sayings that I have I came across this sentence: "Be more careful not to miss once than to hit a hundred times." The miss is always important because it may mean the failure of the following hundred hits!

The encouragement that we miss giving to someone who may sorely need it, often results in the failure of that one. The things that we miss often make all the difference in the world, changing the course of our lives—for good or ill. The missed stitch leaves a weak spot behind. The tailor knows that he must not miss the knot in his thread.

The inspector of machines in an important industry notes a slight flaw—but lets it pass, not realizing that that flaw might mean the difference between life and death. That one miss may spell tragedy. It is always important not to miss!

How many of us will recall the time in school when an examination was given and the one question we missed was the one we failed to look up or review. Napoleon once said the reason why he beat the Austrians was that they did not know the value of five minutes. Missed minutes mount big in an emergency. Too late has closed the door to many a career.

When you are driving a nail and you hit your finger a smash instead, that miss takes on significance! It is the same in our daily lives when we miss out on the smaller tasks, thinking them unimportant, only later to learn that they are the stepping stones to significant steps that lead to high ground and worthy ends.

Nothing is insignificant that is important. How many there are who say, "This neglect won't matter." But all neglects matter! They unbalance the scale.

Self-Sufficiency

Living is a business, just like running a grocery store or a big corporation. There is a mind—and often many—behind it, however, without which that business would not be conducted successfully.

This human body of ours is a wonderful piece of machinery. Nothing in all this world is so full of wonder and mystery, yet note what punishment this intricate piece of machinery often has to combat! People who have an inward reverence for their bodies, live longest and happiest. Care and knowledge of this wonderfully constructed human body, over the last quarter of a century, has revealed that the average span of life has been lengthened to somewhere around ten years, according to the insurance companies careful figuring.

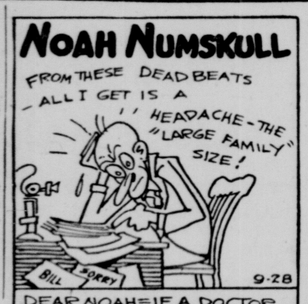

Within this frame of ours is self-sufficiency, but we cannot live wholly unto ourselves. We are bound up with the interests of others. We can, however, take command of this mind of ours, and so direct its functions as to make it a blessing to all who come in contact with us. We are happiest when we share, when we sympathize, and when we most understand.

"What a piece of work is man!" cried the psalmist. Where is there to be found, in all literature, such an exclamation? How significant it is when the mind dwells upon its import. Yet we own it in our own make-up, moulded into its perfection by the Creator of all! But what we do with this self of ours is the only means by which an accurate appraisement can be made.

We are of worth only as our self-sufficiency spreads, radiates, touches the human cords of hope—and helps to lift another up. Then it is that our better nature vibrates and communes with the eternal elements of time and space. Said the heroic Nathan Hale: "I regret that I have but one life to lose for my country!" Often we have to get lost in order to be found—by ourselves. Said John Burroughs: "It is so easy to get lost in the world." Finding one's self is an event of note.

Sometimes I see myself in a star, sometimes in a tiny flower that I pluck from a mass of moss, and sometimes I see myself—and mostly so—in the smile of a friend!

Secure Your Right Today To Vote On Election Day

Your opinion as to who should be President of the United States and who should be your congressman from the Sixth district is no good unless you put it on the ballot on November 2.

Telling your friends, arguing the pros and cons over lunches and writing letters to the editors are all right. But they don't pay off in the election. To make your opinion count, you must vote—go to the polls and mark a ballot. But you can't unless you are a registered voter.

To vote in the November 2 presidential and congressional election, you must register not later than October 5. Your first opportunity to do this is TODAY, the first of two registration days provided by law and planned for by election officials and leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties.

If you haven't been registered, or if you have moved since you last voted, you should make certain that your name was not among those dropped from the poll books when they were revised earlier this year. The only way to do that is to go to the polling place in the precinct in which you live and make inquiry. TODAY is the first of two days on which this can be done. It should be attended to today.

Ours is a government by majority, but too often it is reduced to a government by minority. The fault lies with the electors themselves. Time and time again, well under half of the registered voters go to the polls on election day. When that happens, the "voice of the people" is small and ineffectual voice indeed.

Our ancestors fought for years to win and maintain the right of franchise. It is the basic guardian of free government—and of all the other freedoms which are possible under free government. It is the first right to be abrogated by dictators—as the travesties on the "free" election system which used to occur periodically in Germany, Italy and elsewhere prove. It is the great defense against oppression.

The citizen who fails to vote shirks a basic and inescapable responsibility. Go to your registration officials today and make certain that you will be armed with a ballot which you may cast for the men and measures of your choice.

That is both a great duty and a great privilege. Register TODAY.

Importance Of 1948 Vote For Control Of Senate

Republican campaign managers who have been warning against over-confidence in the presidential race have not felt it necessary to stress the importance of the 1948 contest for control of the Senate. A shift of only four seats would give the Democrats control of the upper house. Last week Senator Martin of Pennsylvania remarked that Governor Dewey agreed with him in being "worried" about the Senate outlook.

Since over-confidence is the most witless of all political failings we won't quarrel with that point of view. At this writing, five Republican seats are in more or less danger. The Progressive Party candidates have been ruled off the ballot in Illinois, hence Senator Brooks has a harder road ahead than Republican colleagues in states where Wallace will split the Democratic vote. In Kentucky the prestige of Democratic vice-presidential nominee Barkley will enter the lists against Republican Senator Cooper. In Minnesota, the Democrats seem to think, for no good reason, that Mayor Humphrey of Minneapolis is more popular than Senator Ball. In West Virginia, Senator Revercomb is being given a hard fight by former Senator Neely, and could use some firsthand assistance from Governor Dewey.

There is no room for over-confidence here, but neither is there ground for alarm. All over the country, even the Democrats are privately admitting that Dewey will be elected. Vice Presidential candidate Barkley added to this belief during a press conference in New York when he just about conceded the election to Dewey.

Since 1913, when popular election of Senators began, the party winning the presidency has lost Senate seats only twice. In 1916, the GOP lost some because it had not yet recovered from the Progressive split in 1912 and 1914. In 1940 the Democrats lost three, but some loss was inevitable after the '36 landslide. In no election since the Civil War has either party won the presidency and lost the Senate.

Of course, it could happen. And some "liberal" Republicans, who have been urging Governor Dewey not to "sully his hands" by supporting certain GOP senators, evidently want it to happen. We doubt that that prejudiced advice will carry much weight with a man who has had enough political experience to understand what it means to be President and control the Senate.

Campaign Of 1948 Is "Just Matter Of Psychology"

The Roosevelt-Truman ticket, in the 1944 election, had a lead of 3,596,277 votes over the Dewey-Bricker ticket. As a result, Mr. Truman occupies the White House and administers the national government. He is in possession, but he does not act that way. As the phrase goes, he has come out of the White House front door fighting, resolved—in his own words—to "give them hell." He acts as if he had been driven out, as if The Enemy were already climbing that Balcony and pouring in. That is not the way a man, or party, in possession is supposed to act.

Governor Cox made the same mistake in 1920. He, too—or rather his party—was in possession, but he came out fighting. Senator Harding, his opponent, had benefit of wise political counsel and followed the other tack. Like Governor McKinley in 1896 and 1900, and Woodrow Wilson in 1916, he conducted a "front-porch campaign." His party was not in possession, but he acted as if it were, and his popular vote nearly doubled that of Cox.

This parable is being repeated in 1948. Governor Dewey is really outside the breastworks, Harry Truman inside; but in effect their roles have been reversed. The country expects Dewey to be elected President, and that is how he carries himself. His opponent has been very badly advised, and in popular estimation is on the long, long trail of defeat. "Just a matter of psychology," you say? Yes, that's it, and isn't it nearly everything?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Do Something For Colic

During the first three months of life colic is so common that many physicians believe it can almost be considered normal. The cause is not known, but the intestinal tract of the infant probably is not equal to the task of digesting and propelling nourishment. Abnormal fermentation leads to gas which in turn temporarily distends and obstructs the bowel. These factors plus nature's attempt to overcome the difficulty are responsible for the distress.

Dr. Van Dellen

If babies could talk we would probably find that the anguish is comparable in adults with the gas pains following an operation, or rival those encountered during labor, or while passing a gall or kidney stone. In other words, colic is more than a mere discomfort and it is little wonder that the baby screams and draws up the legs as though to make pressure on the abdomen. The attacks come and go. Although considerable variation occurs from child to child, the condition is most likely to make its appearance in the afternoon or evening. Furthermore, it often begins with clocklike regularity and lasts about the same time with each baby.

Something always should be done for these infants because of the extreme discomfort. Now and then a simple "burp" will do the trick. On the other hand, if the gas already is in the intestine other measures are necessary. Snuggling, carrying, jiggling, or patting the little one often helps. Use every means to comfort the youngster and there is no need to fear "spoiling". Relief also can be obtained by laying the infant face down with the abdomen on mother's knee or on a hot-water bottle. The latter should not be too hot, for children of this age are easily burned. The heat relaxes the spasms and the weight of the baby on his distended intestines encourages the passage of gas. Now and then a few drops of peppermint water or other carminatives are helpful. As a last resort, an enema consisting of three to four ounces of warm soapy water can be administered.

Subsequent attacks often can be alleviated by altering the formula or changing the mechanics of feeding. Since most of these infants are breast-fed, many of the mothers believe that the milk supply is inadequate or the baby is having trouble nursing and should be given a bottle. On the other hand, if the parents are feeding the child a formula they blame the mixture and demand a change. But these are not always at fault; occasionally the holes in the nipples are too large and the child is swallowing an excessive amount of air. Sometimes the little fellows must be "burped" more frequently.

Underfeeding also may be responsible but under these circumstances more should be done than simply increasing the amount of nourishment. It is not the quantity but the quality that is most important. By adding an easily digested protein, relief is often dramatic. There are several products available. Buttermilk, boiled skimmed milk, evaporated, dry, and protein milk are useful along this line. Reducing the fat and sugar content also may afford relief. In some instances, the colic is due to an inherent tenseness. These children are spoken of as hyper-tonic and are often tense, wakeful, irritable, and frequently spit up food. They are born with an overactive nervous system. In this condition, sedatives are of value in addition to other procedures.

Added Check

REPLY

When syphilis is present, the spinal fluid is analyzed to determine whether the organisms have invaded the nervous system. In suspected cases, on the other hand, the test is performed with the hope that it will offer a clew; occasionally the spinal Wassermann is positive when the blood is negative. But this is the exception rather than the rule.

Bunny Food

G.Q. writes: Will eating lots of carrots improve the vision?

REPLY

Yes, if the visual defect is night blindness due to lack of carotene or vitamin A. On the other hand, overindulgence in carrots may cause the skin to turn yellow (carotenemia).

A Yearly Episode

J.G. writes: About once a year I get a funny feeling in my chest and then my heart beats at a tremenous spee. My doctor says I have a perfect heart. I have a nervous stomach. What could this be?

REPLY

This may represent simple palpitation probably due to indigestion or it may be a more annoying irregularity such as paroxysmal tachycardia or fibrillation. The next time it occurs call your physician so that he can witness an attack.

Beardless

R.N.K. writes: What can be done to promote the growth of whiskers in a male 19 years old?

Sen. Ferguson's Wife Benefits From Chrysler, According To Sen. Thomas; Chrysler Executive Reported To Have Paid For Ferguson's Entertainment

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Yesterday this column published an extraordinary letter written by Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, Democrat, to Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, Republican, threatening to expose Ferguson if he did not call off his investigation of Thomas's commodity-market speculation.

Before he wrote that letter last Feb. 13, Thomas sent his campaign manager, Marty Heflin, brother of movie actor Van Heflin, to Detroit to investigate Ferguson; while Thomas himself went to Chicago. Together they collected the "pertinent facts, the memo of the stockholders, the number of shares and the official positions held by each such stockholder" which Thomas threatened to make public.

This reference pertained to the "Chrysler Airtemp Sales Corporation" at Grosse Point Farms, Mich., a lucrative sales agency which the Chrysler Motor Company tossed into the lap of Ferguson's young son-in-law, Charles R. Beltz. With the public clamoring to buy air-conditioning units, this kind of agency could be nothing short of a gold mine.

Senator Thomas's "pertinent" facts, though unpublished, also showed that son-in-law Beltz, though president of the company, owned only 120 shares of stock, while his wife, Amy Beltz, owned five shares and Senator Ferguson's wife, Myrtle, owned 125 shares. According to Sen. Thomas's information, they were the sole stockholders. Thus it was possible for Sen. Ferguson's wife and daughter to outvote the president of the firm.

Thus, also, Mrs. Ferguson appeared to be the largest beneficiary.

Thomas also collected information purporting to show that Myrtle Ferguson, the Senator's wife, had been designated as the resident-agent for Airtemp in Washington, which indicated that the company either did business or tried to do business with the Government. (A Senator is not supposed to profit from any fee or business transaction with the Government.)

Sen. Thomas also said in his letter to the Michigan Senator that he had reports as to "where you have spent your summer vacations, whom with, who paid the bills, or when and how you have entertained here in Washington. . . . Swanky parties with all that goes along—including the best of drinks, including good champagne—all paid for by another—is not good publicity."

Thomas referred in this case to information he had received that Ferguson was royally entertained by B. E. Hutchinson, general manager of Chrysler, and spent summer vacations with him.

Thomas also told Ferguson he had reports that "dresses," which Thomas said he had heard were given to members of the Ferguson family, also referred to gifts from the Chrysler people.

Before receiving this letter Ferguson had a staff of investigators at work on Thomas and had fought several Democratic members of his Committee who wanted to drop the Thomas probe. But following receipt of Thomas's letter, Ferguson never let out a single, solitary peep. The investigation of his Democratic colleague from Oklahoma was dropped like a red-hot ingot.

Kiplinger's Prognostications

Gnarled veteran newsman Bascom Timmons was guest of honor at a luncheon last week to announce publication of his new book, "Garner of Texas."

At the luncheon, Cliff Berryman, famed cartoonist of the Washington Star, drew a cartoon of Timmons and his old friend, the ex-Vice President. Toward the end of the luncheon, the cartoon disappeared. George Stimpson, one of the luncheon guests, searched for it. So did Ed Jamieson, a member of Timmons' staff. But no cartoon.

Finally, Jamieson made a brief speech, appealing to the 50 newsmen present to give Timmons back his cartoon. Follow-famed publisher of "Kiplinger's famed published of "Kiplinger's Letter," pulled it out of his breast pocket and handed it back. The boys weren't quite sure whether Kip had a bad memory or meant it as a joke.

Note—Timmons, who knew Cactus Jack Garner better than anyone in Washington, has written an amusing account of the old man's life, including his feuds with FDR.

Thomas's Commodity Cronies

Dyke Cullum, who was caught tampering with the dried-pea market, is now speculating in grain. He was one of Oklahoma Senator Elmer Thomas's curious "business associates" back in the heyday of the Senator's commodity speculations.

Four other members of the ring—Ralph Moore, Robert Harriss, Tom Linder, Agricultural Commissioner of Georgia, and J. E. McDonald, Agricultural Commissioner of Texas—have been indicted by the Justice Department. Cullum is still under investigation.

Utah Polygamists

An offshoot of a polygamist cult has settled near remote Widtsoe, Utah, and has the ranchers up in arms. The ranchers don't object so much to the multiple wives, but to alleged theft of irrigation water by the polygamists, fencing of country roads and growing wheat on Government grazing land.

Polygamist headquarters are across the border in Short Creek, Ariz., but some of them have strayed to Utah.

Gen. Wainwright's Name

Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, will start selling life insurance to servicemen—just as soon as he can get some more big-name generals and admirals to go into business with him. He has already invited retired Air Chief of Staff Carl "Toughy" Spaatz to join him.

Financial backing for Wainwright's new firm has already been put up by Lincoln National and Mutual Life Insurance Companies, but the General claims his firm will be non-profit. He will call it the Armed Forces Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Note — Wainwright has already loaned his famous name to three companies. He is board chairman of Hom-Ond Food Stores, vice president of Acme Sash Window Balance Co. and manager of the Alama Stock Farm.

Reading For President

Utah's mild-mannered Senator Elbert Thomas took some campaign ideas to President Truman the other day, and gently insisted:

"I want you to read this yourself and not turn it over to your brain trust."

The Utahn gave Truman a brochure, showing how the Communists were supporting Henry Wallace to defeat honest liberals and elect reactionaries.

"Thus," warned Thomas, "the Reds hope to throw the United States into turmoil."

Truman promised to read it.

Overall Question Is "Are We Moving Toward War Or From It"

By MARK SULLIVAN

As the General Assembly of the United Nations met at Paris last week, and as Secretary of State Marshall addressed it, every American watched and listened for the answer to a classic question, "Watchman, what of the night?"—meaning, in the circumstances of today, "Are we moving toward war or away from it?" That is the overall question.

Secretary Marshall did not answer the question concretely, in his position he must practice restraint, nowhere in his address did he use the word "Russia." Light on the depths of his grave apprehension is to be found in two sentences. In one he recalls to the Assembly that a year before he had spoken to them of "the vicious circles of deepening political and economic crisis." In the other sentence Mr. Marshall said simply, and somberly "tension during the past year has increased."

Comparison of conditions a year apart is especially enlightening, much more so than any pragmatic judgment as of a given date or a judgment arising from a single event. For by comparison we can find direction, trend; we can determine whether the stream grows in volume or lessens, whether it deepens or tends to taper out in shallows.

Yardstick to Measure Change

Nearly a year ago, in November, 1947, America was given a statement as official as Secretary Marshall's in Paris last week, and more free to be frank. It was made by an official body, "The President's Committee on Foreign Aid." The Committee included public men such as ex-Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., and Mr. Paul G. Hoffman, now head of European relief operations, together with labor leaders, leaders in business and banking, and economists.

The report of the Committee on Foreign Aid, issued last November, was a landmark of conditions as they then were, it is a yardstick by which to measure the change since. The Committee said:

"Open ideological war has been declared already . . . It has been called a cold war . . . It is cold only in the sense that guns are not smoking and bombs . . . not exploding. In every other respect the ideological war of the Communists is as ruthless and as determined a drive to achieve world domination as a hot war."

Forthright as was that report of the President's Committee on Foreign Aid, it in some respects fell short. To speak of "ideological" war is misleading, it implies mere argument, academic debate. To speak of the Communist drive as a "cold" war is likewise misleading; if it is to be described in terms of thermodynamics at all, it is a war that aims to go as far as the boiling point.

In fact the Communist drive includes use of force, always potentially and sometime actually. When Russia prevents American Army trucks from entering Berlin it is not ideology that she uses to bar the way; it is force, Mongolian soldiers stand at the crossing gate. When the Communists took over Czechoslovakia it was not ideology that intimidated the Czechs, it was force, the threat of Russian arms in the background.

"Guns are not smoking" said the President's Committee a year ago. But guns were already smoking in Greece and China and today are smoking also in Burma, Malaya, Indo-China and Indonesia, in all the countries of Southeast Asia where communism seeks revolution.

Russian Drive Follows Pattern

The entire world-wide Russian drive follows the pattern of military maneuver. While America has been intent on the frontal drive against Western Europe at Berlin and elsewhere, and has been opposing it by bringing economic recovery in Western Europe, the Communist strategists in Moscow have gone around our flank to cut off supplies from Southeast Asia essential to European recovery.

Anxious Americans ask, Watchman, how goes the night; and make the question concrete, specific. Are we nearer war today than a year ago? The answer is yes, much.

The basic factor is the Russian and Communist determination to dominate the world, to destroy non-Communist systems everywhere. The past year has seen no evidence of any abatement in that determination. The Russian proposal for arms limitation made at Paris last week was not an abatement, it was a repetition of what Russia had said a year before and was regarded as propaganda. "It does not end the tension," said French Foreign Minister Schuman. On the contrary the past year has seen increasing evidence that the Russian and Communist will to dominate is permanent and implacable.

On our side the event of the year has been recognition by our people and our Congress that the Russian purpose is implacable. Recognizing that, we have said to the free peoples of the world and Secretary Marshall repeated last week: "We will not compromise essential principles We will under no circumstances barter away the rights and freedoms of other peoples." From that America will not recede.

Mr. Truman's Inadequacy As Leader Is About To Defeat Him

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—President Truman is strong in the west and may carry a substantial number of the states west of the Mississippi River. Governor Dewey is strong in the East and, because of Wallace defections from the Democratic Party, will gather enought electoral votes to get a majority.

This is the size-up as the fateful month of October approaches. It means that President Truman would have been an easy victor this year had he played his political cards right last spring.

There is every evidence that the Democratic Party is still the majority party in the nation. Only the split in its ranks—largely due to Mr. Truman's inadequacy as a political leader—is about to bring defeat after nearly 16 years of power.

As it is, the popular vote—when combining the Wallace and Truman strength—appears so close that the Democrats have a better than even chance to win control of the United States Senate.

Only if there is a landslide of Republican votes can the Republicans win the Senate. They must be stronger in the west than shown by the polls thus far made.

Resembles 1916 Campaign

The campaign resembles more and more the 1916 presidential contest when Woodrow Wilson carried the west and only Ohio and New Hampshire east of the Mississippi. He had, of course, the border states and the Solid South. Today Mr. Truman will lose some of the electoral votes of the South to the States' Rights ticket and there is an even chance that Dewey may pick up some electoral votes south of the Mason and Dixon Line.

To most people the whys and wherefores of popular voting may not be important or significant—they are interested solely in who is going to be president. That's an easy question to answer, providing two things are taken for granted. One is that Wallace will not withdraw and the other is that there will be no outbreak of a real war crisis between now and election day to complicate the picture and cause voters to keep the present administration in power as they did in 1940 and 1944.

Will Wallace withdraw? President Truman has all but embraced every plank in the Wallace platform. There is no demagoguery emanating from the Wallace camp any stronger than that which Mr. Truman has been pouring out in the west. As for the Communist charge, Mr. Truman has called it a "red herring" and certainly the Wallace followers should take notice of the fact that Mr. Truman's administration hasn't really been harsh on the Communists at all—at least, so the congressional committees say by their reports. This means that, as between Truman and Dewey, the Communists in the Wallace camp certainly will not gain by causing Truman's defeat.

Maybe at the last minute Wallace might be persuaded to withdraw. It looked earlier this year as if he and his associates would be content with the kind of campaign that compels the Democrats to swallow their third-party ideas. It is difficult to see how Wallace can gain anything politically now by staying in the race. A withdrawal may not seem probable at the moment but it is logical, nevertheless. If it occurs, the main contest will be a real horse race.

Thus the Gallup Polls show Truman leading by a wide margin in Minnesota and Missouri. If the Wallace vote were added to the Truman vote, California would be in the bag for Truman. Other western states lean toward Truman. Even in New York state the combined Wallace and Truman vote is far in excess of the Dewey percentages as shown in the Gallup Polls.

The Republican tide may be higher in November than it is today but it certainly isn't running in any landslide manner so far as popular votes are concerned. On that basis the contest may turn out to be almost as close as the 1944 election, when Roosevelt had a heavy electoral vote but squeezed out slim majorities in many states. Dewey seems certain to win but October happenings are yet to be taken into account, and much can happen overnight both nationally and internationally.

The Wallace strength is rapidly dwindling, and will dwindle almost entirely in a war crisis leaving only a handful of read Communists—not over 100,000 in the whole country—to carry on the campaign.

These Days

A Study In Contrasts

The campaign speeches of Truman and Dewey offer a startling contrast in personalities. Truman slugs; Dewey philosophizes. Truman hits his opponents; Dewey speaks as though there were hardly any opposition. Truman seeks to conquer by dividing; Dewey preaches national unity.

This difference in attitude is not merely a well-considered pitching of the campaign on a certain level on the assumption that that is the road to success; it is rather a response to basic difference in the political affiliations and personal characters of the men.

Truman is a Democrat. He joined the organization young and stayed with it. Whatever he has achieved in life is a product of this association. He recognized Pendergast as his boss and in spite of everything stuck to him until the old man died after a jail sentence. He went to his funeral. This personal loyalty to men transcends his belief in ideas.

As a Senator, he voted regularly. His leader was Franklin D. Roosevelt and he did as he was told. Chairman of an investigating committee, he did a good job but he failed to embarrass the Administration with such unpleasantnesses as were subsequently unfolded. As Vice President, he minded his own business, making no attempt to play any role at all, not even that of his predecessors, Jack Garner and Henry Wallace.

Catapulted into the presidency by Roosevelt's death, he expected that the gang would accept the leader ship to which his office entitled him. He tried to play with some Republicans but found that unpleasant because it is unorthodox according to his way of thinking. He tried to operate a bi-partisan foreign policy but it irked him and he told the Republicans only as little as was necessary to prevent an eruption. Naturally a conservative, he got rid of most of the New Dealers, but when Henry Wallace got on his tail, he reluctantly took them back.

He is incapable, as Jesse Jones made so clear, of understanding and dealing with issues and principles, because he is only accustomed to making deals with men. He does not grasp the revolt in the South; the Dixiecrats are just a lot of sore-heads who will not let him play the game as he thinks it best for 1948.

Dewey, on the other hand, hardly concerns himself with party organization as such. He started as a Young Republican in New York and opposed the Old Guard. A public prosecutor, he looked for crooks in his own party as well as among the opposition. Having discovered that political affiliation is a poor test for virtue, he retained deserving Democrats in office both as District Attorney and as Governor. For instance, he selected Frank Hogan, a Democrat, as his successor as District Attorney and then got for him a Republican endorsement. Similarly, he has been steadily criticized by organization Republicans for not throwing out every Democrat he found in Albany when he became Governor. He retained as Commissioner of Correction James A. Lyons; Frederick A. Moran as Chairman of the Board of Parole and Dr. Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., as Commissioner of Health, all three appointed by Governor Lehman as Democrats.

I do not claim for Dewey that he is not a partisan, nor even that he has the bi-partisan attitude of Governor Warren of California. I merely contrast him with Harry Truman who is a strict party man, while Dewey thinks in the broader terms of public administration. As a matter of fact, Dewey's entire political career has been in the administrative field and he has devoted himself not so much to getting along with people as he has to dealing with problems. No one will ever call him a "good fellow." Even those known as the Dewey team are not what would be regarded as cronies.

In a word, these men are fundamentally different in their outlooks on life; and their speeches reflect the difference. I once wrote on their similarities which are interesting but not as striking as the fact that Truman slugs while Dewey argues. Before a jury, Dewey usually got the decision because he did all his home-work thoroughly. Truman would have preferred a judge to whom he could say: "You know me, Al."

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Let's take the second chorus over again.

I've been studying all the popular singers and I've just worked out a formula for success or "how to become a hit vocalist without chasing Jose Iturbi through a technicolor picture."

Hildegarde gave me a tip on how to be a sensation if you want to sing French songs. Never let your last name get out.

And with Dinah Shore it's that southern charm that gets you. When that girl starts serenading, you can see the hominy grits creepin' through the ham hocks.

The new singer on our show, Doris Day, achieved success by starring in her first picture and becoming a real cinderella girl. In fact, she's the only vocalist I know who sings through a glass, open toed, of course.

But Sinatra's rise to fame was the most amazing of all. For years the fans didn't even know what he looked like then somebody suggested he step out from behind that microphone.

Secure Your Right Today To Vote On Election Day

Your opinion as to who should be President of the United States and who should be your congressman from the Sixth district is no good unless you put it on the ballot on November 2.

Telling your friends, arguing the pros and cons over lunches and writing letters to the editors are all right. But they don't pay off in the election. To make your opinion count, you must vote—go to the polls and mark a ballot. But you can't unless you are a registered voter.

To vote in the November 2 presidential and congressional election, you must register not later than October 5. Your first opportunity to do this is TODAY, the first of two registration days provided by law and planned for by election officials and leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties.

If you haven't been registered, or if you have moved since you last voted, you should make certain that your name was not among those dropped from the poll books when they were revised earlier this year. The only way to do that is to go to the polling place in the precinct in which you live and make inquiry. TODAY is the first of two days on which this can be done. It should be attended to today.

Ours is a government by majority, but too often it is reduced to a government by minority. The fault lies with the electors themselves. Time and time again, well under half of the registered voters go to the polls on election day. When that happens, the "voice of the people" is small and ineffectual voice indeed.

Our ancestors fought for years to win and maintain the right of franchise. It is the basic guardian of free government—and of all the other freedoms which are possible under free government. It is the first right to be abrogated by dictators—as the travesties on the "free" election system which used to occur periodically in Germany, Italy and elsewhere prove. It is the great defense against oppression.

The citizen who fails to vote shirks a basic and inescapable responsibility. Go to your registration officials today and make certain that you will be armed with a ballot which you may cast for the men and measures of your choice.

That is both a great duty and a great privilege. Register TODAY.

Importance Of 1948 Vote For Control Of Senate

Republican campaign managers who have been warning against over-confidence in the presidential race have not felt it necessary to stress the importance of the 1948 contest for control of the Senate. A shift of only four seats would give the Democrats control of the upper house. Last week Senator Martin of Pennsylvania remarked that Governor Dewey agreed with him in being "worried" about the Senate outlook.

Since over-confidence is the most witless of all political failings we won't quarrel with that point of view. At this writing, five Republican seats are in more or less danger. The Progressive Party candidates have been ruled off the ballot in Illinois, hence Senator Brooks has a harder road ahead than Republican colleagues in states where Wallace will split the Democratic vote. In Kentucky the prestige of Democratic vice-presidential nominee Barkley will enter the lists against Republican Senator Cooper. In Minnesota, the Democrats seem to think, for no good reason, that Mayor Humphrey of Minneapolis is more popular than Senator Ball. In West Virginia, Senator Revercomb is being given a hard fight by former Senator Neely, and could use some firsthand assistance from Governor Dewey.

There is no room for over-confidence here, but neither is there ground for alarm. All over the country, even the Democrats are privately admitting that Dewey will be elected. Vice Presidential candidate Barkley added to this belief during a press conference in New York when he just about conceded the election to Dewey.

Since 1913, when popular election of Senators began, the party winning the presidency has lost Senate seats only twice. In 1916, the GOP lost some because it had not yet recovered from the Progressive split in 1912 and 1914. In 1940 the Democrats lost three, but some loss was inevitable after the '36 landslide. In no election since the Civil War has either party won the presidency and lost the Senate.

Of course, it could happen. And some "liberal" Republicans, who have been urging Governor Dewey not to "sully his hands" by supporting certain GOP senators, evidently want it to happen. We doubt that that prejudiced advice will carry much weight with a man who has had enough political experience to understand what it means to be President and control the Senate.

Campaign Of 1948 Is "Just Matter Of Psychology"

The Roosevelt-Truman ticket, in the 1944 election, had a lead of 3,596,277 votes over the Dewey-Bricker ticket. As a result, Mr. Truman occupies the White House and administers the national government. He is in possession, but he does not act that way. As the phrase goes, he has come out of the White House front door fighting, resolved—in his own words—to "give them hell." He acts as if he had been driven out, as if The Enemy were already climbing that Balcony and pouring in. That is not the way a man, or party, in possession is supposed to act.

Governor Cox made the same mistake in 1920. He, too—or rather his party—was in possession, but he came out fighting. Senator Harding, his opponent, had benefit of wise political counsel and followed the other tack. Like Governor McKinley in 1896 and 1900, and Woodrow Wilson in 1916, he conducted a "front-porch campaign." His party was not in possession, but he acted as if it were, and his popular vote nearly doubled that of Cox.

This parable is being repeated in 1948. Governor Dewey is really outside the breastworks, Harry Truman inside; but in effect their roles have been reversed. The country expects Dewey to be elected President, and that is how he carries himself. His opponent has been very badly advised, and in popular estimation is on the long, long trail of defeat. "Just a matter of psychology," you say? Yes, that's it, and isn't it nearly everything?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Do Something For Colic

During the first three months of life colic is so common that many physicians believe it can almost be considered normal. The cause is not known, but the intestinal tract of the infant probably is not equal to the task of digesting and propelling nourishment. Abnormal fermentation leads to gas which in turn temporarily distends and obstructs the bowel. These factors plus nature's attempt to overcome the difficulty are responsible for the distress.

Dr. Van Dellen

If babies could talk we would probably find that the anguish is comparable in adults with the gas pains following an operation, or rival those encountered during labor, or while passing a gall or kidney stone. In other words, colic is more than a mere discomfort and it is little wonder that the baby screams and draws up the legs as though to make pressure on the abdomen. The attacks come and go. Although considerable variation occurs from child to child, the condition is most likely to make its appearance in the afternoon or evening. Furthermore, it often begins with clocklike regularity and lasts about the same time with each baby.

Something always should be done for these infants because of the extreme discomfort. Now and then a simple "burp" will do the trick. On the other hand, if the gas already is in the intestine other measures are necessary. Snuggling, carrying, jiggling, or patting the little one often helps. Use every means to comfort the youngster and there is no need to fear "spoiling". Relief also can be obtained by laying the infant face down with the abdomen on mother's knee or on a hot-water bottle. The latter should not be too hot, for children of this age are easily burned. The heat relaxes the spasms and the weight of the baby on his distended intestines encourages the passage of gas. Now and then a few drops of peppermint water or other carminatives are helpful. As a last resort, an enema consisting of three to four ounces of warm soapy water can be administered.

Subsequent attacks often can be alleviated by altering the formula or changing the mechanics of feeding. Since most of these infants are breast-fed, many of the mothers believe that the milk supply is inadequate or the baby is having trouble nursing and should be given a bottle. On the other hand, if the parents are feeding the child a formula they blame the mixture and demand a change. But these are not always at fault; occasionally the holes in the nipples are too large and the child is swallowing an excessive amount of air. Sometimes the little fellows must be "burped" more frequently.

Underfeeding also may be responsible but under these circumstances more should be done than simply increasing the amount of nourishment. It is not the quantity but the quality that is most important. By adding an easily digested protein, relief is often dramatic. There are several products available. Buttermilk, boiled skimmed milk, evaporated, dry, and protein milk are useful along this line. Reducing the fat and sugar content also may afford relief. In some instances, the colic is due to an inherent tenseness. These children are spoken of as hyper-tonic and are often tense, wakeful, irritable, and frequently spit up food. They are born with an overactive nervous system. In this condition, sedatives are of value in addition to other procedures.

Added Check

REPLY

When syphilis is present, the spinal fluid is analyzed to determine whether the organisms have invaded the nervous system. In suspected cases, on the other hand, the test is performed with the hope that it will offer a clew; occasionally the spinal Wassermann is positive when the blood is negative. But this is the exception rather than the rule.

Bunny Food

REPLY

Yes, if the visual defect is night blindness due to lack of carotene or vitamin A. On the other hand, overindulgence in carrots may cause the skin to turn yellow (carotenemia).

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sen. Ferguson's Wife Benefits From Chrysler, According To Sen. Thomas; Chrysler Executive Reported To Have Paid For Ferguson's Entertainment

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Yesterday this column published an extraordinary letter written by Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, Democrat, to Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, Republican, threatening to expose Ferguson if he did not call off his investigation of Thomas's commodity-market speculation.

Before he wrote that letter last Feb. 13, Thomas sent his campaign manager, Marty Heflin, brother of movie actor Van Heflin, to Detroit to investigate Ferguson; while Thomas himself went to Chicago. Together they collected the "pertinent facts, the memo of the stockholders, the number of shares and the official positions held by each such stockholder" which Thomas threatened to make public.

This reference pertained to the "Chrysler Airtemp Sales Corporation" at Grosse Point Farms, Mich., a lucrative sales agency which the Chrysler Motor Company tossed into the lap of Ferguson's young son-in-law, Charles R. Beltz. With the public clamoring to buy air-conditioning units, this kind of agency could be nothing short of a gold mine.

Senator Thomas's "pertinent" facts, though unpublished, also showed that son-in-law Beltz, though president of the company, owned only 120 shares of stock, while his wife, Amy Beltz, owned five shares and Senator Ferguson's wife, Myrtle, owned 125 shares. According to Sen. Thomas's information, they were the sole stockholders. Thus it was possible for Sen. Ferguson's wife and daughter to outvote the president of the firm.

Thus, also, Mrs. Ferguson appeared to be the largest beneficiary.

Thomas also collected information purporting to show that Myrtle Ferguson, the Senator's wife, had been designated as the resident-agent for Airtemp in Washington, which indicated that the company either did business or tried to do business with the Government. (A Senator is not supposed to profit from any fee or business transaction with the Government.)

Sen. Thomas also said in his letter to the Michigan Senator that he had reports as to "where you have spent your summer vacations, whom with, who paid the bills, or when and how you have entertained here in Washington. . . . Swanky parties with all that goes along—including the best of drinks, including good champagne—all paid for by another—is not good publicity."

Thomas referred in this case to information he had received that Ferguson was royally entertained by B. E. Hutchinson, general manager of Chrysler, and spent summer vacations with him.

Thomas also told Ferguson he had reports that "dresses," which Thomas said he had heard were given to members of the Ferguson family, also referred to gifts from the Chrysler people.

Before receiving this letter Ferguson had a staff of investigators at work on Thomas and had fought several Democratic members of his Committee who wanted to drop the Thomas probe. But following receipt of Thomas's letter, Ferguson never let out a single, solitary peep. The investigation of his Democratic colleague from Oklahoma was dropped like a red-hot ingot.

Kiplinger's Prognostications

Gnarled veteran newsman Bascom Timmons was guest of honor at a luncheon last week to announce publication of his new book, "Garner of Texas."

At the luncheon, Cliff Berryman, famed cartoonist of the Washington Star, drew a cartoon of Timmons and his old friend, the ex-Vice President. Toward the end of the luncheon, the cartoon disappeared. George Stimpson, one of the luncheon guests, searched for it. So did Ed Jamieson, a member of Timmons' staff. But no cartoon.

Finally, Jamieson made a brief speech, appealing to the 50 newsmen present to give Timmons back his cartoon. Follow-famed publisher of "Kiplinger's famed published of "Kiplinger's Letter," pulled it out of his breast pocket and handed it back. The boys weren't quite sure whether Kip had a bad memory or meant it as a joke.

Note—Timmons, who knew Cactus Jack Garner better than anyone in Washington, has written an amusing account of the old man's life, including his feuds with FDR.

Thomas's Commodity Cronies

Dyke Cullum, who was caught tampering with the dried-pea market, is now speculating in grain. He was one of Oklahoma Senator Elmer Thomas's curious "business associates" back in the heyday of the Senator's commodity speculations.

Four other members of the ring—Ralph Moore, Robert Harriss, Tom Linder, Agricultural Commissioner of Georgia, and J. E. McDonald, Agricultural Commissioner of Texas—have been indicted by the Justice Department. Cullum is still under investigation.

Utah Polygamists

An offshoot of a polygamist cult has settled near remote Widtsoe, Utah, and has the ranchers up in arms. The ranchers don't object so much to the multiple wives, but to alleged theft of irrigation water by the polygamists, fencing of country roads and growing wheat on Government grazing land.

Polygamist headquarters are across the border in Short Creek, Ariz., but some of them have strayed to Utah.

Gen. Wainwright's Name

Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, will start selling life insurance to servicemen—just as soon as he can get some more big-name generals and admirals to go into business with him. He has already invited retired Air Chief of Staff Carl "Toughy" Spaatz to join him.

Financial backing for Wainwright's new firm has already been put up by Lincoln National and Mutual Life Insurance Companies, but the General claims his firm will be non-profit. He will call it the Armed Forces Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Note — Wainwright has already loaned his famous name to three companies. He is board chairman of Hom-Ond Food Stores, vice president of Acme Sash Window Balance Co. and manager of the Alama Stock Farm.

Reading For President

Utah's mild-mannered Senator Elbert Thomas took some campaign ideas to President Truman the other day, and gently insisted:

"I want you to read this yourself and not turn it over to your brain trust."

The Utahn gave Truman a brochure, showing how the Communists were supporting Henry Wallace to defeat honest liberals and elect reactionaries.

"Thus," warned Thomas, "the Reds hope to throw the United States into turmoil."

Truman promised to read it.

Overall Question Is "Are We Moving Toward War Or From It"

By MARK SULLIVAN

As the General Assembly of the United Nations met at Paris last week, and as Secretary of State Marshall addressed it, every American watched and listened for the answer to a classic question, "Watchman, what of the night?"—meaning, in the circumstances of today, "Are we moving toward war or away from it?" That is the overall question.

Secretary Marshall did not answer the question concretely, in his position he must practice restraint, nowhere in his address did he use the word "Russia." Light on the depths of his grave apprehension is to be found in two sentences. In one he recalls to the Assembly that a year before he had spoken to them of "the vicious circles of deepening political and economic crisis." In the other sentence Mr. Marshall said simply, and somberly "tension during the past year has increased."

Comparison of conditions a year apart is especially enlightening, much more so than any pragmatic judgment as of a given date or a judgment arising from a single event. For by comparison we can find direction, trend; we can determine whether the stream grows in volume or lessens, whether it deepens or tends to taper out in shallows.

Yardstick to Measure Change

Nearly a year ago, in November, 1947, America was given a statement as official as Secretary Marshall's in Paris last week, and more free to be frank. It was made by an official body, "The President's Committee on Foreign Aid." The Committee included public men such as ex-Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., and Mr. Paul G. Hoffman, now head of European relief operations, together with labor leaders, leaders in business and banking, and economists.

The report of the Committee on Foreign Aid, issued last November, was a landmark of conditions as they then were, it is a yardstick by which to measure the change since. The Committee said:

"Open ideological war has been declared already . . . It has been called a cold war . . . It is cold only in the sense that guns are not smoking and bombs . . . not exploding. In every other respect the ideological war of the Communists is as ruthless and as determined a drive to achieve world domination as a hot war."

Forthright as was that report of the President's Committee on Foreign Aid, it in some respects fell short. To speak of "ideological" war is misleading, it implies mere argument, academic debate. To speak of the Communist drive as a "cold" war is likewise misleading; if it is to be described in terms of thermodynamics at all, it is a war that aims to go as far as the boiling point.

In fact the Communist drive includes use of force, always potentially and sometime actually. When Russia prevents American Army trucks from entering Berlin it is not ideology that she uses to bar the way; it is force, Mongolian soldiers stand at the crossing gate. When the Communists took over Czechoslovakia it was not ideology that intimidated the Czechs, it was force, the threat of Russian arms in the background.

"Guns are not smoking" said the President's Committee a year ago. But guns were already smoking in Greece and China and today are smoking also in Burma, Malaya, Indo-China and Indonesia, in all the countries of Southeast Asia where communism seeks revolution.

Russian Drive Follows Pattern

The entire world-wide Russian drive follows the pattern of military maneuver. While America has been intent on the frontal drive against Western Europe at Berlin and elsewhere, and has been opposing it by bringing economic recovery in Western Europe, the Communist strategists in Moscow have gone around our flank to cut off supplies from Southeast Asia essential to European recovery.

Anxious Americans ask, Watchman, how goes the night; and make the question concrete, specific. Are we nearer war today than a year ago? The answer is yes, much.

The basic factor is the Russian and Communist determination to dominate the world, to destroy non-Communist systems everywhere. The past year has seen no evidence of any abatement in that determination. The Russian proposal for arms limitation made at Paris last week was not an abatement, it was a repetition of what Russia had said a year before and was regarded as propaganda. "It does not end the tension," said French Foreign Minister Schuman. On the contrary the past year has seen increasing evidence that the Russian and Communist will to dominate is permanent and implacable.

On our side the event of the year has been recognition by our people and our Congress that the Russian purpose is implacable. Recognizing that, we have said to the free peoples of the world and Secretary Marshall repeated last week: "We will not compromise essential principles We will under no circumstances barter away the rights and freedoms of other peoples." From that America will not recede.

Mr. Truman's Inadequacy As Leader Is About To Defeat Him

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—President Truman is strong in the west and may carry a substantial number of the states west of the Mississippi River. Governor Dewey is strong in the East and, because of Wallace defections from the Democratic Party, will gather enought electoral votes to get a majority.

This is the size-up as the fateful month of October approaches. It means that President Truman would have been an easy victor this year had he played his political cards right last spring.

There is every evidence that the Democratic Party is still the majority party in the nation. Only the split in its ranks—largely due to Mr. Truman's inadequacy as a political leader—is about to bring defeat after nearly 16 years of power.

As it is, the popular vote—when combining the Wallace and Truman strength—appears so close that the Democrats have a better than even chance to win control of the United States Senate.

Only if there is a landslide of Republican votes can the Republicans win the Senate. They must be stronger in the west than shown by the polls thus far made.

Resembles 1916 Campaign

The campaign resembles more and more the 1916 presidential contest when Woodrow Wilson carried the west and only Ohio and New Hampshire east of the Mississippi. He had, of course, the border states and the Solid South. Today Mr. Truman will lose some of the electoral votes of the South to the States' Rights ticket and there is an even chance that Dewey may pick up some electoral votes south of the Mason and Dixon Line.

To most people the whys and wherefores of popular voting may not be important or significant—they are interested solely in who is going to be president. That's an easy question to answer, providing two things are taken for granted. One is that Wallace will not withdraw and the other is that there will be no outbreak of a real war crisis between now and election day to complicate the picture and cause voters to keep the present administration in power as they did in 1940 and 1944.

Will Wallace withdraw? President Truman has all but embraced every plank in the Wallace platform. There is no demagoguery emanating from the Wallace camp any stronger than that which Mr. Truman has been pouring out in the west. As for the Communist charge, Mr. Truman has called it a "red herring" and certainly the Wallace followers should take notice of the fact that Mr. Truman's administration hasn't really been harsh on the Communists at all—at least, so the congressional committees say by their reports. This means that, as between Truman and Dewey, the Communists in the Wallace camp certainly will not gain by causing Truman's defeat.

Maybe at the last minute Wallace might be persuaded to withdraw. It looked earlier this year as if he and his associates would be content with the kind of campaign that compels the Democrats to swallow their third-party ideas. It is difficult to see how Wallace can gain anything politically now by staying in the race. A withdrawal may not seem probable at the moment but it is logical, nevertheless. If it occurs, the main contest will be a real horse race.

Thus the Gallup Polls show Truman leading by a wide margin in Minnesota and Missouri. If the Wallace vote were added to the Truman vote, California would be in the bag for Truman. Other western states lean toward Truman. Even in New York state the combined Wallace and Truman vote is far in excess of the Dewey percentages as shown in the Gallup Polls.

The Republican tide may be higher in November than it is today but it certainly isn't running in any landslide manner so far as popular votes are concerned. On that basis the contest may turn out to be almost as close as the 1944 election, when Roosevelt had a heavy electoral vote but squeezed out slim majorities in many states. Dewey seems certain to win but October happenings are yet to be taken into account, and much can happen overnight both nationally and internationally.

The Wallace strength is rapidly dwindling, and will dwindle almost entirely in a war crisis leaving only a handful of read Communists—not over 100,000 in the whole country—to carry on the campaign.

A Study In Contrasts

The campaign speeches of Truman and Dewey offer a startling contrast in personalities. Truman slugs; Dewey philosophizes. Truman hits his opponents; Dewey speaks as though there were hardly any opposition. Truman seeks to conquer by dividing; Dewey preaches national unity.

This difference in attitude is not merely a well-considered pitching of the campaign on a certain level on the assumption that that is the road to success; it is rather a response to basic difference in the political affiliations and personal characters of the men.

Truman is a Democrat. He joined the organization young and stayed with it. Whatever he has achieved in life is a product of this association. He recognized Pendergast as his boss and in spite of everything stuck to him until the old man died after a jail sentence. He went to his funeral. This personal loyalty to men transcends his belief in ideas.

As a Senator, he voted regularly. His leader was Franklin D. Roosevelt and he did as he was told. Chairman of an investigating committee, he did a good job but he failed to embarrass the Administration with such unpleasantnesses as were subsequently unfolded. As Vice President, he minded his own business, making no attempt to play any role at all, not even that of his predecessors, Jack Garner and Henry Wallace.

Catapulted into the presidency by Roosevelt's death, he expected that the gang would accept the leader ship to which his office entitled him. He tried to play with some Republicans but found that unpleasant because it is unorthodox according to his way of thinking. He tried to operate a bi-partisan foreign policy but it irked him and he told the Republicans only as little as was necessary to prevent an eruption. Naturally a conservative, he got rid of most of the New Dealers, but when Henry Wallace got on his tail, he reluctantly took them back.

He is incapable, as Jesse Jones made so clear, of understanding and dealing with issues and principles, because he is only accustomed to making deals with men. He does not grasp the revolt in the South; the Dixiecrats are just a lot of sore-heads who will not let him play the game as he thinks it best for 1948.

Dewey, on the other hand, hardly concerns himself with party organization as such. He started as a Young Republican in New York and opposed the Old Guard. A public prosecutor, he looked for crooks in his own party as well as among the opposition. Having discovered that political affiliation is a poor test for virtue, he retained deserving Democrats in office both as District Attorney and as Governor. For instance, he selected Frank Hogan, a Democrat, as his successor as District Attorney and then got for him a Republican endorsement. Similarly, he has been steadily criticized by organization Republicans for not throwing out every Democrat he found in Albany when he became Governor. He retained as Commissioner of Correction James A. Lyons; Frederick A. Moran as Chairman of the Board of Parole and Dr. Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., as Commissioner of Health, all three appointed by Governor Lehman as Democrats.

I do not claim for Dewey that he is not a partisan, nor even that he has the bi-partisan attitude of Governor Warren of California. I merely contrast him with Harry Truman who is a strict party man, while Dewey thinks in the broader terms of public administration. As a matter of fact, Dewey's entire political career has been in the administrative field and he has devoted himself not so much to getting along with people as he has to dealing with problems. No one will ever call him a "good fellow." Even those known as the Dewey team are not what would be regarded as cronies.

In a word, these men are fundamentally different in their outlooks on life; and their speeches reflect the difference. I once wrote on their similarities which are interesting but not as striking as the fact that Truman slugs while Dewey argues. Before a jury, Dewey usually got the decision because he did all his home-work thoroughly. Truman would have preferred a judge to whom he could say: "You know me, Al."

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Let's take the second chorus over again.

I've been studying all the popular singers and I've just worked out a formula for success or "how to become a hit vocalist without chasing Jose Iturbi through a technicolor picture."

Hildegarde gave me a tip on how to be a sensation if you want to sing French songs. Never let your last name get out.

And with Dinah Shore it's that southern charm that gets you. When that girl starts serenading, you can see the hominy grits creepin' through the ham hocks.

The new singer on our show, Doris Day, achieved success by starring in her first picture and becoming a real cinderella girl. In fact, she's the only vocalist I know who sings through a glass, open toed, of course.

But Sinatra's rise to fame was the most amazing of all. For years the fans didn't even know what he looked like then somebody suggested he step out from behind that microphone.

Just Between Us

Don't Rush After Someone Who Has Just Said 'Good-Bye'

By NANCY MOTTRAM

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Nothing had seemed to be wrong between my girl and me, but one day she suddenly decided that she cared for someone else, and after a quarrel about it, we broke up. She began dating him, and I went out with quite a few girls, but I couldn't get her out of my mind. Now I realize that she's the only one who matters to me. Now I've heard that she and the other fellow are not getting along well. What do you think I should do?"

Nancy Mottram

(A) You could rush right to a telephone and call her, but you'd be putting yourself in a pretty obvious position. If she thinks she can get you back by snapping her fingers, you won't be able to call your time your own if you go back to her. It might be that the fact of her breaking up with you so suddenly and without any warning has made you think you care for her more than you actually do. Some time in the near future, call her casually and ask her out again, but don't let her suspect how you feel. Then you'll be able to tell how much she really means to you and if you want to begin seeing her regularly again.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: The boy with whom I keep company has definitely begun to cool towards me, and though I know why, I'm at a loss to know what to do. His buddy and I recently had a furious fight and since then, he and I have ignored each other completely. I suspect that when they're together, his friend tries to change his mind about me, and I guess he's succeeding. I'd like your advice on this. How can I prevent a break-up?"

(A) A "fifth column" is dangerous competition, but you'll be helping it along if you try to fight the same way. Your lad won't want to be put in the middle of the battleground while you and his best pal try to pull him to your respective sides. Bring it into the open and discuss it with your favorite male. He's old enough to make up his own mind. Present your case and let him decide whether his cool attitude is being fair to you.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I've just started to date, and a wonderful fellow has asked me to go steady. I should like to accept his class ring, but when I told my mother, she objected to the idea and hasn't changed her mind. I've tried to talk to her about it, but she tells me I'm too young, and refuses to listen. What can I say to her that will convince her?"

(A) She would rather see you dating several boys than saving your evenings for just one, and since you've just begun to go out, it might be a better idea. You'll have lots of time to go steady, but you still haven't met and gone out with many boys. You may meet someone you'd like to date a week after you accepted this fellow's ring, and all you'd have to show for your first romance would be hard feelings. Date this lad most often, if you want to, but don't tie yourself down to a steady relationship yet.

Nancy will answer as many questions as possible in her column. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Virginia Wolfe Honored At Pre-Nuptial Party

To Be Bride Of Donald Creswell

Mrs. Edward Wolfe was hostess at a luncheon and bridal shower honoring Miss Virginia Wolfe on Saturday at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Miss Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wolfe, 304 Park Street, is to become the bride of Donald Creswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Carroll Creswell, Baltimore, October 2.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 2 p. m. in St. Philip and James Church, Baltimore. Miss Mary Moody, Frostburg, is to be the maid of honor and Miss Nan Bradburn, Harrisburg, Pa., will be the bridesmaid.

Miss Wolfe is a graduate of Allegany High School and Mercy Hospital School of Nursing, Baltimore. She served with the Army Nurses in Iceland and the South Pacific. She now is employed as a Public Health Nurse in Baltimore. Her fiance is a evteran of the Navy Air Corps and is employed by the Bell Telephone Company, Baltimore.

Fall flowers were used in the decorations of the luncheon table and the place cards were miniature umbrellas of peach, yellow and green. A linen shower followed the luncheon with the shower gifts concealed beneath a large umbrella of the same peach, yellow and green shades. Upon it was inscribed "Don and Ginny."

Guests included Mrs. J. W. Wolfe, Mrs. Harry Reed, Mrs. Ambrose McKenzie, Mrs. Wallace McGill, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Norman Fisher, Miss Mary McGraw, Miss Catherine Lippold, Miss Phyllis McElfish, Miss Alta Earl, Miss Moody, Miss Catherine Coleman, Baltimore; Miss Antoinette Appaselli, Baltimore, and Miss Bradburn.

Secretaries To Have Meeting-Social Oct. 4

Marilyn Wilburn Becomes Bride Of James H. Edwards

Allegany Nurse Is Wed In Grantsville

Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Wilburn, Grantsville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Marilyn Judith Wilburn, to James H. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards, also of Grantsville.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in the Grantsville Methodist Church at 1:30 p. m. September 19, with Rev. D. J. Combs officiating.

For her matron of honor Mrs. Edwards chose her sister, Mrs. Leon J. Gable, Baltimore. Walter Bergard, Washington, Pa., served as Mr. Edwards' best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gray suit with which she wore block accessories. She carried her fiance's service Bible adorned with white rose buds and satin streamers.

Mrs. Gable also wore a gray suit with matching accessories and had a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride's mother chose a brown costume with matching accessories and a yellow rosebud corsage for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother also wore brown with a corsage of yellow roses.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Marshall Landis, and only the immediate families and intimate friends attended the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Grantsville High School, class of 1945, and Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, class of 1948.

The bridegroom also graduated from Grantsville High School, with the class of 1944. He served with the United States Army in the ETO for three years. He now is associated with his father in the automobile business in Grantsville.

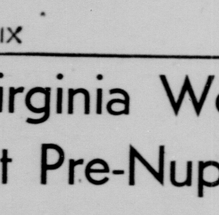

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the New Colonial Inn. A traditional three tiered wedding cake, with miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the table for a buffet luncheon.

Mr. Edwards and his bride left for a Southern wedding trip after the reception. They will be at home in the Edwards Apartments after October 1.

Coffee Frozen Dessert Puffs

1 recipe Coffee Frozen dessert
Cream Puffs
Chocolate Quick Fudge Sauce

Make Coffee Frozen Dessert in the automatic refrigerator according to directions given below. When ready to serve, split cream puffs and fill with a generous scoop of frozen dessert. Replace top and garnish with Chocolate Quick Fudge Sauce.

CREAM PUFFS: Sift flour, measure 1 cup; add ¼ teaspoon salt and sift again. Combine ½ cup shortening and 1 cup boiling water in saucepan; keep over low heat until shortening is melted. Add flour all at one time and stir vigorously until the mixture forms a ball and leaves the sides of the pan. Add 4 unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition; continue beating until a thick dough is formed. Remove from heat. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto a greased baking pan, about 2 inches apart. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) about 50 minutes. Makes one dozen cream puffs.

CHOCOLATE QUICK FUDGE SAUCE: Bring water to boil in lower part of double boiler. Put 2 tablespoons butter or oleomargarine and 3 tablespoons water(measure to HOT SAUCE mark on paper measure in package) into upper part of double boiler. When butter is melted, add ½ package (1¼ cups) chocolate quick fudge mix. Stir 3 to 4 minutes. . .until glossy. DO NOT BEAT.

Basic Directions For Evaporated Milk Frozen Desserts

Chill evaporated milk overnight. Whip one cup until stiff. Add contents of package of freezing mix to remaining milk diluted with water. Beat with rotary beater until dissolved. Fold in whipped evaporated milk. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm. Remove from tray to bowl. Break up with fork. Beat with electric or rotary beater until fluffy. Return to freezing tray. Freeze until firm but not too hard.

Coffee Frozen Dessert

1 cup evaporated milk
⅓ cup evaporated milk diluted with ⅔ cup water
1 package maple freezing mix
2 teaspoons instant coffee

Add instant coffee with maple freezing mix to evaporated milk diluted with water. Continue according to basic directions given above.

Variations of this basic recipe may be had by adding such ingredients as frozen strawberries, cinamon and pecans, peanut butter sauce, pineapples and cherries, chocolate chip and peppermint extract, molasses and peppermint extract, fruit cocktail and maraschino cherries to the mixture after it has been beaten.

Coffee Frozen Dessert Puffs

1 recipe Coffee Frozen dessert
Cream Puffs
Chocolate Quick Fudge Sauce

Make Coffee Frozen Dessert in the automatic refrigerator according to directions given below. When ready to serve, split cream puffs and fill with a generous scoop of frozen dessert. Replace top and garnish with Chocolate Quick Fudge Sauce.

CREAM PUFFS: Sift flour, measure 1 cup; add ¼ teaspoon salt and sift again. Combine ½ cup shortening and 1 cup boiling water in saucepan; keep over low heat until shortening is melted. Add flour all at one time and stir vigorously until the mixture forms a ball and leaves the sides of the pan. Add 4 unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition; continue beating until a thick dough is formed. Remove from heat. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto a greased baking pan, about 2 inches apart. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) about 50 minutes. Makes one dozen cream puffs.

CHOCOLATE QUICK FUDGE SAUCE: Bring water to boil in lower part of double boiler. Put 2 tablespoons butter or oleomargarine and 3 tablespoons water(measure to HOT SAUCE mark on paper measure in package) into upper part of double boiler. When butter is melted, add ½ package (1¼ cups) chocolate quick fudge mix. Stir 3 to 4 minutes. . .until glossy. DO NOT BEAT.

Basic Directions For Evaporated Milk Frozen Desserts

Chill evaporated milk overnight. Whip one cup until stiff. Add contents of package of freezing mix to remaining milk diluted with water. Beat with rotary beater until dissolved. Fold in whipped evaporated milk. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm. Remove from tray to bowl. Break up with fork. Beat with electric or rotary beater until fluffy. Return to freezing tray. Freeze until firm but not too hard.

Coffee Frozen Dessert

Speech Correction Seminar To Open Here October 4

Dr. Ansberry Will Conduct Classes

A speech correction seminar for Allegany County teachers will be inaugurated here by Dr. Merle Ansberry, speech pathologist of the University of Maryland. The opening class will be held next Monday at the Board of Education offices.

Local educators indicated that five county teachers will attend the seminar and explained the teachers are already conducting speech correction classes for children with impediments in their speech.

The local class is the first step in a state-wide speech correction program which is being set up by the University of Maryland under the direction of Dr. Ansberry, one of the foremost speech pathologists in the country.

Educators said that in addition to the seminar, a speech clinic will be established in Cumberland where teachers may acquire practical experience and where Allegany County children may go for correction of speech difficulties.

Ralph E. Kessler, director of speech in Allegany County, explained that at first the courses set up by the Board of Education will be able to bring better speech to only a few of the many students in this area who have impediments. Gradually, however, the program will be broadened until every pupil needing such help will get it, Kessler said.

With one exception the instructors have been assigned five periods a week for the correction work. They will work with only one child a period.

Miss Helen Smith, Fort Hill, has been assigned eight periods. Miss Smith is the only instructor who has previously worked in the speech correction field.

Others are Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, Allegany High; Miss Anna E. McLuckie, Beall High, Frostburg; Miss Margaret Thomas, Bruce High, Westernport, and Miss Margaret Ringler, Cresaptown.

Dr. Ansberry joined the staff of the University of Maryland this fall after serving two years with the Acoustic Audiology Section of the Veterans' Administration in Washington. During that time he dealt with veterans suffering from hearing disabilities and those with phonatory and articulatory speech disorders.

Before entering the Navy in 1942, he was director of the speech and hearing clinic of the University of Virginia and inaugurated clinical services at that university and in public schools throughout the state.

for Allegany countians and other Western Maryland supporters to participate in the initial rally.

"Maryland is expected to play an important part in the coming presidential campaign," Fletcher continued, "and an effort is being put forth to swing the state into the Republican column.

"Editorial endorsement of the Baltimore Sun, and the interest being shown by the large block of independent voters and many Democrats throughout the state, heralds a Republican victory here.

"Gov. Warren, in 1946, swept the state of California in the gubernatorial campaign with two million more votes than his closest opponent. He is an able speaker, and an able statesman. His message to the people of Maryland will be well worth a trip to Baltimore," Fletcher declared.

"From all indications," the county chairman concluded, "Maryland, normally considered a Democratic stronghold and part of the southern Democratic block, has every possibility of joining the national trend and swinging into the Republican side this election. I urge as many Allegany County Republicans as possible to join us at the rally in Baltimore."

Chairman Fletcher's statement is in line with that of many astute political observers in Baltimore and other parts of Maryland. Many of these observers, who normally remain on the political sidelines during campaigns, have expressed the belief freely that Maryland might easily be found in the Republican column when the November returns are tabulated.

Some are ready to predict that Governors Dewey and Warren will carry Maryland by a handsome margin, while the more conservative and cautious say the Republican dandidates will capture this border state, but that the final count might be close.

Local and county residents interested in attending the rally should contact members of the GOP State Central Committee so the delegation can attend as a body, Fletcher suggested.

Council Approves Street Ordinances

Two ordinances, for cindering, grading, curbing or otherwise improving the Myrtle and Warren Street sections were passed yesterday by the Mayor and City Council.

The ordinances affect Myrtle Street from its intersection with Eichner Avenue to its intersection with an alley parallel to and southwest of Warren Street from it intersection with Bedford Street to the intersection with Frederick Street.

The Mayor and Council approved a request for a proclamation on "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" here October 3 to 9. The request came from Patrick J. Carroll, chairman of the committee.

The Progressive Party of Cumberland was granted permission to erect a street sign across Baltimore and Centre Streets publicizing the visit of Sen. Glen H. Taylor, Progressive candidate for vice-president October 18 to the State Armory.

The bid of the Eiler Chevrolet Company of $3,742.60, filed in June for the new Police Department patrol-ambulance, was accepted.

Refunds were ordered for George R. Blake, 836 Windsor Road, $4.28 for overpayment of water rent; J. W. Yost, 1000 Lexington Avenue, $3 for overpayment of water rent; to Arthur C. Kennell, $29.93 equivalent to four days vacation pay due on date of his discharge from the Police Department, and to Mrs. Loretta Cassen, widow of Patrolman Reid C. Cassen, two weeks salary due him for previously earned vacation.

Water consumption last week was 84,821,000 gallons as compared to 83,010,000 last year. The daily average was 12,117,000. The water level at Lake Gordon is one foot below the crest and at Lake Koon 11 feet below.

Government Will Aid Paralyzed Veterans

The government will pay up to 50 per cent of the cost of specially constructed homes for paralyzed veterans, according to a report from the regional office of the Veterans Administration.

The maximum grant is $10,000 and is made for new homes, to remodel existing dwellings or to help pay for homes already constructed.

Eligible veterans are those with permanent total disability due to a spinal cord disease, or disability causing paralysis of the legs and lower body. The disability must have been incurred in war or peacetime service with the armed forces.

William L. Limburg, regional manager of the VA, said about 25 Maryland veterans are eligible for the grants. Application forms may be procured from any VA office in the state, he said.

New Food Market Will Open Today

Albert's Super Market, 30 Wineow Street, will have its formal opening today with a new automatic grocery dispenser, the "Food-O-Mat," available for the first time in Cumberland, according to Albert T. Tomsko, general manager.

The building, formerly operated as a super market, has been closed for several months for complete remodeling under the new ownership.

The "Food-O-Mat," finished in modern steel and plastic, permits grocery items to be displayed to advantage and facilitates shopping by automatically supplying articles on separate runways.

Wharton Is Given Suspended Sentence

Jesse Wharton, a resident of the Polish Mountain section, pleaded guilty to two charges of assault at a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Wharton was charged with striking Jacob E. Long and Liller M. Long Friday at the Long home on Polish Mountain.

He was sentenced to 60 days in jail for assaulting Jacob Long, and 10 days on the other count. Both terms were suspended and Wharton was paroled for one year. He was warned to stay away from the Long home.

DEMPSEY'S PROTEGE WINS AT WHEELING

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 27 (AP)—Joe Weidin, Austrian heavyweight and latest protege of Jack Dempsey, made an impressive American debut here tonight by scoring a fourth round technical knockout over Leo Stollin of Baltimore.

Weidin and Stollin appeared in the main event of the Milk Fund card sponsored by the Wheeling newspapers.

The Austrian, a good - looking chap with black curly hair, outweighed the Baltimore veteran, 210 to 201 and floored Stollin twice in the second round and once in the third before the bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, was helted after 1:50 of the fourth round.

Stollin took a count of nine on each of his three trips to the canvas.

Salvage Prize

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 27 (AP)—Two tugs have found the British freighter Leicester 900 miles southeast of Halifax and are towing her to Bermuda as a salvage prize, port authorities said today.

They estimated the abandoned ship to be worth $1,000,000.

Speech Correction Seminar To Open Here October 4

Dr. Ansberry Will Conduct Classes

A speech correction seminar for Allegany County teachers will be inaugurated here by Dr. Merle Ansberry, speech pathologist of the University of Maryland. The opening class will be held next Monday at the Board of Education offices.

Local educators indicated that five county teachers will attend the seminar and explained the teachers are already conducting speech correction classes for children with impediments in their speech.

The local class is the first step in a state-wide speech correction program which is being set up by the University of Maryland under the direction of Dr. Ansberry, one of the foremost speech pathologists in the country.

Educators said that in addition to the seminar, a speech clinic will be established in Cumberland where teachers may acquire practical experience and where Allegany County children may go for correction of speech difficulties.

Ralph E. Kessler, director of speech in Allegany County, explained that at first the courses set up by the Board of Education will be able to bring better speech to only a few of the many students in this area who have impediments. Gradually, however, the program will be broadened until every pupil needing such help will get it, Kessler said.

With one exception the instructors have been assigned five periods a week for the correction work. They will work with only one child a period.

Miss Helen Smith, Fort Hill, has been assigned eight periods. Miss Smith is the only instructor who has previously worked in the speech correction field.

Others are Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, Allegany High; Miss Anna E. McLuckie, Beall High, Frostburg; Miss Margaret Thomas, Bruce High, Westernport, and Miss Margaret Ringler, Cresaptown.

Dr. Ansberry joined the staff of the University of Maryland this fall after serving two years with the Acoustic Audiology Section of the Veterans' Administration in Washington. During that time he dealt with veterans suffering from hearing disabilities and those with phonatory and articulatory speech disorders.

Before entering the Navy in 1942, he was director of the speech and hearing clinic of the University of Virginia and inaugurated clinical services at that university and in public schools throughout the state.

Council Approves Street Ordinances

Two ordinances, for cindering, grading, curbing or otherwise improving the Myrtle and Warren Street sections were passed yesterday by the Mayor and City Council.

The ordinances affect Myrtle Street from its intersection with Eichner Avenue to its intersection with an alley parallel to and southwest of Warren Street from it intersection with Bedford Street to the intersection with Frederick Street.

The Mayor and Council approved a request for a proclamation on "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" here October 3 to 9. The request came from Patrick J. Carroll, chairman of the committee.

The Progressive Party of Cumberland was granted permission to erect a street sign across Baltimore and Centre Streets publicizing the visit of Sen. Glen H. Taylor, Progressive candidate for vice-president October 18 to the State Armory.

The bid of the Eiler Chevrolet Company of $3,742.60, filed in June for the new Police Department patrol-ambulance, was accepted.

Refunds were ordered for George R. Blake, 836 Windsor Road, $4.28 for overpayment of water rent; J. W. Yost, 1000 Lexington Avenue, $3 for overpayment of water rent; to Arthur C. Kennell, $29.93 equivalent to four days vacation pay due on date of his discharge from the Police Department, and to Mrs. Loretta Cassen, widow of Patrolman Reid C. Cassen, two weeks salary due him for previously earned vacation.

Water consumption last week was 84,821,000 gallons as compared to 83,010,000 last year. The daily average was 12,117,000. The water level at Lake Gordon is one foot below the crest and at Lake Koon 11 feet below.

Government Will Aid Paralyzed Veterans

The government will pay up to 50 per cent of the cost of specially constructed homes for paralyzed veterans, according to a report from the regional office of the Veterans Administration.

The maximum grant is $10,000 and is made for new homes, to remodel existing dwellings or to help pay for homes already constructed.

Eligible veterans are those with permanent total disability due to a spinal cord disease, or disability causing paralysis of the legs and lower body. The disability must have been incurred in war or peacetime service with the armed forces.

William L. Limburg, regional manager of the VA, said about 25 Maryland veterans are eligible for the grants. Application forms may be procured from any VA office in the state, he said.

New Food Market Will Open Today

Albert's Super Market, 30 Wineow Street, will have its formal opening today with a new automatic grocery dispenser, the "Food-O-Mat," available for the first time in Cumberland, according to Albert T. Tomsko, general manager.

The building, formerly operated as a super market, has been closed for several months for complete remodeling under the new ownership.

The "Food-O-Mat," finished in modern steel and plastic, permits grocery items to be displayed to advantage and facilitates shopping by automatically supplying articles on separate runways.

Wharton Is Given Suspended Sentence

Jesse Wharton, a resident of the Polish Mountain section, pleaded guilty to two charges of assault at a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Wharton was charged with striking Jacob E. Long and Liller M. Long Friday at the Long home on Polish Mountain.

He was sentenced to 60 days in jail for assaulting Jacob Long, and 30 days on the other count. Both terms were suspended and Wharton was paroled for one year. He was warned to stay away from the Long home.

Local Men Serve Aboard Orion

Three Cumberland men are now serving aboard the submarine tender USS Orion, which has just been awarded the battle efficiency pennant and "E" for general excellence through the fiscal year of July 1, 1947, to July 1, 1948.

They are Melvin L. Crites, storekeeper second class, Route 3, Bedford Road; William P. Eady, storekeeper second class, 632 North Centre Street, and James F. Adams, boatswains mate third class, 215 Hayes Street.

Buckeye Throwing Contest Planned

Approximately 100 youngsters between the ages of 6 and 18 will participate in the annual Buckeye Targeteer Throwing Contest at Tressler Orphan's Home, Loysville, Pa., Saturday afternoon.

Contestants are awarded lollipops for each hit scored on a target. The contests were originated to discourage children from throwing the buckeyes at each other.

for Allegany countians and other Western Maryland supporters to participate in the initial rally.

"Maryland is expected to play an important part in the coming presidential campaign," Fletcher continued, "and an effort is being put forth to swing the state into the Republican column.

"Editorial endorsement of the Baltimore Sun, and the interest being shown by the large block of independent voters and many Democrats throughout the state, heralds a Republican victory here.

"Gov. Warren, in 1946, swept the state of California in the gubernatorial campaign with two million more votes than his closest opponent. He is an able speaker, and an able statesman. His message to the people of Maryland will be well worth a trip to Baltimore," Fletcher declared.

"From all indications," the county chairman concluded, "Maryland, normally considered a Democratic stronghold and part of the southern Democratic block, has every possibility of joining the national trend and swinging into the Republican side this election. I urge as many Allegany County Republicans as possible to join us at the rally in Baltimore."

Chairman Fletcher's statement is in line with that of many astute political observers in Baltimore and other parts of Maryland. Many of these observers, who normally remain on the political sidelines during campaigns, have expressed the belief freely that Maryland might easily be found in the Republican column when the November returns are tabulated.

Some are ready to predict that Governors Dewey and Warren will carry Maryland by a handsome margin, while the more conservative and cautious say the Republican dandidates will capture this border state, but that the final count might be close.

Local and county residents interested in attending the rally should contact members of the GOP State Central Committee so the delegation can attend as a body, Fletcher suggested.

City Accepts

DEMPSEY'S PROTEGE WINS AT WHEELING

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 27 (AP)—Joe Weidin, Austrian heavyweight and latest protege of Jack Dempsey, made an impressive American debut here tonight by scoring a fourth round technical knockout over Leo Stollin of Baltimore.

Weidin and Stollin appeared in the main event of the Milk Fund card sponsored by the Wheeling newspapers.

The Austrian, a good - looking chap with black curly hair, outweighed the Baltimore veteran, 210 to 201 and floored Stollin twice in the second round and once in the third before the bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, was helted after 1:50 of the fourth round.

Stollin took a count of nine on each of his three trips to the canvas.

Salvage Prize

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 27 (AP)—Two tugs have found the British freighter Leicester 900 miles southeast of Halifax and are towing her to Bermuda as a salvage prize, port authorities said today.

They estimated the abandoned ship to be worth $1,000,000.

Plentiful Canned Peas Make Good, Varied Summer Economy Meals

Now is the time for all smart homemakers to buy and use one of their favorite vegetables, canned peas. They are plentiful and low in cost, a situation most women are being quick to take advantage of right now.

It's a grand opportunity for the new bride to get acquainted with this versatile canned vegetable. She will learn how many ways canned peas can be used to make cooking easy and tasty.

Canned peas are a grand and useful vegetable. They are perfect in tossed salads, molds and aspics, both for color and flavor. They provide plenty of protein for use in main dishes, on days when heavier meats are not on the menu.

Canned peas in their conventional place as a vegetable can be made even more delicious and attractive for days when appetites need stimulation. Try spices and seasonings of all sorts. For instance, an old Scotch favorite is hot peas and vinegar. Little Scotch children went to the corner store for this dish just as Americans do for ice cream sodas.

Hot peas and vinegar are so simple to prepare and so effective. Just add vinegar to the peas when they are almost finished heating, just long enough to thoroughly warm the vinegar, and season with white pepper. Try serving in side dishes, instead of on the plate, so the flavors won't mix with other foods.

There are hundreds of ways to vary your servings of canned peas. Use mint flavoring, oregano, or cloves. Experiment with Worcestershire sauce, bay leaves and other spices. You'll be amazed at the wonderful flavor effects — and you'll be delighted at the food savings you make on plentiful, low cost canned peas.

Plentiful Canned Peas Make Good, Varied Summer Economy Meals

Now is the time for all smart homemakers to buy and use one of their favorite vegetables, canned peas. They are plentiful and low in cost, a situation most women are being quick to take advantage of right now.

It's a grand opportunity for the new bride to get acquainted with this versatile canned vegetable. She will learn how many ways canned peas can be used to make cooking easy and tasty.

Canned peas are a grand and useful vegetable. They are perfect in tossed salads, molds and aspics, both for color and flavor. They provide plenty of protein for use in main dishes, on days when heavier meats are not on the menu.

Canned peas in their conventional place as a vegetable can be made even more delicious and attractive for days when appetites need stimulation. Try spices and seasonings of all sorts. For instance, an old Scotch favorite is hot peas and vinegar. Little Scotch children went to the corner store for this dish just as Americans do for ice cream sodas.

Hot peas and vinegar are so simple to prepare and so effective. Just add vinegar to the peas when they are almost finished heating, just long enough to thoroughly warm the vinegar, and season with white pepper. Try serving in side dishes, instead of on the plate, so the flavors won't mix with other foods.

There are hundreds of ways to vary your servings of canned peas. Use mint flavoring, oregano, or cloves. Experiment with Worcestershire sauce, bay leaves and other spices. You'll be amazed at the wonderful flavor effects — and you'll be delighted at the food savings you make on plentiful, low cost canned peas.

Edward S. Moore Dies

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 27 (AP)—Edward S. Moore, 66, owner of Circle M Farm, prominent thoroughbred horse establishment near here, died last night in St. Luke Hospital, New York City, members of his family said today.

He was a retired railway and business executive.

155-Pound Quarterback

Teen Agers Missing

ANSTIN, Tex., (AP) — Football rosters, populated with 17-year-olds in the war years, have gone back to the "big boys" if the University of Texas roster is indicative. Only teen ager on the squad is Errol Fry, 18.

First Game Since 1907

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., (AP) — When Alabama and Auburn meet in Birmingham on Dec. 4 it will be the first football game between the two state schools in 41 years. They last met in 1907 and the game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Lt. John F. Green and Lt. John E. Sauer, former West Point grid stars, are on Army's football coaching staff.

Hundreds of Partners Help Run My Station

"SURE, I'm proud to say that I'm in business for myself—but, mister, it still takes hundreds of partners to make my Betholine-Sinclair Station a success!"

Those hundreds and hundreds of other independent businessmen, like myself, who operate Betholine-Sinclair Stations throughout Maryland, are really my partners!

They've helped give Maryland motorists confidence in my station sign and in the type of service they can expect from Betholine-Sinclair Men in White. Because they have given friendly, efficient service, more motorists drive into my station.

Yes, and Marylanders know, too, that Sherwood supplies all of us Betholine-Sinclair Dealers with top-quality products, and backs us with great, modern facilities located right here in Maryland.

That's why I'm proud to operate my own Betholine-Sinclair Station, and to be a part of the Men in White team that Marylanders know and respect.

Edward S. Moore Dies

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 27 (AP)—Edward S. Moore, 66, owner of Circle M Farm, prominent thoroughbred horse establishment near here, died last night in St. Luke Hospital, New York City, members of his family said today.

He was a retired railway and business executive.

155-Pound Quarterback

Teen Agers Missing

ANSTIN, Tex., (AP) — Football rosters, populated with 17-year-olds in the war years, have gone back to the "big boys" if the University of Texas roster is indicative. Only teen ager on the squad is Errol Fry, 18.

First Game Since 1907

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., (AP) — When Alabama and Auburn meet in Birmingham on Dec. 4 it will be the first football game between the two state schools in 41 years. They last met in 1907 and the game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Lt. John F. Green and Lt. John E. Sauer, former West Point grid stars, are on Army's football coaching staff.

Hundreds of Partners Help Run My Station

"SURE, I'm proud to say that I'm in business for myself—but, mister, it still takes hundreds of partners to make my Betholine-Sinclair Station a success!"

Those hundreds and hundreds of other independent businessmen, like myself, who operate Betholine-Sinclair Stations throughout Maryland, are really my partners!

They've helped give Maryland motorists confidence in my station sign and in the type of service they can expect from Betholine-Sinclair Men in White. Because they have given friendly, efficient service, more motorists drive into my station.

Yes, and Marylanders know, too, that Sherwood supplies all of us Betholine-Sinclair Dealers with top-quality products, and backs us with great, modern facilities located right here in Maryland.

That's why I'm proud to operate my own Betholine-Sinclair Station, and to be a part of the Men in White team that Marylanders know and respect.

Golfers Had Best Year

Won Last Seven Matches

Boxers' Insurance Good

W.V.U. Plays At Hershey

By C. V. BURNS

The 1948 men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club can point with pride to its inter-club record as the best in the history of the club and that covers a period of approximately 32 years.

This year's team engaged in ten matches, winning eight and losing two, and thereby earned the right to the title of Tri-State Champions of 1948.

The Christie Road linksmen took two out of three matches from its ancient rival, Hagerstown, bested Somerset, Pa., in a best-of-three series and swept two matches each with Martinsburg, W. Va., and Bedford Springs, Pa.

After the roof fell in on the CCC team at Hagerstown on June 13, the locals showed a complete reversal of form and proved unbeatable thereafter, closing the campaign with a winning streak of seven matches.

In the inter-club tests the CCC team engaged in a total of 179 foursomes and one twosome. It won 92, lost 70 and halved 16 of the foursomes and dropped the lone twosome.

The triple "C" aggregation amassed a grand total of 295 points against 243 for the opposition via the Nassau System of scoring.

Of course, the matches with Hagerstown were the "big" ones as 114 players figured in the opener, 112 in the second contest and 132 players in the third and "rubber" battle of the annual series.

May 23—Defeated Opequon Country Club at Martinsburg, W. Va., 25½ to 18½.
June 2—Lost to Somerset Country Club at Somerset, Pa., 17½ to 15½.
June 13—Lost to Fountain Head Country Club at Hagerstown, 76 to 31.
June 27—Defeated Opequon Country Club, Martinsburg, W. Va., here, 26½ to 9½.
July 14—Defeated Bedford Springs (Pa.) Country Club here, 23½ to 6½.
July 25—Defeated Fountain Head Country Club, Hagerstown, here, 54½ to 29½.
August 4—Defeated Somerset (Pa.) Country Club here, 25 to 11.
August 11—Defeated Bedford Springs Country Club at Bedford Springs, 19½ to 10½.
September 8—Defeated Somerset Country Club at Somerset, 20½ to 18½.
September 26—Defeated Fountain Head Country Club, Hagerstown, at Bedford Springs, Pa. 53½ to 45½.

Allegany and Ridgeley will clash for the ninth time on the gridiron Saturday night. The Campers won the first six games of the series until held to a 7-7 deadlock in 1946.

Last year Jesse Riggleman's Blackhawks defeated Blue and White for the first time, 26 to 6.

The value of insurance for boxers was proven in Pennsylvania the other day when Bill (Chicken) Thompson, 21 year old Philadelphia heavyweight, died after being knocked out by Johnny Haynes.

Thompson's grandmother, his closest kin, will receive $500 from boxers' insurance in the Keystone State. All hospital expenses were paid for the boxer after an emergency brain operation.

Death removed two prominent men from the sports scene over the weekend.

Billy McCarney, 76, veteran fight manager who at one time handled Max Schmeling and many other fighters, passed away in New York. He became ill while attending the Cerdan-Zale fight in Jersey City.

McCarney, often referred to as the "Old Professor," promoted the fight between the aging Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson in Philadelphia, July 17, 1907.

William H. (Billy) Clearwater, 73, one-time pocket billiards champion of the world, died in Pittsburgh. He held the title three times shortly after the turn of the century.

Clearwater appeared in Cumberland on several occasions, giving exhibitions at Liberty street billiard parlors.

Jim McGirr, veteran boxing matchmaker and promoter at McKeesport, Pa., plans to close shop at the end of the year when he will dispose of his holdings in the tistic business.

Chester Smith, Pittsburgh sports columnist, reveals that "Rip" Sewell, Pirates' pitcher, had to take his blooper pitch to court before the umpires would call it a strike.

When he first began to use the balloon pitch word came back to him that some of the men in blue had agreed to ignore it.

Sewell took his case to Bill Klem, dean of National League umpires, and threw the bloop for his inspection.

Klem said: "When that ba'l is over the plate it is a legitimate strike and I will make that clear to the other umpires."

The blooper has been O. K. ever since.

When the West Virginia U. freshmen play the Maryland plebes here Thursday, November 18, former Moorefield and Beall High athletes may appear in the lineup of the Morgantown eleven.

They are Charley Geis, an end from Beall High, Frostburg, and George Hott, halfback, from Moorefield (W. Va) High. The pair are now leading contenders for those positions on Coach Leonard Barnum's squad of 63 candidates.

Frank Leahy, Notre Dame coach, has a definite feeling against married athletes.

"They don't seem to be the same after they're married," says the gentleman who himself is married and has five children. "But you can't blame 'em for getting married, for many of them nave spent several years in the service and they're thinking of settling down."

Local football fans will get an opportunity to see West Virginia University play Saturday if they go to Hershey, Pa., where the Mounties will meet Temple University's Owls in a daylight tussle in the Hershey "Chocolate Bowl."

It will be the 9th meeting of the schools. Temple holds a 6-2 edge in the series.

Three Pennant Contenders Resume Red Hot Race Today

Pace-Setting Indians Face Chisox Tonight

Yanks Face Mackmen, Red Sox Meet Nats

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

By JOHN CHANDLER

After one day of rest in the torrid American League pennant chase, the three contenders squared away again today (Tues) for the final week of play and a crack at the National League champion Boston Braves in the world series opening a week from Wednesday.

The nerve-fraying stretch drive between the Cleveland Indians, Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees will continue on three widely-scattered fronts. Each club has just five games left to play, in a "don't spare the horses" finish the likes of which the junior loop has rarely experienced.

Indians Are In Saddle

The Indians definitely are in the saddle now, to cop their first flag since 1920, riding along on a one-game bulge over the Yankees and Red Sox. tied for second place.

With all clubs in both leagues idle Monday, the shouting ended in the National League as Boston clinched the pennant Sunday, this was the situation in the American loop:

	W.	L.	PCT.	GB	To Play
Cleveland	93	56	.624	—	5
Boston	92	57	.617	1	5
New York	92	57	.617	1	5

Three also-rans, the lowly Chicago White Sox and the Washington Senators, and the Philadelphia Athletics can gum up the works further beginning today.

The Indians, with all of their remaining games at home, meet the White Sox in the first of a two-game series tonight. Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau says flatly his gang is in, and he could be 100 per cent correct.

"I sincerely believe we're in now," the shortstop-pilot said after Bob Feller defeated Detroit Sunday while New York whipped Boston in their finale at Yankee Stadium.

The Yankees open a three-game set with the Athletics in Philadelphia this afternoon, while the Red Sox and Washington play the first of three games at Boston.

New York Plays Boston

Cleveland can clinch the flag by taking five straight, no matter what Boston and New York do. The Indians could drop two games, and still the Yanks and Red Sox would have to win five in a row to grab the bunting. What's more, New York and Boston will be cutting each others throat again in a two-game series winding up the season at Hubtown Saturday and Sunday.

"While I am not discounting the Yankees' chances," Boudreau said, "I think we have more to fear from Boston than from New York.

"I look for the Philadelphia Athletics to win one game from the Yankees. By the same token, I don't believe the Red Sox can take the Yankees in both games at Boston.

"That means if we win four of the remaining five games from Chicago and Detroit, we'll win the flag. I feel confident we can do that."

Boudreau said he would send Lefty Gene Bearden to the hill to try for his 18th victory against the White Sox tonight. The rookie has lost seven games this season. Frank Papish (2-8 who beat the Yankees last week when they could have tied for first, is the White Sox choice.

Joe Dobson (16-9) is expected to get the call from Manager Joe McCarthy in the Boston opener with Washington, while the Senators lead with their ace, Rae Scarborough (13-8).

Yankees Play A's First

"I will start Vic Raschi, looking for his 20th, in the opener at Shibe Park," Yankee pilot Bucky Harris declared. "Beyond that, I don't want to do any talking. Perhaps Frank Shea will be ready. Maybe I will go with Allie Reynolds in the Wednesday game."

Connie Mack, who said he wanted to see "the best team win the flag," has his mound corps fully rested after several days of idleness. Either Carl Scheib (13-8) or Lou Brissie (14-10) is expected to face the Yankees in the opener.

St. Louis and Detroit meet in the other American League tilt today.

In the National, where the Braves are celebrating their first pennant in 34 years, a full four-game program also is slated.

Boston travels to Brooklyn to meet the Dodgers, and Manager Billy Southworth of the new champions says there will be no letdown.

The Philadelphia Phillies play a doubleheader with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds, Cincinnati plays at Chicago, and Pittsburgh at St. Louis, the latter a night game.

Conniver Will Run At Belmont Today

Bargain Filly Seeks 9th Win In Handicap

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Conniver, the Maryland bargain filly with the misleading name, goes after her ninth victory in 14 starts this season tomorrow in the $59,700 Ladies Handicap at Belmont Park.

The four-year-old daughter of Discovery heads a field of 11 prominent fillies and mares in the mile and one half gallop. She'll carry 126 pounds, including Jockey Doug Dodson.

The filly was purchesed by Harry La Montagne for a paltry $2,500 from A. G. Vanderbilt in the 1945 Meadow Brook sales.

Idle since Sept. 11, when she won the $68,300 Beldame Handicap at Aqueduct, Conniver will face many of the same in the Belmont event which is being run for the 78th time.

There is Gallorette, another Maryland-bred mare, owned by Mrs. Marie A. Moore of Virginia; Arnold Hanger's Harmonica; W. L. Ranch's Honeymoon; Belair Stud's My Emma; and Lester Manor Stable's Compliance.

Coaltown And Citation Will Run At Belmont

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP) — Calumet Farm General Manager Ben Jones said today Coaltown would join Citation in the $25,000-added Sysonby Mile at Belmont Park Wednesday.

The race, first for Citation since he arrived in the east from Chicago early this month, was won by another Calumet horse—Armed—last year.

World Series Lottery Tickets Flood Boston

BOSTON, Sept 27 (AP) — Police reported world series lottery tickets were flooding this city

Bearing the name "Union Jack Sports Club, Montreal," the tickets were selling for 25 cents each and offered prizes up to $5,000.

Francis Bolger, 25, of Cambridge, was fined $50 in Somerville District Court today when police said they found 25 tickets in his pockets.

MAKES CLEAN SWEEP—Lawrence Middlekamp, right, made a clean sweep of three singles tournaments this year by defeating Maurice Bernstein, left, in the finals of the county tourney Sunday by scores of 6-4, 6-1. Middlekamp also won the Dingle and city tournament championships. His victory in the county tournament gave him permanent possession of the Schwarzenbach Trophy. Bernstein is shown congratulating the triple winner after Sunday's match.

Satchel Paige Declares Indians "Jest Ain't Gonna Lose No More"

Boudreau, Greenberg And Veeck Confident

By JOE HEICHLER

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27—(AP)—One game in front and five to play, the pennant-starved Cleveland Indians, from owner Bill Veeck, vice president Hank Greenberg and manager Lou Boudreau down, were confident today that the Tribe would win the American League pennant.

"We'll win," said Veeck. "We'll win because we have the best team in the league."

"We'll win," said Greenberg. "Well win because we have the best pitching staff in the league."

"We'll win," said Boudreau. "We'll win because we have Bob Feller."

Play Five More Games

Alone in first place for the first time since Aug. 25, the Indians were all set for their final five games of the season, all at home. The Chicago White Sox came here for a couple of games tomorrow night and Wednesday. Thursday is an open date, and next Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons the Detroit Tigers invade Municipal Stadium to close out the regulation schedule.

Sundays results which put the Tribe a full game up on the Boston Red Sox and Yankees meant a hasty revision in Boudreau's pitching plans for the remaining games.

With the full knowledge that the Indians can't lose the pennant now if they don't lose another ball game, Lou has decided to shoot the works.

"Gene Bearden will work tomorrow night against the White Sox," he said, "but instead of using Bob Lemon Wednesday, we'll go along with Feller. Right now Bob is the most effective member of the staff. He is every bit as good as he ever was.

"Lemon will be in the bullpen Tuesday and Wednesday, ready for action at a moment's notice. And he'll start Friday. If we still haven't clinched the pennant after that game, it will be Bearden Saturday and Feller Sunday."

Series Ticket Sale Begins

Ted Lyons, manager of the last plase White Sox, has announced he will pitch Lefty Frank Papish (2-8) against the Indians tomorrow.

Veeck was confident he would not have to do any refunding on the sale of world series tickets which begins tomorrow. Already thousands of requests have poured into special baskets at the main post office here.

Greenberg believed the Indians would go on to win all of their remaining games.

"We have the best club in the league," he reiterated. "We proved it by winning the big ones, the games we had to win to stay in the race. This club has demonstrated time and again it won't crack under pressure.

"The pressure is squarely on the Yankees and Red Sox now. If they lose one, they're through," he said. "If we lose one, the worst we can get is a tie.

"Remember this, we are in the best position of all three clubs as far as pitching is concerned," he added.

Doby Is Ready To Play

Grid Team Affected By Polio Outbreak

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 27 (AP)—The Baylor school for boys has closed because of a polio outbreak among its football team.

The fourth case was diagnosed as polio today at Atlanta where Pat Brooks of Valdosta, Ga., is confined to a hospital. Other students stricken include Hugh Chapman of Spartanburg, S. C. team captain, who has both polio and spinal meningitis. His condition is serious.

Allegany High's Reserves Defeat Fort Hill, 25-18

Campers Con Onener Of Football Series

Allegany High School's Reserves defeated the Fort Hill High School Reserves by the score of 25 to 18 in the first of two football games between the teams yesterday at the stadium.

Elbin, Belshche Win Pro-Amateur

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27. (AP)—Max Elbin and Tom Belsche of the Burning Tree Club in Washington won the Middle Atlantic P.G.A. Pro-Amateur golf tournament today.

The capital duo won the event at the Country Club of Maryland with a best ball of 64. One stroke behind and tied for second place were A. F. O'Linger and W. O. Pugh of Winchester, Va., and Harry Griesmer and W. L. Blatchford of Bethesda.

Eddie Johnston of the host club shot the best individual round among the 115 competitors. He turned in a 69, one under par, to win low gross honors in the amateur sweepstakes. Cliff Eley of Annapolis won low net with 75-7—68.

Three golfers tied for first in the pro sweepstakes. Severn White of Suburban, Al Houghton of Prince Georges and Elbin all shot 72.

Max Elbin is a former Cumberlander and learned his golf while caddying at the Cumberland Country Club. He served as assistant to Lew Worsham at Burning Tree and became pro at the latter club when Worsham signed as pro at Oakmont. Max and his family reside at Bethesda, Md.

Central Booters Meet Flintstone

Beall To Face Barton In Other Game Today

Coach William Sayler's Flintstone High School booters will make their first start of the season in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League when they battle Central High School of Lonaconing today at 4 o'clock at Flintstone.

Coach Johnny Meyers' Orange and Black eleven launched its campaign with a 3 to 1 triumph over Beall High School's last Friday, marking the Frostburg team's first setback in league competition in three years.

Oberlin Chaney will officiate in the CHS-Flintstone contest.

In another contest set for today at 4 p. m., Barton will play Beall at Frostburg. Both of these teams lost their league openers last week, Barton dropping a 3-0 decision to Bruce.

Ray Middleton will referee today's tilt.

Don Black Showing Signs Of Recovery

Tribe Hurler Reported 'Groping For Thoughts'

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27 (AP)—Cleveland Indian pitcher Don Black, who suffered a brain hemorrhage Sept. 13, has made the greatest recovery in the last 24 hours, Dr. Edward B. Castle, Cleveland club physician, said today.

Dr. Castle said the hurler has become more rational and now is "groping for thoughts." He still is not aware of the tribute paid him last Wednesday night at the stadium, when approximately $40,000 was raised in his behalf.

At that game — between Boston and Cleveland — net receipts over a 25,000 attendance figure were donated to Black and his family.

Dr. Castle also said the injury probably ended Black's baseball career and that he might undergo surgery later on.

Black suffered his injury when he took a hard swing at a ball while batting in the Sept. 13 game between the Indians and the St. Louis Browns.

SAO PAULO, Brizal, Sept. 27 (AP) — Mario Gonzalez, slender Sao Paulo golfer, won the Brazilian Open tourney yesterday with a score of 270 for the 72 holes.

Lafferty Boys And Niland Win Armory Fights

Locals Cop 5 Out Of 6 Contests With Rankin

Cumberland amateur boxers were turned the winners over representatives of the Roy Athletic Club of Rankin, Pa., in five out of six inter-city matches on the Royale Athletic Club's fistic program last night at the State Armory.

In a pair of five-round features, mittmen of the Royale A.C. gained an even break when Jim Folk, local featherweight, gained the nod over Joe Senko in a match that sizzled with action, after Nick Zezza, of Rankin, clearly outpointed Bobby Goss, local bantamweight in a fast, rough contest.

Other Cumberlanders who won bouts with members of the out-of-town team were "Sonny" and Bill Lafferty, Joe Niland and Jim "Lefty" Klosterman, the well known Diamond A.C. matchmaker, who came out of retirement just to "fill out the card" of seven matches.

Confusion Marks Card

The card was marked by much confusion over boxers' weights and decisions in two matches.

In the curtain-raiser Jim Roby, of the Royale A.C. won over James Metty, of the Diamond A.C., by a "country mile" but the latter was declared the victor on a split decision and a chorus of boos followed. Referee Rorick cast his vote for Roby but the judges' slips showed Metty was their choice.

At the conclusion of the second match, Nelson W. Russler announced over the public address system that Doug Grainage, rugged negro 140-pounder was the winner over Bill Lafferty, St. Mary's welterweight, and after the boxers left the ring he discovered that he had erred and announced the wrong winner.

Joe Niland, Police Boys' Club middleweight, and Fred Stoken, of the Rankin A. C., principals in the next bout were already in the ring when Russler announced that Lafferty and not Grainage was the winner of the second match by a 2-1 decision.

Threatens To Quit

The handler of the Stoken ordered his boy out of the ring and threatened to take his fighters off the card, claiming Grainage got a "raw" deal. He also asked that new judges be used before his boys resumed action.

After a conference the manager of the Rankin team decided to continue after Matchmaker "Red" Mauk grabbed the "mike" and stated that the original decision in Grainage's favor would stand in spite of the fact that the slips of the judges showed Lafferty the victor. Referee Rorick had cast his ballot for Grainage and the negro lad looked like a sure winner. After the Rankin folks were appeased the show was resumed but officially Lafferty is the winner even though Bill did the sporting thing by saying: "Give Grainage the decision rather than have them quit."

Joe Niland and Stoken then engaged in a slugging match that pleased the gathering of 551 cash customers. It was one of Niland's best fights and the lanky 152-pounder impressed the officials to such an extent that he trotted off with a 3-0 decision.

Zezza Outpoints Goss

In a rough and tumble battle, Nick Zezza, a good looking, two-fisted scrapper from Rankin saved the visiting team from a shutout when he belted out a 3-0 decision over Bobby Goss in the first of the two five-round matches. Zezza hammered Goss plenty with both hands and won the match with plenty to spare to receive the plaudits of the crowd.

"Sonny" Lafferty, held even for two rounds, by a tough little negro lad named Kid Pedro, staged a whirlwind finish to whip the tiring Pennsylvanian via the 3-0 route in the 5th match.

An argument over the weights followed the second five-round in which Jim Folk gained the verdict over Joey Senko, a clever, two-fisted individual from Rankin. The weights were announced as: Folk 130 and Senko 132 at the start of the bout and the fans got quite a laugh out of that. After the match Senko said his weight was 122 while that of Folk was about 134, a difference of 12 pounds. In spite of the weight handicap, Senko slugged it out with Folk from start to finish and many fans thought he was entitled to the decision but it was 3-0 for Folk at the finish. It was a great fight throughout.

In spite of all the difficulties the card was a good one.

Jack Rorick referred all of the bouts. The judges were Howard "Red" Bush and George D. Hankins, a newcomer; John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh was timer and Nelson W. Russler, announcer.

'Squeaker Champion'

Art Nehf's Two 1-0 World Series Wins Still Record

By GAYLE HAYES

AP Newsfeatures

PHOENIX—Just about 2,000 miles from the nearest major league baseball park Art Nehf sits with his memories of baseball, as the top teams in the big leagues prepare for the 1948 World's Series.

Nehf, to most baseball fans of the modern era, is an obscure individual. Yet, Nehf retains a keen interest in what the pitchers will do to his glorious mound records.

It was 25 years ago this fall that Nehf, hurling for John McGraw's Giants, turned in a 1-0 victory over the New York Yankees, in the ball park built to help increase rightfield home run production of the American league champions — and Babe Ruth in particular.

Never since that time—October 12, 1923—has another 1-0 game been played in the world series. Well over 100 series games have been contested since then.

Nehf also authored the second most recent 1-0 game when he shaded Waite Hoyt of the same Yankees in the final game of the 1921 set.

Nehf, sitting in his home in Phoenix, Ariz., explains that the hitters have taken over.

"The fans want more runs, and the baseball people have to please the fans," he says.

"Naturally, I'm proud of my baseball records," Nehf adds, "but it is not fair to compare the modern pitcher with the fellows of my time.

"The first time I came in contact with the lively ball was around 1922 or 1923. You see, the National League was still using a deader ball than the American, and we had Emil Meusel on our club and his brother Bob was with the Yankees.

"Bob got a dozen of those rabbit balls and sent them to Emil, with a message to 'try them out and see how you like them.'"

Nehf says the Giants experimented with them in batting practice.

"And you know," says Nehf, balls were hit that our outfielders used to catch, and with that lively ball they were clearing the fences for home runs.

"But I could not complain. The fans loved to see the ball sail into the bleachers or out of sight. Those fans were paying our salaries, and while the lively ball made it harder for us, we still were happy to get better pay as more and more fans turned out."

Nehf explains he does not attend games as a spectator "because I find myself working with the pitcher, on each pitch."

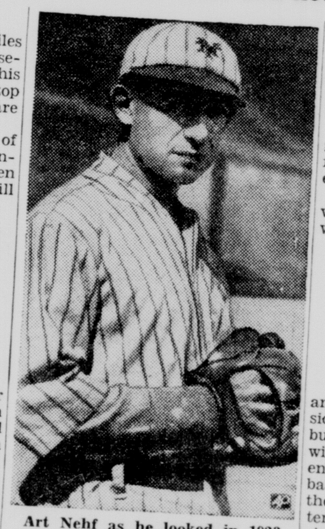

In the twenties, Nehf faced, along with Ruth and Meusel, sluggers who could tee off on any pitcher.

"I'll never forget Babe Ruth," Nehf smiles. "I can still see him up there at the plate, and when I'd see him I would remember McGraw's order that he was never to get a fastball anywhere close to the plate.

"In one game I had him in trouble and tried a fastball high and inside. I didn't think it could be hit, but Ruth edged back slightly, and with one hand on the bat at the end of his swing he pounded the ball into the bleachers, just inside the foul line. He was powerful, determined, and insisted on always giving his best.

"It didn't matter what the Babe had done the night before, or how late he'd been prowling around. He always insisted on everyone—himself included—giving everything, even if only in an exhibition game. His favorite saying was that fans came out to see big leaguers play big league ball, and it was the duty of every player to show the fans—in towns or villages—a brand of big league baseball."

What will happen in the 1948 World's Series is a mystery, but the odds are that there will be no 1-0 games. Still there is the old saying that pitching is about 75 per cent of the game.

BILLY SIDWELL WINS ON PACIFIC COAST

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27 (INS)—Australian Davis Cup star Billy Sidwell moved into the third round of the 22nd annual Pacific Southwest Tennis Championships today.

Sidwell loafed through a 7-5, 6-4 win over Arnold Saul of the University of Southern California.

Vladimir Cernik of Czechoslovakia also advanced to the third round, defeating Bob Hunter, Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-1.

Won Last Seven Matches

Boxers' Insurance Good

W.V.U. Plays At Hershey

By C. V. BURNS

The 1948 men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club can point with pride to its inter-club record as the best in the history of the club and that covers a period of approximately 32 years.

This year's team engaged in ten matches, winning eight and losing two, and thereby earned the right to the title of Tri-State Champions of 1948.

The Christie Road linksmen took two out of three matches from its ancient rival, Hagerstown, bested Somerset, Pa., in a best-of-three series and swept two matches each with Martinsburg, W. Va., and Bedford Springs, Pa.

After the roof fell in on the CCC team at Hagerstown on June 13, the locals showed a complete reversal of form and proved unbeatable thereafter, closing the campaign with a winning streak of seven matches.

In the inter-club tests the CCC team engaged in a total of 179 foursomes and one twosome. It won 92, lost 70 and halved 16 of the foursomes and dropped the lone twosome.

The triple "C" aggregation amassed a grand total of 295 points against 243 for the opposition via the Nassau System of scoring.

Of course, the matches with Hagerstown were the "big" ones as 114 players figured in the opener, 112 in the second contest and 132 players in the third and "rubber" battle of the annual series.

May 23—Defeated Opequon Country Club at Martinsburg, W. Va., 25½ to 18½.

June 2—Lost to Somerset Country Club at Somerset, Pa., 17½ to 15½.

June 27—Defeated Opequon Country Club, Martinsburg, W. Va., here, 26½ to 9½.

July 14—Defeated Bedford Springs (Pa.) Country Club here, 22½ to 6½.

July 25—Defeated Fountain Head Country Club, Hagerstown, here, 54½ to 29½.

August 11—Defeated Bedford Springs Country Club at Bedford Springs, 19½ to 10½.

September 8—Defeated Somerset Country Club at Somerset, 20½ to 18½.

September 26—Defeated Fountain Head Country Club, Hagerstown, at Bedford Springs, Pa. 53½ to 45½.

Allegany and Ridgeley will clash for the ninth time on the gridiron Saturday night. The Campers won the first six games of the series until held to a 7-7 deadlock in 1946.

Last year Jesse Riggleman's Blackhawks defeated Blue and White for the first time, 26 to 6.

The value of insurance for boxers was proven in Pennsylvania the other day when Bill (Chicken) Thompson, 21 year old Philadelphia heavyweight, died after being knocked out by Johnny Haynes.

Thompson's grandmother, his closest kin, will receive $500 from boxers' insurance in the Keystone State. All hospital expenses were paid for the boxer after an emergency brain operation.

Death removed two prominent men from the sports scene over the weekend.

Billy McCarney, 76, veteran fight manager who at one time handled Max Schmeling and many other fighters, passed away in New York. He became ill while attending the Cerdan-Zale fight in Jersey City.

McCarney, often referred to as the "Old Professor," promoted the fight between the aging Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson in Philadelphia, July 17, 1907.

William H. (Billy) Clearwater, 73, one-time pocket billiards champion of the world, died in Pittsburgh. He held the title three times shortly after the turn of the century.

Clearwater appeared in Cumberland on several occasions, giving exhibitions at Liberty street billiard parlors.

Jim McGirr, veteran boxing matchmaker and promoter at McKeesport, Pa., plans to close shop at the end of the year when he will dispose of his holdings in the tistic business.

Chester Smith, Pittsburgh sports columnist, reveals that "Rip" Sewell, Pirates' pitcher, had to take his blooper pitch to court before the umpires would call it a strike.

When he first began to use the balloon pitch word came back to him that some of the men in blue had agreed to ignore it.

Sewell took his case to Bill Klem, dean of National League umpires, and threw the bloop for his inspection.

Klem said: "When that ba'l is over the plate it is a legitimate strike and I will make that clear to the other umpires."

The blooper has been O. K. ever since.

When the West Virginia U. freshmen play the Maryland plebes here Thursday, November 18, former Moorefield and Beall High athletes may appear in the lineup of the Morgantown eleven.

They are Charley Geis, an end from Beall High, Frostburg, and George Hott, halfback, from Moorefield (W. Va) High. The pair are now leading contenders for those positions on Coach Leonard Barnum's squad of 63 candidates.

Frank Leahy, Notre Dame coach, has a definite feeling against married athletes.

"They don't seem to be the same after they're married," says the gentleman who himself is married and has five children. "But you can't blame 'em for getting married, for many of them have spent several years in the service and they're thinking of settling down."

Local football fans will get an opportunity to see West Virginia University play Saturday if they go to Hershey, Pa., where the Mounties will meet Temple University's Owls in a daylight tussle in the Hershey "Chocolate Bowl."

It will be the 9th meeting of the schools. Temple holds a 6-2 edge in the series.

Three Pennant Contenders Resume Red Hot Race Today

Pace-Setting Indians Face Chisox Tonight

Yanks Face Mackmen, Red Sox Meet Nats

By JOHN CHANDLER

After one day of rest in the torrid American League pennant chase, the three contenders squared away again today (Tues) for the final week of play and a crack at the National League champion Boston Braves in the world series opening a week from Wednesday.

The nerve-fraying stretch drive between the Cleveland Indians, Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees will continue on three widely-scattered fronts. Each club has just five games left to play, in a "don't spare the horses" finish the likes of which the junior loop has rarely experienced.

Indians Are In Saddle

The Indians definitely are in the saddle now, to cop their first flag since 1920, riding along on a one-game bulge over the Yankees and Red Sox, tied for second place.

With all clubs in both leagues idle Monday, the shouting ended in the National League as Boston clinched the pennant Sunday, this was the situation in the American loop:

	W.	L.	PCT.	GB	To Play
Cleveland	93	56	.624	—	5
Boston	92	57	.617	1	5
New York	92	57	.617	1	5

Three also-rans, the lowly Chicago White Sox and the Washington Senators, and the Philadelphia Athletics can gum up the works further beginning today.

The Indians, with all of their remaining games at home, meet the White Sox in the first of a two-game series tonight. Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau says flatly his gang is in, and he could be 100 per cent correct.

"I sincerely believe we're in now," the shortstop-pilot said after Bob Feller defeated Detroit Sunday while New York whipped Boston in their finale at Yankee Stadium.

The Yankees open a three-game set with the Athletics in Philadelphia this afternoon, while the Red Sox and Washington play the first of three games at Boston.

New York Plays Boston

Cleveland can clinch the flag by taking five straight, no matter what Boston and New York do. The Indians could drop two games, and still the Yanks and Red Sox would have to win five in a row to grab the bunting. What's more, New York and Boston will be cutting each others throat again in a two-game series winding up the season at Hubtown Saturday and Sunday.

"While I am not discounting the Yankees' chances," Boudreau said, "I think we have more to fear from Boston than from New York.

"I look for the Philadelphia Athletics to win one game from the Yankees. By the same token, I don't believe the Red Sox can take the Yankees in both games at Boston.

"That means if we win four of the remaining five games from Chicago and Detroit, we'll win the flag. I feel confident we can do that."

Boudreau said he would send Lefty Gene Bearden to the hill to try for his 18th victory against the White Sox tonight. The rookie has lost seven games this season. Frank Papish (2-8 who beat the Yankees last week when they could have tied for first, is the White Sox choice.

Joe Dobson (16-9) is expected to get the call from Manager Joe McCarthy in the Boston opener with Washington, while the Senators lead with their ace, Rae Scarborough (13-8).

Yankees Play A's First

"I will start Vic Raschi, looking for his 20th, in the opener at Shibe Park," Yankee pilot Bucky Harris declared. "Beyond that, I don't want to do any talking. Perhaps Frank Shea will be ready. Maybe I will go with Allie Reynolds in the Wednesday game."

Connie Mack, who said he wanted to see "the best team win the flag," has his mound corps fully rested after several days of idleness. Either Carl Scheib (13-8) or Lou Brissie (14-10) is expected to face the Yankees in the opener.

St. Louis and Detroit meet in the other American League tilt today.

In the National, where the Braves are celebrating their first pennant in 34 years, a full four-game program also is slated.

Boston travels to Brooklyn to meet the Dodgers, and Manager Billy Southworth of the new champions says there will be no letdown.

The Philadelphia Phillies play a doubleheader with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds, Cincinnati plays at Chicago, and Pittsburgh at St. Louis, the latter a night game.

Conniver Will Run At Belmont Today

Bargain Filly Seeks 9th Win In Handicap

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Conniver, the Maryland bargain filly with the misleading name, goes after her ninth victory in 14 starts this season tomorrow in the $59,700 Ladies Handicap at Belmont Park.

The four-year-old daughter of Discovery heads a field of 11 prominent fillies and mares in the mile and one half gallop. She'll carry 126 pounds, including Jockey Doug Dodson.

The filly was purchesed by Harry La Montagne for a paltry $2,500 from A. G. Vanderbilt in the 1945 Meadow Brook sales.

Idle since Sept. 11, when she won the $68,300 Beldame Handicap at Aqueduct, Conniver will face many of the same in the Belmont event which is being run for the 78th time.

There is Gallorette, another Maryland-bred mare, owned by Mrs. Marie A. Moore of Virginia; Arnold Hanger's Harmonica; W. L. Ranch's Honeymoon; Belair Stud's My Emma; and Lester Manor Stable's Compliance.

Coaltown And Citation Will Run At Belmont

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP) — Calumet Farm General Manager Ben Jones said today Coaltown would join Citation in the $25,000-added Sysonby Mile at Belmont Park Wednesday.

The race, first for Citation since he arrived in the east from Chicago early this month, was won by another Calumet horse—Armed—last year.

World Series Lottery Tickets Flood Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Police reported world series lottery tickets were flooding this city

Bearing the name "Union Jack Sports Club, Montreal," the tickets were selling for 25 cents each and offered prizes up to $5,000.

Francis Bolger, 25, of Cambridge, was fined $50 in Somerville District Court today when police said they found 25 tickets in his pockets.

MAKES CLEAN SWEEP—Lawrence Middlekamp, right, made a clean sweep of three singles tournaments this year by defeating Maurice Bernstein, left, in the finals of the county tourney Sunday by scores of 6-4, 6-1. Middlekamp also won the Dingle and city tournament championships. His victory in the county tournament gave him permanent possession of the Schwarzenbach Trophy. Bernstein is shown congratulating the triple winner after Sunday's match.

Satchel Paige Declares Indians "Jest Ain't Gonna Lose No More"

By JOE HEICHLER

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27—(AP)—One game in front and five to play, the pennant-starved Cleveland Indians, from owner Bill Veeck, vice president Hank Greenberg and manager Lou Boudreau down, were confident today that the Tribe would win the American League pennant.

"We'll win," said Veeck. "We'll win because we have the best team in the league."

"We'll win," said Greenberg. "Well win because we have the best pitching staff in the league."

"We'll win," said Boudreau. "We'll win because we have Bob Feller."

Play Five More Games

Alone in first place for the first time since Aug. 25, the Indians were all set for their final five games of the season, all at home. The Chicago White Sox came here for a couple of games tomorrow night and Wednesday. Thursday is an open date, and next Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons the Detroit Tigers invade Municipal Stadium to close out the regulation schedule.

Sundays results which put the Tribe a full game up on the Boston Red Sox and Yankees meant a hasty revision in Boudreau's pitching plans for the remaining games.

With the full knowledge that the Indians can't lose the pennant now if they don't lose another ball game, Lou has decided to shoot the works.

"Gene Bearden will work tomorrow night against the White Sox," he said, "but instead of using Bob Lemon Wednesday, we'll go along with Feller. Right now Bob is the most effective member of the staff. He is every bit as good as he ever was.

"Lemon will be in the bullpen Tuesday and Wednesday, ready for action at a moment's notice. And he'll start Friday. If we still haven't clinched the pennant after that game, it will be Bearden Saturday and Feller Sunday."

Series Ticket Sale Begins

Ted Lyons, manager of the last plase White Sox, has announced he will pitch Lefty Frank Papish (2-8) against the Indians tomorrow.

Veeck was confident he would not have to do any refunding on the sale of world series tickets which begins tomorrow. Already thousands of requests have poured into special baskets at the main post office here.

Greenberg believed the Indians would go on to win all of their remaining games.

"We have the best club in the league," he reiterated. "We proved it by winning the big ones, the games we had to win to stay in the race. This club has demonstrated time and again it won't crack under pressure.

"The pressure is squarely on the Yankees and Red Sox now. If they lose one, they're through," he said. "If we lose one, the worst we can get is a tie.

"Remember this, we are in the best position of all three clubs as far as pitching is concerned," he added.

Doby Is Ready To Play

Grid Team Affected By Polio Outbreak

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 27 (AP)—The Baylor school for boys has closed because of a polio outbreak among its football team.

The fourth case was diagnosed as polio today at Atlanta where Pat Brooks of Valdosta, Ga., is confined to a hospital. Other students stricken include Hugh Chapman of Spartanburg, S. C. team captain, who has both polio and spinal meningitis. His condition is serious.

Allegany High's Reserves Defeat Fort Hill, 25-18

Campers Con Opener Of Football Series

Allegany High School's Reserves defeated the Fort Hill High School Reserves by the score of 25 to 18 in the first of two football games between the teams yesterday at the stadium.

True accounted for two of the Campers' four touchdowns while the others were made by Ogelbay and Johnson. Jimmie Judd made two of the Sentinels' six-pointers and a Beightol to Ralph Thuss pass netted the other score.

Six of the seven touchdowns registered in the game were made on running plays. Ogelbay plunged the lone point after touchdown.

Elbin, Belshche Win Pro-Amateur

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27. (AP)—Max Elbin and Tom Belsche of the Burning Tree Club in Washington won the Middle Atlantic P.G.A. Pro-Amateur golf tournament today.

The capital duo won the event at the Country Club of Maryland with a best ball of 64. One stroke behind and tied for second place were A. F. O'Linger and W. O. Pugh of Winchester, Va., and Harry Griesmer and W. L. Blatchford of Bethesda.

Eddie Johnston of the host club shot the best individual round among the 115 competitors. He turned in a 69, one under par, to win low gross honors in the amateur sweepstakes. Cliff Eley of Annapolis won low net with 75-7—68.

Three golfers tied for first in the pro sweepstakes. Severn White of Suburban, Al Houghton of Prince Georges and Elbin all shot 72.

Max Elbin is a former Cumberlander and learned his golf while caddying at the Cumberland Country Club. He served as assistant to Lew Worsham at Burning Tree and became pro at the latter club when Worsham signed as pro at Oakmont. Max and his family reside at Bethesda, Md.

Central Booters Meet Flintstone

Beall To Face Barton In Other Game Today

Coach William Sayler's Flintstone High School booters will make their first start of the season in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League when they battle Central High School of Lonaconing today at 4 o'clock at Flintstone.

Coach Johnny Meyers' Orange and Black eleven launched its campaign with a 3 to 1 triumph over Beall High School's last Friday, marking the Frostburg team's first setback in league competition in three years.

Oberlin Chaney will officiate in the CHS-Flintstone contest.

In another contest set for today at 4 p. m., Barton will play Beall at Frostburg. Both of these teams lost their league openers last week, Barton dropping a 3-0 decision to Bruce.

Ray Middleton will referee today's tilt.

Tribe Hurler Reported 'Groping For Thoughts'

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27 (AP)—Cleveland Indian pitcher Don Black, who suffered a brain hemorrhage Sept. 13, has made the greatest recovery in the last 24 hours, Dr. Edward B. Castle, Cleveland club physician, said today.

Dr. Castle said the hurler has become more rational and now is "groping for thoughts." He still is not aware of the tribute paid him last Wednesday night at the stadium, when approximately $40,000 was raised in his behalf.

At that game — between Boston and Cleveland — net receipts over a 25,000 attendance figure were donated to Black and his family.

Dr. Castle also said the injury probably ended Black's baseball career and that he might undergo surgery later on.

Lafferty Boys And Niland Win Armory Fights

Locals Cop 5 Out Of 6 Contests With Rankin

Cumberland amateur boxers were turned the winners over representatives of the Roy Athletic Club of Rankin, Pa., in five out of six inter-city matches on the Royale Athletic Club's fistic program last night at the State Armory.

In a pair of five-round features, mittmen of the Royale A.C. gained an even break when Jim Folk, local featherweight, gained the nod over Joe Senko in a match that sizzled with action, after Nick Zezza, of Rankin, clearly outpointed Bobby Goss, local bantamweight in a fast, rough contest.

Other Cumberlanders who won bouts with members of the out-of-town team were "Sonny" and Bill Lafferty, Joe Niland and Jim "Lefty" Klosterman, the well known Diamond A.C. matchmaker, who came out of retirement just to "fill out the card" of seven matches.

Confusion Marks Card

The card was marked by much confusion over boxers' weights and decisions in two matches.

In the curtain-raiser Jim Roby, of the Royale A.C. won over James Metty, of the Diamond A.C., by a "country mile" but the latter was declared the victor on a split decision and a chorus of boos followed. Referee Rorick cast his vote for Roby but the judges' slips showed Metty was their choice.

At the conclusion of the second match, Nelson W. Russler announced over the public address system that Doug Grainage, rugged negro 140-pounder was the winner over Bill Lafferty, St. Mary's welterweight, and after the boxers left the ring he discovered that he had erred and announced the wrong winner.

Joe Niland, Police Boys' Club middleweight, and Fred Stoken, of the Rankin A. C., principals in the next bout were already in the ring when Russler announced that Lafferty and not Grainage was the winner of the second match by a 2-1 decision.

Threatens To Quit

The handler of the Stoken ordered his boy out of the ring and threatened to take his fighters off the card, claiming Grainage got a "raw" deal. He also asked that new judges be used before his boys resumed action.

After a conference the manager of the Rankin team decided to continue after Matchmaker "Red" Mauk grabbed the "mike" and stated that the original decision in Grainage's favor would stand in spite of the fact that the slips of the judges showed Lafferty the victor. Referee Rorick had cast his ballot for Grainage and the negro lad looked like a sure winner. After the Rankin folks were appeased the show was resumed but officially Lafferty is the winner even though Bill did the sporting thing by saying: "Give Grainage the decision rather than have them quit."

Joe Niland and Stoken then engaged in a slugging match that pleased the gathering of 551 cash customers. It was one of Niland's best fights and the lanky 152-pounder impressed the officials to such an extent that he trotted off with a 3-0 decision.

Zezza Outpoints Goss

In a rough and tumble battle, Nick Zezza, a good looking, two-fisted scrapper from Rankin saved the visiting team from a shutout when he belted out a 3-0 decision over Bobby Goss in the first of the two five-round matches. Zezza hammered Goss plenty with both hands and won the match with plenty to spare to receive the plaudits of the crowd.

"Sonny" Lafferty, held even for two rounds, by a tough little negro lad named Kid Pedro, staged a whirlwind finish to whip the tiring Pennsylvanian via the 3-0 route in the 5th match.

An argument over the weights followed the second five-round in which Jim Folk gained the verdict over Joey Senko, a clever, two-fisted individual from Rankin. The weights were announced as: Folk 130 and Senko 132 at the start of the bout and the fans got quite a laugh out of that. After the match Senko said his weight was 122 while that of Folk was about 134, a difference of 12 pounds. In spite of the weight handicap, Senko slugged it out with Folk from start to finish and many fans thought he was entitled to the decision but it was 3-0 for Folk at the finish. It was a great fight throughout.

In spite of all the difficulties the card was a good one.

Jack Rorick referred all of the bouts. The judges were Howard "Red" Bush and George D. Hankins, a newcomer; John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh was timer and Nelson W. Russler, announcer.

Art Nehf's Two 1-0 World Series Wins Still Record

By GAYLE HAYES

AP Newsfeatures

PHOENIX—Just about 2,000 miles from the nearest major league baseball park Art Nehf sits with his memories of baseball, as the top teams in the big leagues prepare for the 1948 World's Series.

Nehf, to most baseball fans of the modern era, is an obscure individual. Yet, Nehf retains a keen interest in what the pitchers will do to his glorious mound records.

It was 25 years ago this fall that Nehf, hurling for John McGraw's Giants, turned in a 1-0 victory over the New York Yankees, in the ball park built to help increase rightfield home run production of the American league champions — and Babe Ruth in particular.

Never since that time—October 12, 1923—has another 1-0 game been played in the world series. Well over 100 series games have been contested since then.

Nehf also authored the second most recent 1-0 game when he shaded Waite Hoyt of the same Yankees in the final game of the 1921 set.

Nehf, sitting in his home in Phoenix, Ariz., explains that the hitters have taken over.

"The fans want more runs, and the baseball people have to please the fans," he says.

"Naturally, I'm proud of my baseball records," Nehf adds, "but it is not fair to compare the modern pitcher with the fellows of my time.

"The first time I came in contact with the lively ball was around 1922 or 1923. You see, the National League was still using a deader ball than the American, and we had Emil Meusel on our club and his brother Bob was with the Yankees.

"Bob got a dozen of those rabbit balls and sent them to Emil, with a message to 'try them out and see how you like them.'"

Nehf says the Giants experimented with them in batting practice.

"And you know," says Nehf, balls were hit that our outfielders used to catch, and with that lively ball they were clearing the fences for home runs.

"But I could not complain. The fans loved to see the ball sail into the bleachers or out of sight. Those fans were paying our salaries, and while the lively ball made it harder for us, we still were happy to get better pay as more and more fans turned out."

Nehf explains he does not attend games as a spectator "because I find myself working with the pitcher, on each pitch."

In the twenties, Nehf faced, along with Ruth and Meusel, sluggers who could tee off on any pitcher.

"I'll never forget Babe Ruth," Nehf smiles. "I can still see him up there at the plate, and when I'd see him I would remember McGraw's order that he was never to get a fastball anywhere close to the plate.

"In one game I had him in trouble and tried a fastball high and inside. I didn't think it could be hit, but Ruth edged back slightly, and with one hand on the bat at the end of his swing he pounded the ball into the bleachers, just inside the foul line. He was powerful, determined, and insisted on always giving his best.

"It didn't matter what the Babe had done the night before, or how late he'd been prowling around. He always insisted on everyone—himself included—giving everything, even if only in an exhibition game. His favorite saying was that fans came out to see big leaguers play big league ball, and it was the duty of every player to show the fans—in towns or villages—a brand of big league baseball."

What will happen in the 1948 World's Series is a mystery, but the odds are that there will be no 1-0 games. Still there is the old saying that pitching is about 75 per cent of the game.

BILLY SIDWELL WINS ON PACIFIC COAST

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27 (INS)—Australian Davis Cup star Billy Sidwell moved into the third round of the 22nd annual Pacific Southwest Tennis Championships today.

Sidwell loafed through a 7-5, 6-4 win over Arnold Saul of the University of Southern California.

Vladimir Cernik of Czechoslovakia also advanced to the third round, defeating Bob Hunter, Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-1.

Old Export Has It!

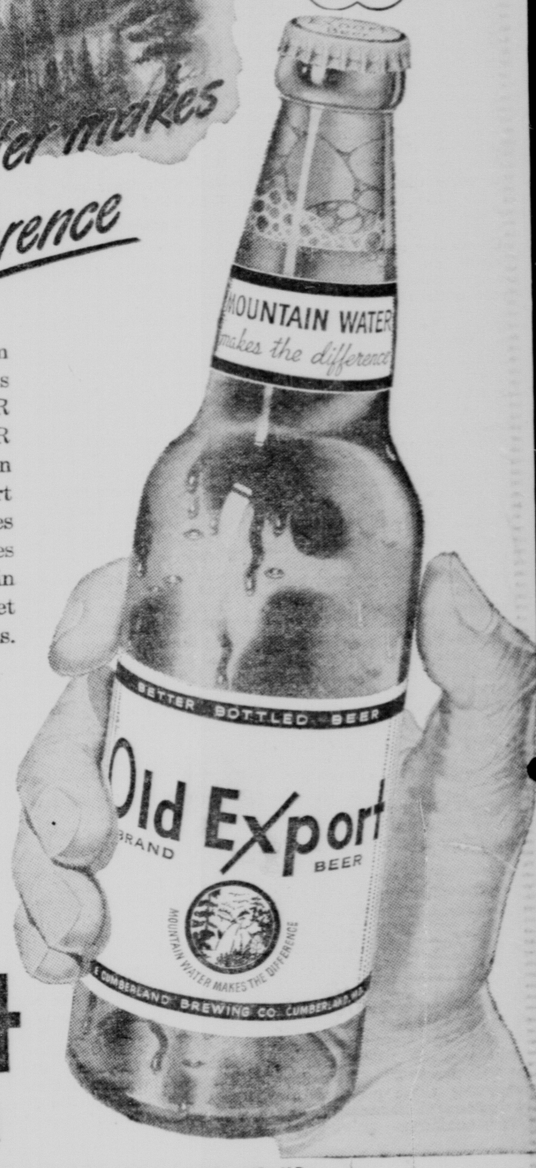

MW*

*MW means MOUNTAIN WATER and MOUNTAIN WATER means BETTER BEER

Mountain water makes the difference

There's 6 times as much water in beer as all the other ingredients combined. So, THE BETTER THE WATER, THE BETTER THE BEER! And depend on Mountain Water to give Old Export a finer flavor. Old Export tastes clean! It tastes mellow! It tastes good! And all because Mountain Water makes the difference. Get Old Export in bottles or cans.

Yanks Lose Gus Niarhos Final Week Of Season

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (INS)—The New York Yankees were jolted today by an announcement that Gus Niarhos, regular catcher, will be out of action for the final week of the American League pennant race.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician said Niarhos sustained a triple fracture just behind the knuckle of the right index finger from a foul tip in yesterday's game with the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Bucky Harris was undecided tonight as to who would catch Vic Rashi in tomorrow's game with the Athletics. He could use Yogi Berra, recently converted from a catcher into a right fielder. Or he could use one of his secondary receivers, Sherman Lollar or Ralph Houk.

Another possibility is Charley Silvera, who immediately was summoned from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League. Silvera batted .296 this year and is a fine defensive catcher.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees was the first American Leaguer to homer in every park in the circuit this season.

Bosses Bag-packers

MINNEAPOLIS, (AP)—Billy Bye, Minnesota's scampering tailback, spent the summer as caddymaster at the Minikahda Golf Club. While bossing the club's caddies he gained 18 pounds, but dropped 14 in football practice.

Yanks Lose Gus Niarhos Final Week Of Season

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (INS)—The New York Yankees were jolted today by an announcement that Gus Niarhos, regular catcher, will be out of action for the final week of the American League pennant race.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician said Niarhos sustained a triple fracture just behind the knuckle of the right index finger from a foul tip in yesterday's game with the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Bucky Harris was undecided tonight as to who would catch Vic Raschi in tomorrow's game with the Athletics. He could use Yogi Berra, recently converted from a catcher into a right fielder. Or he could use one of his secondary receivers, Sherman Lollar or Ralph Houk.

Another possibility is Charley Silvera, who immediately was summoned from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League. Silvera batted .296 this year and is a fine defensive catcher.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees was the first American Leaguer to homer in every park in the circuit this season.

Bosses Bag-packers

MINNEAPOLIS, (AP)—Billy Bye, Minnesota's scampering tailback, spent the summer as caddymaster at the Minikahda Golf Club. While bossing the club's caddies he gained 18 pounds, but dropped 14 in football practice.

Yanks Lose Gus Niarhos Final Week Of Season

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (INS)—The New York Yankees were jolted today by an announcement that Gus Niarhos, regular catcher, will be out of action for the final week of the American League pennant race.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician said Niarhos sustained a triple fracture just behind the knuckle of the right index finger from a foul tip in yesterday's game with the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Bucky Harris was undecided tonight as to who would catch Vic Rashi in tomorrow's game with the Athletics. He could use Yogi Berra, recently converted from a catcher into a right fielder. Or he could use one of his secondary receivers, Sherman Lollar or Ralph Houk.

Another possibility is Charley Silvera, who immediately was summoned from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League. Silvera batted .296 this year and is a fine defensive catcher.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees was the first American Leaguer to homer in every park in the circuit this season.

Yanks Lose Gus Niarhos Final Week Of Season

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (INS)—The New York Yankees were jolted today by an announcement that Gus Niarhos, regular catcher, will be out of action for the final week of the American League pennant race.

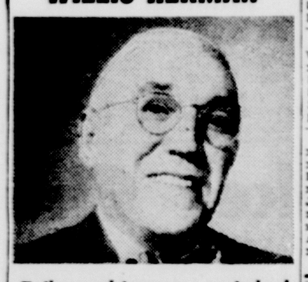

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician said Niarhos sustained a triple fracture just behind the knuckle of the right index finger from a foul tip in yesterday's game with the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Bucky Harris was undecided tonight as to who would catch Vic Raschi in tomorrow's game with the Athletics. He could use Yogi Berra, recently converted from a catcher into a right fielder. Or he could use one of his secondary receivers, Sherman Lollar or Ralph Houk.

Another possibility is Charley Silvera, who immediately was summoned from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League. Silvera batted .296 this year and is a fine defensive catcher.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees was the first American Leaguer to homer in every park in the circuit this season.

Bosses Bag-packers

MINNEAPOLIS, (AP)—Billy Bye, Minnesota's scampering tailback, spent the summer as caddymaster at the Minikahda Golf Club. While bossing the club's caddies he gained 18 pounds, but dropped 14 in football practice.

In the 1914 World's Series the Boston Braves beat the Athletics four straight with Dick Rudolph and Bill James winning two games each.

Can a man "forget" one girl by marrying another?

Answer: That depends on how completely he accepts the fact that the girl he's trying to forget is lost forever. For hope is what keeps love alive, and even a hope which you know is unreasonable or improper may not only keep your thoughts fixed on someone you want to get out of your mind, but make you resent the person you have taken as the "second best" because she's not your first choice. If or when hope really dies, however, a new love not only may relieve your heartache but bring you the happiness you sought in the old one.

Were World War II G.I.'s brighter than their fathers?

Answer: At least they were able to score better in intelligence tests, reports Read D. Tuddenham of Berkeley, Calif., in The American Psychcologist Standard tests used in the earlier war were administered to a sample of World War II enlisted men and their scores were found to be "significantly higher" that was regarded as normal for the earlier generation. Dr. Tuddenham thinks this probably would be true of the whole population of the U. S., and attributes it to "more and better education for more people."

Answer: Experience shows that a child with a touch of genius will follow his "bent", no matter what his parents do to turn his interests elsewhere. But a child who merely has special ability in one field—let's say, music—may be tempted to make his success in it a substitute for solving harder problems, such as getting on with youngsters of his own age, and so to grow up "one-sided" and unhappy. To avoid this, while it will do little good to force him, his parents should encourage him to be "like other people."

Taxi Driver Released

Earl Cooley, of Rockville, who was arrested Saturday on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and reckless driving, posted bond of $52.90 yesterday for a hearing later in Trial Magistrates Court.

State Police nabbed Cooley after a taxicab he was driving was involved in a crash near Oldtown. Police had received a report that the cab was "stolen" several hours prior to the accident.

FROSTBURG

NEWS FROM THE TRI-STATE AREA

KEYSER

Work Resumes On Frostburg "Cut"

FROSTBURG—The C. J. Langenfelter contracting firm building the new Route 40 relocation has resumed work on the big cut on the outskirts of Frostburg.

A large power shovel and other equipment has been operating for several days on the Eckcart side of the cut and a smaller power shovel has completed an excavation on the Frostburg side to lower the water main leading from Frostburg's water system to the Eckhart distribution system.

Excavation for the water line, which is to be 3 feet under the main surface of the road, affords an idea of the depth of the cut, which is said to be one of the deepest on any highway in Maryland and will probably always be known as the "Frostburg Cut."

Practically all of the earth being taken from the cut at the present time is conveyed by large dump wagons to the Frog Hollow section of the new highway.

Rev. Liesmann Will Preach In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Announcement was made at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Sunday that Rev. Justus H. Liesmann, pastor of All Saints Lutheran Church, Baltimore, will come here Sunday, October 17, to preach at the installation of Rev. Harold R. Stoudt, formerly of Kreamer, Pa., as pastor of the local church.

Rev. Liesmann, a former overseas Army chaplain during World War II, was pastor of St. Paul's Church for two years, resigning in March to accept the Baltimore pastorate.

FROSTBURG CLUB WILL MEET TONIGHT

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Homemakers Club will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the day room of Frostburg State Teachers College.

The officers, Mrs. H. Reford Aldridge, president; Miss Elizabeth Workman, vice president; Mrs. Adam Baer, secretary, and Mrs. William Dolder, treasurer, will serve as hostesses.

Mrs. Ellen Brode, family relations chairman, requests the members to bring good used clothing for boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 14, for distribution by the Frostburg Branch of the Red Cross.

Tommy And Pat Grieve Over "Nip," Their Dog That "Somebody Took"

Tommy And Pat

A couple of Garrett County tykes named Tommy and Pat Skipper, are out to form one of the "biggest" posses in the county's long history. Their dog, "Nip," is missing.

Now Nip doesn't have any particular background to make him outstanding, in fact he's just one of those "little brown and white dogs."

The point is Tommy and Pat's mother is beginning to worry about the health of her sons. "They are grieving about Nip." Tommy, in particular, is becoming ill.

Nip isn't to blame for the state of his two young masters and neither are they. Everything was all right when they chased Nip back into the house as they started off for Sunday School a couple of weeks ago.

Then the two lads came home from church and found Nip gone. "He was stolen," a neighbor who saw someone in the yard during the morning, told Tommy's and Pat's mother.

"He belongs to us," Tommy declared, and "we want Nip back." They did a good bit of searching in the area around their home and asked everybody they saw if Nip had chewed up any rags or socks around their homes.

Days became weeks, however, and the two little boys lost interest in everything including the search which hasn't given them a trace of the little dog that "was their best playmate and companion."

Now the two boys are trying to get their father and his friends to conduct a "big peoples" search for Nip. Maybe, said Mrs. Skipper, if the person who took the dog knew how much he means to the boys, they will return him.

It would just mean that Tommy and Pat wouldn't be sick anymore.

Landscape Work Starts At Beall

FROSTBURG—Planting of grass seed on all terraces at the Beall High School grounds, regarded as one of the largest landscaping projects ever undertaken here.

The job, being done under direction of the Allegany County School Board, will require tons of grass seed, fertilizer and hay and thousands of two-foot wooden pegs, the latter being delivered to the school grounds from a mill near Pocahontas, Pa.

The work was started yesterday when a portion of the terrace was covered with lime and hay. Seven hundred pegs were driven into the ground to prevent hay being blown away by wind. The hay will be covered with fertilizer and grass seed.

A Cumberland landscape architect recommended that the pegs be placed to serve the double purpose of securing the hay and preventing rain from washing it down to the bottom of the terraces.

Beginning today, a larger force of men will be employed so as to complete the work as soon as possible.

During recent weeks most of the small stones on the playing field were removed.

Detroit Residents Visit In Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard P. Monahan and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allison, Detroit, Mich., visited Mr. and Mrs. George Malloy, West College Avenue, Sunday. They were en route to the convention of the National Association of American Foremen.

Allison is president of the National Association of American Foremen and Monahan is a member of the board of directors. They represent the Zenith Carburetor Division of Detroit.

St. John's Academy Alumni Has Lawn Fete

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—A homecoming for all St. John's Academy students was held Sunday and dinner was served on the lawn to a large number of people. Dr. A. E. Krause, former organizer, teacher and president of the school, was present and addressed the group in the afternoon.

He said the college was started and opened its doors to 120 students in October 1921 and continued yearly with about that number until 1933 when the school was forced to close because of the depression and lack of funds to continue. He recalled various teachers who taught there and where they are now.

More than 1,500 students attended the college during its operation and in most every instance all students going out from the college made good in business.

Dr. O. F. Mitchell, Franklin, was elected president; Superintendent of Schools of Grant County C. P. Hott, Petersburg, vice president; Alva Temple, Keyser, secretary and treasurer, and Miss Olive Schaffer, Dorcas, W. Va., chairman of the program committee. It was voted to make the occasion a yearly meeting.

The 3rd Sunday in next August was set for the next meeting.

Piedmont Couple Sue For $27,900

KEYSER, W. Va. — Two suits totaling $27,900 were filed in Mineral County Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Nellie R. Sager and her husband, Lester B. Sager, 39 Paxton Street, Piedmont, against L. R. Burnham, Mrs. Emerita Reese, and B. Leroy Burnham, all of Columbus, Ga., partners, trading and doing business as Burnham's Van, Columbus.

Mrs. Sager is asking $25,000 for injuries received when the car in which she was riding with her husband, on May 16, 1948, was hit by an auto-tractor-trailer traveling east on Rt. 50, west of Burlington.

The complaint states that the vehicle, one of Burnham's Van, was driven carelessly, negligently, and recklessly by Carolos E. Clark, Phoenix City, Ala., and that she sustained broken bones, bruises, brush burns and wounds and is permanently injured as a result of the accident.

Sager is asking $2,900 of the Burnham's Van for damages to his car, personal injuries and injuries to his wife. Attorneys H. G. Shores and Howard P. Shores represent the plaintiffs.

ROMNEY PERSONALS

Work Resumes On Frostburg "Cut"

FROSTBURG—The C. J. Langenfelter contracting firm building the new Route 40 relocation has resumed work on the big cut on the outskirts of Frostburg.

A large power shovel and other equipment has been operating for several days on the Eckcart side of the cut and a smaller power shovel has completed an excavation on the Frostburg side to lower the water main leading from Frostburg's water system to the Eckhart distribution system.

Excavation for the water line, which is to be 3 feet under the main surface of the road, affords an idea of the depth of the cut, which is said to be one of the deepest on any highway in Maryland and will probably always be known as the "Frostburg Cut."

Practically all of the earth being taken from the cut at the present time is conveyed by large dump wagons to the Frog Hollow section of the new highway.

Rev. Liesmann Will Preach In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Announcement was made at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Sunday that Rev. Justus H. Liesmann, pastor of All Saints Lutheran Church, Baltimore, will come here Sunday, October 17, to preach at the installation of Rev. Harold R. Stoudt, formerly of Kreamer, Pa., as pastor of the local church.

Rev. Liesmann, a former overseas Army chaplain during World War II, was pastor of St. Paul's Church for two years, resigning in March to accept the Baltimore pastorate.

Tommy And Pat Grieve Over "Nip," Their Dog That "Somebody Took"

Tommy And Pat

A couple of Garrett County tykes named Tommy and Pat Skipper, are out to form one of the "biggest" posses in the county's long history. Their dog, "Nip," is missing.

Now Nip doesn't have any particular background to make him outstanding, in fact he's just one of those "little brown and white dogs."

The point is Tommy and Pat's mother is beginning to worry about the health of her sons. "They are grieving about Nip." Tommy, in particular, is becoming ill.

Nip isn't to blame for the state of his two young masters and neither are they. Everything was all right when they chased Nip back into the house as they started off for Sunday School a couple of weeks ago.

Then the two lads came home from church and found Nip gone. "He was stolen," a neighbor who saw someone in the yard during the morning, told Tommy's and Pat's mother.

"He belongs to us," Tommy declared, and "we want Nip back." They did a good bit of searching in the area around their home and asked everybody they saw if Nip had chewed up any rags or socks around their homes.

Days became weeks, however, and the two little boys lost interest in everything including the search which hasn't given them a trace of the little dog that "was their best playmate and companion."

Now the two boys are trying to get their father and his friends to conduct a "big peoples" search for Nip. Maybe, said Mrs. Skipper, if the person who took the dog knew how much he means to the boys, they will return him.

It would just mean that Tommy and Pat wouldn't be sick anymore.

Landscape Work Starts At Beall

FROSTBURG—Planting of grass seed on all terraces at the Beall High School grounds, regarded as one of the largest landscaping projects ever undertaken here.

The job, being done under direction of the Allegany County School Board, will require tons of grass seed, fertilizer and hay and thousands of two-foot wooden pegs, the latter being delivered to the school grounds from a mill near Pocahontas, Pa.

The work was started yesterday when a portion of the terrace was covered with lime and hay. Seven hundred pegs were driven into the ground to prevent hay being blown away by wind. The hay will be covered with fertilizer and grass seed.

A Cumberland landscape architect recommended that the pegs be placed to serve the double purpose of securing the hay and preventing rain from washing it down to the bottom of the terraces.

Beginning today, a larger force of men will be employed so as to complete the work as soon as possible.

During recent weeks most of the small stones on the playing field were removed.

St. John's Academy Alumni Has Lawn Fete

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—A homecoming for all St. John's Academy students was held Sunday and dinner was served on the lawn to a large number of people. Dr. A. E. Krause, former organizer, teacher and president of the school, was present and addressed the group in the afternoon.

He said the college was started and opened its doors to 120 students in October 1921 and continued yearly with about that number until 1933 when the school was forced to close because of the depression and lack of funds to continue. He recalled various teachers who taught there and where they are now.

More than 1,500 students attended the college during its operation and in most every instance all students going out from the college made good in business.

Dr. O. F. Mitchell, Franklin, was elected president; Superintendent of Schools of Grant County C. P. Hott, Petersburg, vice president; Alva Temple, Keyser, secretary and treasurer, and Miss Olive Schaffer, Dorcas, W. Va., chairman of the program committee. It was voted to make the occasion a yearly meeting.

The 3rd Sunday in next August was set for the next meeting.

WESTERNPORT—A funeral service for Charles J. Dixon, 43, who died Friday in Reeves Clinic following a heart attack, was held yesterday afternoon at his residence, 216 Smoot Street, with Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

Pallbearers were Ernest and Robert Brumage, Delis Mason, Calvin Shaffer, Donald Brumage and Howard Taylor.

B. A. HELMAN

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — B. A. Helman, 70, died at his home here early Saturday after an illness of several months. He was a native of Hampshire county, but moved to Hardy county many years ago. He resided at Purgitsville for some time, and about 20 years ago came to Moorefield to make his home.

Helman was a son of the late Michael and Matilda Sowers Helman, and was born at McConnelsburg, Pa.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Martha Arnold of Hampshire county; five daughters, Mrs. James Kirby and Mrs. Ray Hott, both of Moorefield; Mrs. C. J. Everline, Jr., of LaVale, Cumberland; Mrs. Arnold Haggerty, and Mrs. Elwood Kenealy, both of Keyser; two grandchildren, Miss Sheila Hott, Moorefield, and C. J. Everline, III, of LaVale; three sisters, Mrs. Roy Rummel, McConnelsburg, Pa., Mrs. Winfred Tritle, Fort Loudoun, Pa., and Mrs. Oliver Mowen, Mercersburg, Pa.; and three brothers, John Helman and Herbert Helman, both of McConnelsburg, Pa., and Irvin Helman, Newville, Pa.

A service was held in the Duffey Memorial Methodist Church yesterday and interment was in Olivet Cemetery. Helman was employed by the State Road Commission.

FULLER SERVICE

KEYSER, W. Va.—A funeral service for James R. Fuller, 74, 95 Spring Street, will be held today at 10 a. m. at the Rogers Funeral Home here. Rev. O. H. Dorsey, pastor of First Methodist Church, Keyser, will officiate and burial will be in Queen's Point Cemetery.

A brother of former Cumberland Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller, Mr. Fuller died Saturday night at his home here. He was a native of Cumberland and a retired B. and O. Railroad conductor. He belonged to the First Methodist Church and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

HOWARD G. LILLER

KEYSER, W. Va. — Howard G. Liller, 59, died of a heart attack yesterday at his home, 80 Virginia Street. He was found dead in bed. Liller resided here all his life and was employed at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops.

He was the son of the late Pierce and Susan Whitacre Liller.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Howard Liller; a daughter, Mrs. Ona Mangold, Keyser; and two brothers, Herman Liller and Leo Liller, both of Keyser.

A service will be held at the home tomorrow at 2 p. m. Rev. Robert Bridges of the Potomac Park United Brethren Church, and Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Keyser, will officiate. Interment will be in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

J. ZACK STEWART

KEYSER, W. Va.—J. Zack Stewart, 71, died Sunday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Otis Tyler, 266 South Main Street, following a year's illness.

Born in Parkersburg, W. Va., he was the son of the late William and Susan Parrish Stewart. He had lived here 44 years. He was a retired carpenter and for the last year had operated a grocery store on South Water Street. He was a member of Queens Point Lodge No. 78, IOOF.

Survivors in addition to his daughter, include his wife, Mrs. Eudora May Welch Stewart, and one other daughter, Mrs. Madeline Helman, Keyser; one son, Claude S. Stewart; two brothers, Frank Stewart, Keyser, and George Stewart, of Belington, and four sisters, Mrs. Della Bowman, Mrs. Bertha Porter, Mrs. Lucretia Lynch and Mrs. Mary See, all of Keyser.

A service will be held tomorrow at the home, South Water Street, with Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, officiating. Burial will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

FRANK W. RAWLINGS

KEYSER, W. Va.—Frank Wright Rawlings, 66, died Sunday afternoon at his home on Knobley Road.

He is survived by his wife, Helena May Rawlings; a daughter, Pauline Rawlings, and a son, Roland Rawlings, all at home.

A service will be held at the home tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. Interment will be in the Queens Point Cemetery.

McBRIDE SERVICE

KEYSER, W. Va.—A funeral service for Robert McBride, Sr., who died at his home on E Street Wednesday was held from the Grace Methodist Church Saturday with Rev. H. S. Myerly, pastor, and Rev. Perry Cox, Romney, pastor of the Emmanuel Episcopal Church here, officiating. Burial was in Queens Point Cemetery.

Pallbearers were William Quinn, James Cromer, K. K. Mawhinney, Thomas Collinns, J. P. Judy and Elliott Jenkins.

Honorary bearers were G. K. McCluston, Grant Rohrbaugh, Granville Bowman, Frank Price, D. Freeland and Fred Warner.

Keyser Churches Get New Pastors

KEYSER, W. Va., — Rev. L. A. Steele, who has been pastor at Pineville Methodist Church for the past five years, was named pastor of the First Methodist Church here at the conference of West Virginia Methodist Churches held in Huntington last week. He will succeed Rev. Owen H. Dorsey who was transfered to Mullens.

Rev. H. S. Myerely, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church here, was returned to Keyser for the seventh consecutive year.

Rev. Robert L. Bridgers, son of Rev. L. G. Bridgers, who has been pastor of the Keyser Evangelical United Brethren Church for several years, was named to succeed his father as pastor of the local United Brethren Church at the conference held in Staunton last week.

The elder Rev. Bridgers, who has been seriously ill at his home here for the past several weeks, was not reassigned and will remain in Keyser.

Since 1858 Mount Vernon has been enlarged to 475 acres.

Taft-Hartley Law Will Be Debated At Town Meeting

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—Back in New York, America's town meeting is to turn its debate on the question "Should the Taft-Hartley law be repealed?" when it comes on the ABC air at 8:30 Tuesday night. The usual panel of four will supply the argument.

The announced speakers are Sen. Joseph R. Ball of Minnesota, Sen. Jos. D. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Sec. of Labor Maurice Tobin and J. Mack Swigart of Cincinnati.

It's a date says Judy, for Date With Judy returns from a summer absence to its 8:30 time on NBC. Louise Erickson continues in the lead. Also in the Supper Club, NBC at 7, Jo Stafford, resumes her scheduling, cut this year at once a week.

MBS says it has decided not to return Under Arrest until mid-October, so it is continuing another who-dun-it, Lone Wolf, in the 9:30 half-hour for any and all listeners tuning in. . . . CBS, in starting a new 9:30 sketch last week, announced it as "Little Immigrant." This week it had changed that announcement to "Life With Luigi." Same show, however.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The New Era Begins

WABD, the Dumont television station in New York, has announced that it plans full daytime programming from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. starting next month. It'll be the most strenuous daytime television television schedule in New York—or anywhere else, probably—since the darn thing was invented and it'll be aimed at that good old consumer, the housewife. It had to come, of course. We have been living in a fool's paradise and naturally this condition couldn't last forever.

John Crosby

The housewife who had her ears glued to the radio all day now may spend her waking hour communing with her television set. What effect this will have on the nation's housework I hesitate to say. The girls used to be able to do the ironing without missing a single one of Portia's misadventures. But can a housewife lead this same double life—her hands committed to domesticity, her mind far away in the illicit delights of infidelity—when she has to look and listen simultaneously? What happens to hubbie's shirt when John's other wife wails that this is the end, positively the end?

• — • — •

As a matter of fact, soap opera doesn't figure in WABD's plans. There'll be programs on child care, shopping, sewing, cosmetics, setting up exercises, religion, weather and news. However the problem remains. The housewife, already deprived by radio of one of her senses, is scheduled to lose another to television. Can she carry on with just three? My friend George Mainwaring is convinced she can.

"Look," says George. "Did you ever see a woman climb aboard a bus with a wailing child in one arm and two bags of groceries in the other and fumble through her handbag for six cents? If they can do that, they can do anything. Eventually they'll get the feelies in the home and then housewives will lose the use of their hands too. Don't worry about it. They'll do the housework with their feet."

WABD is not quite so optimistic. Feeling that a housewife should be able to move around a bit, the station is arranging things so that sound alone will carry much of the hints on sewing, cooking, fashions, child care and the rest of the list. However—and this is a pregnant sentence—"When viewing is necessary as for some outstanding event, an audio signal will cue the listener to watch the screen," says WABD.

Hmmm.

What sort of audio signal? On the radio the audio signals, the ones that strive most clamorously for our attention, are galloping hooves, pistol shots, a musical saw which says B. O., train whistles, and train whistles, and four girls singing: "When I Duz my wash I sing, D-U-Z does everything." These are intended only to put a brand name into our consciousness, not to galvanize us into hurtling downstairs to the livingroom to look at some outsanding event. That, I bet, will require an even more strident noise, if there are any. A siren, at least.

I have no idea, but it might be a good idea for the housewives to limber up with a little sprint practice right now. To get from the clothesline in the back yard to the television screen in the livingroom, the girls will have to be pretty fast on their feet.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS: A couple of weeks ago, I expressed surprise at the strange behavior of bats when they heard Benny Goodman's old twelve-inch recording of "More Than You Know." Mr. Goodman's clarinet drove the bats right out of their chimney home, though nobody else's clarinet had the same effect. My attention has since been called to an item in the "Wisconsin Conservation Bulletin" of September, 1947, which reported that the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries had been called in to chase the bats out of Mardi Gras floats. The department tried every noise-making device it could think of without getting anywhere. Then some genius brought in a jukebox and played a Frank Sinatra record. The bats fled.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The New Era Begins

WABD, the Dumont television station in New York, has announced that it plans full daytime programming from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. starting next month. It'll be the most strenuous daytime television schedule in New York—or anywhere else, probably—since the darn thing was invented and it'll be aimed at that good old consumer, the housewife. It had to come, of course. We have been living in a fool's paradise and naturally this condition couldn't last forever.

John Crosby

The housewife who had her ears glued to the radio all day now may spend her waking hour communing with her television set. What effect this will have on the nation's housework I hesitate to say. The girls used to be able to do the ironing without missing a single one of Portia's misadventures. But can a housewife lead this same double life—her hands committed to domesticity, her mind far away in the illicit delights of infidelity—when she has to look and listen simultaneously? What happens to hubbie's shirt when John's other wife wails that this is the end, positively the end?

As a matter of fact, soap opera doesn't figure in WABD's plans. There'll be programs on child care, shopping, sewing, cosmetics, setting up exercises, religion, weather and news. However the problem remains. The housewife, already deprived by radio of one of her senses, is scheduled to lose another to television. Can she carry on with just three? My friend George Mainwaring is convinced she can.

"Look," says George. "Did you ever see a woman climb aboard a bus with a wailing child in one arm and two bags of groceries in the other and fumble through her handbag for six cents? If they can do that, they can do anything. Eventually they'll get the feelies in the home and then housewives will lose the use of their hands too. Don't worry about it. They'll do the housework with their feet."

WABD is not quite so optimistic. Feeling that a housewife should be able to move around a bit, the station is arranging things so that sound alone will carry much of the hints on sewing, cooking, fashions, child care and the rest of the list. However—and this is a pregnant sentence—"When viewing is necessary as for some outstanding event, an audio signal will cue the listener to watch the screen," says WABD.

Hmmm.

What sort of audio signal? On the radio the audio signals, the ones that strive most clamorously for our attention, are galloping hooves, pistol shots, a musical saw which says B. O., train whistles, and train whistles, and four girls singing: "When I Duz my wash I sing, D-U-Z does everything." These are intended only to put a brand name into our consciousness, not to galvanize us into hurtling downstairs to the livingroom to look at some outsanding event. That, I bet, will require an even more strident noise, if there are any. A siren, at least.

I have no idea, but it might be a good idea for the housewives to limber up with a little sprint practice right now. To get from the clothesline in the back yard to the television screen in the livingroom, the girls will have to be pretty fast on their feet.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS: A couple of weeks ago, I expressed surprise at the strange behavior of bats when they heard Benny Goodman's old twelve-inch recording of "More Than You Know." Mr. Goodman's clarinet drove the bats right out of their chimney home, though nobody else's clarinet had the same effect. My attention has since been called to an item in the "Wisconsin Conservation Bulletin" of September, 1947, which reported that the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries had been called in to chase the bats out of Mardi Gras floats. The department tried every noise-making device it could think of without getting anywhere. Then some genius brought in a jukebox and played a Frank Sinatra record. The bats fled.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27 (INS)—I have to admit that Howard Hughes goes after what he wants — and usually gets it.

Jane Powell

I told you a week ago that he had sent a signed contract to Germany to Cary Grant, who is making "I was a male war bride" there with Ann Sheridan.

Now, that contract, taken to Germany for Cary's signature by his lawyer, Morton Garbus, has come back signed, sealed and delivered.

Most of the columnists have commented on Marlene Dietrich playing nursemaid to her grandchild on the sidewalks of New York. But her method of operation is good for a chuckle.

Marlene arrives at her daughter's house daily, steps out of her chauffered car, goes upstairs only to return in a moment or two with the buggy and the baby tucked neatly inside.

The odd entourage starts—Grandma Dietrich, arrayed in jewels and mink, pushing the carriage with the car and chauffeur trailing along at snail's pace beside them.

When, and if, she gets tired, baby, buggy and Marlene step into the limousine and ride home.

Chatter in Hollywood: Jane Powell, MGM's youthful singer, is madly in love with Geary Steffens, Sonja Henie's former skating partner. She doesn't care who knows it.

The death of Warren William from multiple myeloma is sad. There seems to be no cure for this dreaded disease.

Mrs. William talked to me a few weeks ago to thank me for urging Warren's friends to write him. She said he had such a generous response, and was pleased. She also begged me not to mention how ill he was.

Such a short time ago he was one of our most active male stars. Remember when he played opposite Claudette Colbert and other top favorites?

He resembled John Barrymore, and in his hey-day was extremely popular.

All you who aid the starving children of Europe are doing a shining deed. Groucho Marx has just adopted Robert Marcasse, 12-year-old French boy, under the foster parent plan for War Orphans, Inc. Robert's real father is trying to take care of five motherless children. The mother was killed in a concentration camp.

Under this plan, Groucho is legally his father, and will support the boy, but the child stays in Paris with his family. Care week is here, and if you havent' sent food—do it now!

That was Federal Judge Streit with attractive Ann Rutherfora at Ciro's.

Bill Hawks and Mrs. Ormond Judge are an item these days. She is Arline's ex-sister-in-law. At one time Bill beaued Arline around.

I may have Van Johnson for a neighbor. Hear he and Evie are looking at a house in Beverly Hills on Maple Drive.

Barney Ross has a job as sales manager for a beer company.

In "Sorry, Wrong Number" it was Ed Begley who turned in the splendid performance as Barbara Stanwyck's father, and not Harold Vermilyea—sorry, I had the wrong number.

Georgie Jessel, who gets around plenty, and Lynn Merrick, Conrad Nagel's ex, have been dating.

Cleatus Caldwell has been voted the most beautiful girl now in Paris by experts.

Nancy Kelly goes to New York to play in "Sweet Poison." She'll be there at the same time the boy friend, Bill Eythe, takes his play "Lend An Ear" to the big town.

N.T.G. and Henry Sugerman of the Beverly Tropics have their heads together and hope to open the Florentine Gardens early in November.

That's all today.

Army tackles Bert Aton and Frank Barnes are from Kentucky. Aton resides in Louisville and Barnes in Hopkinsville.

Former Minister Dies In Hartford

LONACONING — Rev. Selden Connor Adams, 72, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church for 12 years, died yesterday morning in Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Conn. of a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was born in Millbury, Mass., May 12, 1876. He was ordained by the Presbytery of Lima, Ohio, in 1905 and, after a brief Ohio pastorate, spent several years in Oregon doing Presbyterian Church missionary work. Rev. Adams then held pastorates in Chicago and Danville, Ill. During World War I, he was a Boy Scout executive at Clarksburg, W. Va., and Canton, Ohio.

Rev. Adams came to Lonaconing in the winter of 1929 from East Lansing, Mich., where he had been one of the ministers of the People's Church, student religious center for Michigan State College.

He was pastor of First Presbyterian Church here until he retired in May, 1941. At that time Rev. and Mrs. Adams purchased a home in Granby, Conn., and have remained there ever since. In Connecticut, Rev. Adams was active in religious and community affairs until about a year ago when his health began to fail. He was the local leader of the Red Cross drive and supplied several churches in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Rev. Carlyle Adams, pastor of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, Albany, N. Y., and Robert Neal Adams, New Haven, Conn., a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Layburn, Hartford, Conn., and five grandchildren.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Lt. Junior Fred Digman who was killed over Germany September 27th, 1943.
I miss you dear son,
I miss your frequent letter.
I miss your pleasant smile.
I miss your little visits,
When you'd linger for awhile.
I often sit and think of you
When I am all alone,
And of the happy days gone by
When we were all at home.
What a beautiful memory you left behind.
Sadly missed by his mother.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Lt. Junior Fred Digman who was killed over Germany September 27th, 1943.
I miss you dear son,
I miss your frequent letter,
I miss your pleasant smile,
I miss your little visits,
When you'd linger for awhile.
I often sit and think of you
When I am all alone,
And of the happy days gone by
When we were all at home.
What a beautiful memory you left behind.
Sadly missed by his mother.

Stock Prices Drop One To Four Points As Echo Of Berlin Crisis

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Losses ranging from one to greater than four points pushed the stock market to its lowest level in more than five months today as an echo of the Berlin crisis.

The three Western Powers consider Russia's blockade of Berlin a threat to peace and intend to ask emergency action by the Security Council of the United Nations in Paris.

During the downward movement there were 118 new lows for the year uncovered. Pepsi-Cola was the most active stock in the list at a new low of 9¼, off five-eighths.

Very shortly after the opening, rails took the leading part in the decline and continued steadily lower with only a brief pause here and there.

Some of the widest losses were made by leaders in this group. Santa Fe fell 4¾ to 115⅛, Nickel Plate was off 4¼ at 77¼, Southern Railway lost 3¼ at 41½ and others dropped one to more than two points, including Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, and Illinois Central.

Aircrafts were steady with fractional chances in either direction. Consolidated Vultee was among the 10 most active stocks and remained unchanged.

Among others falling were United States Steel off two at 77¼, Youngstown Sheet and Tube off 2¼ at 78⅛, National Steel off 2¼ at 97¼, General Motors off 1½ at 59, Kennecott off 2⅞ at 53½, Standard Oil (NJ) off 1⅞ at 73½, the second most active stock in the list, Texas Company down 2⅛, Gulf Oil and Mission Corporation both down 1¾, American Tobacco, United States Gypsum, du Pont, Oliver Corporation and American Smelting.

Boeing was up one-eighth, and United Aircraft was unchanged.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Winifred H. Said vs. Mohammed Ben Said. No. 20921 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County.

The object of this suit is to procure a Decree divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The Bill of Complaint states on the 17th day of August, 1946 the parties were married in New York City, where they lived together as husband and wife until the 9th day of November, 1946 when the said defendant abandoned and deserted the plaintiff and declared his intention to live with her no longer and that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly from that time down to the present time and that said abandonment is for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable hope of reconciliation.

That no children have been born to said parties of this marriage. That the plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland and has been so all of her life and that the defendant is a resident of New York, State of New York, and a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon this 27th day of September, 1948 ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County that the plaintiff, by causing this order to be inserted in some certain newspaper published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks, before the 29th day of October, 1948 giving notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this Bill and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 15th day of November, 1948, to show cause if any he has why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Stock Prices Drop One To Four Points As Echo Of Berlin Crisis

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Losses ranging from one to greater than four points pushed the stock market to its lowest level in more than five months today as an echo of the Berlin crisis.

The three Western Powers consider Russia's blockade of Berlin a threat to peace and intend to ask emergency action by the Security Council of the United Nations in Paris.

During the downward movement there were 118 new lows for the year uncovered. Pepsi-Cola was the most active stock in the list at a new low of 9¼, off five-eighths.

Some of the widest losses were made by leaders in this group. Santa Fe fell 4⅝ to 115½, Nickel Plate was off 4¼ at 77¼, Southern Railway lost 3¼ at 41½ and others dropped one to more than two points, including Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, and Illinois Central.

Aircrafts were steady with fractional chances in either direction. Consolidated Vultee was among the 10 most active stocks and remained unchanged.

Among others falling were United States Steel off two at 77¼, Youngstown Sheet and Tube off 2¼ at 78¼, National Steel off 2¼ at 97¼, General Motors off 1½ at 59, Kennecott off 2⅝ at 53½, Standard Oil (NJ) off 1⅞ at 73½, the second most active stock in the list, Texas Company down 2⅛, Gulf Oil and Mission Corporation both down 1¾, American Tobacco, United States Gypsum, du Font, Oliver Corporation and American Smelting.

Boeing was up one-eighth, and United Aircraft was unchanged.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Winifred H. Said vs. Mohammed Ben Said. No. 20921 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County.

The object of this suit is to procure a Decree divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The Bill of Complaint states on the 17th day of August, 1946 the parties were married in New York City, where they lived together as husband and wife until the 9th day of November, 1946 when the said defendant abandoned and deserted the plaintiff and declared his intention to live with her no longer and that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly from that time down to the present time and that said abandonment is for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable hope of reconciliation.

That no children have been born to said parties of this marriage. That the plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland and has been so all of her life and that the defendant is a resident of New York, State of New York, and a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon this 27th day of September, 1948 ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County that the plaintiff, by causing this order to be inserted in some certain newspaper published in Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks, before the 29th day of October, 1948 giving notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this Bill and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 15th day of November, 1948, to show cause if any he has why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

City Accepts Phelps Offer On Flood Sale

Two Bids Received After Deadline

The Mayor and Council yesterday accepted the bid of Phelps, Fenn and Company, New York City, and their associates for $700,000 in serial bonds for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

The session was a continuation of the regular Monday morning meeting of the Mayor and Council, which was recessed at noon until 2:30 because of paper work involved in figuring which bid would cost the city less money on its investment.

Two Received Late

Two of the nine sealed bids, both from New York firms, were received by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz by mail after the other bids had been opened at the 11 o'clock deadline yesterday morning. Neither topped the Phelps offer, however, officials pointed out.

The bid of Phelps, Fenn and Company offered an interest rate of four per cent annually on $84,000 bonds maturing from 1950 to 1952, inclusive; and interest at 2.20 per cent yearly on $336,000 due 1963 to 1974, inclusive.

Other firms associated with the Phelps concern are Braun, Bosworth and Company, Inc.; Ferris and Company, and C. T. Williams and Company, Inc.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson pointed out that the average interest rate of the Phelps bid was 2.192 per cent, lowest of the nine offers.

Highest Rate Cited

Highest average interest rate was 2.546357 in the bid of Drexel and Company, New York City, associated with Mackubin, Legg and Company; Mead, Miller and Company, and Robert Garrett and Sons.

One indication of the keen bidding, Buchholtz said, was the fact that the range of the average interest rate was only about one-third of one per cent from the highest to the lowest bids.

That firm, whose bid was one of the last two to be received, offered an annual interest rate of four per cent on $112,000 of bonds to mature from 1950 to 1953 inclusive; two per cent on $308,000 to mature from 1954 to 1964 inclusive; 2.20 per cent on $84,000 of bonds to mature from 1965 to 1967, inclusive; and 2.30 per cent on $196,000 of bonds due from 1968 to 1974 inclusive. The firm also offered to pay a premium of 42 cents per $100, or $2,940.

Third lowest bidder was Union Securities Corporation, New York

VANISHING VISION-- Once a good spot for a quick stop to hurry to the Postoffice or business district, the area in front of the Western Maryland freight shed on South Mechanic Street has been marked off as a safety zone. Police said automobiles parking in the area, like the one above, is just a scene that "has vanished."

Mineral County Circuit Clerk Dies In Keyser

Eight-Year Illness Claims Paul Dayton

KEYSER, W. Va.—Paul Wagoner Dayton, 56, clerk of the Circuit Court in Mineral County for the past 24 years, died yesterday shortly after 2 p. m. at his home, 300 South Main Street, Keyser.

Mr. Dayton had been stricken with a heart condition approximately eight years ago, but had been able to attend to his duties most of the time. About two months ago he became worse and was confined to his home.

He was born in Mineral County, a son of the late Patrick M. and Amanda Wagoner Dayton. He received his early education in Mineral County rural schools and later attended Potomac State Normal School, Keyser. Mr. Dayton also studied agriculture at West Virginia University, Morgantown.

For several years he served as a field agent for the West Virginia Department of Agriculture. In 1925 he was appointed clerk of the 21st Judicial Circuit Court to fill an unexpired term. He was elected to the same position in 1926 and has filled it ever since.

R. Purdy Shawkey, president of Marshall College, Huntington, until 1935, mentions Mr. Dayton in his book, "West Virginia, Its History, Life Literature and Industries," published in 1928.

He pointed out that at least two generations of the Dayton family preceded Mr. Dayton in Mineral County and were active members of the Republican Party in that period. The late Patrick Dayton was County Assessor for 12 years.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Dayton served as a first lieutenant with the 37th U. S. Field Artillery and was later a member of Boyce-Houser Post No. 41, American Legion, Keyser.

He also belonged to Davis Lodge No. 51, A. F. and A. M., and Grace Methodist Church, Keyser.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Lillian Hite Taylor Dayton, Mr. Dayton is survived by two sons, William Patrick Dayton and Paul Taylor Dayton, both of Keyser, two brothers, Robert P. Dayton, Ridgeley, W. Va.; and Oliver J. Dayton, Keyser, and four sisters, Mrs. Blanche Nottingham, Machipongo, Va.; Mrs. Mabel Snyder, and Mrs. Ruth Blackwell, both of Hanover, Md., and Mrs. Mary Borrer, Ridgeley.

A funeral service will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in Grace Methodist Church with Rev. H. S. Myerly, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

Police Investigate Theft Of Liquor

The theft of 120 miniature bottles of liquor from the Charlton Brothers warehouse, 802 Lafayette Avenue, was being probed last night after the owner said someone entered the building over the weekend.

An attempted breaking and entering at Bopp's Flower Shop, 75 Baltimore Street, was also being investigated, after police were told someone climbed to the roof of the green house and attempted to force a window.

L. N. Miller, 7 Cresap Street, told police that a carbureter was stolen from his car while it was parked in front of his home. Police said it is the second auto carbureter theft reported in the past week.

Cletus Felter, 539 Columbia Avenue, reported that a hydraulic jack and two large coal scoops were stolen from his home between Saturday night and yesterday.

The Weather

The Indian Summer days couldn't last, it seems. The weatherman is predicting cloudiness and scattered rains for today. Yesterday was a little too warm for the winter clothes that weather-wary Cumberlanders were wearing. The thermometer climbed up to 75 degrees after registering a down right cold overnight low of 39. However, late last night's 52 was higher than it has been in some time at that hour.

Cresaptown Youth Hurt In Motorcycle Mishap

Attaches said that the youth was hurt while riding a motorcycle on the Mason Road but they knew no details. He was reported in good condition. X-rays will be taken today.

Charles Detrick, Ridgeley, W. Va., who was admitted yesterday at 11 a. m. to the same hospital, for treatment of "back injuries" received when he fell while at work at the Celanese Plant, is in good condition. Attaches reported that X-rays show no serious injuries.

No Parking In South Mechanic Safety Zone Means Just That

Old "Temptation" For Motorists Ends

A restricted area on South Mechanic Street that has long been a "temptation" to motorists seeking a convenient parking spot, yesterday became a safety zone for bus patrons and pedestrians.

Officials of the Traffic Division plainly painted the area in front of the Western Maryland freight shed and announced that buses which formerly stopped farther up South Mechanic Street, henceforth would stop in the newly painted area to take on and discharge passengers.

The enforcement was hard to believe for some motorists who have been parking there but an officer stationed in the zone blocked parking yesterday and he will remain there until the public is educated to the idea.

Restricting the zone is the first move toward making South Mechanic Street a two-way thoroughfare under the program to ease traffic conditions in downtown Cumberland.

Officials said that motorists were very willing to conform after the traffic officer explained the reasons and informed them that all automobiles will be barred from parking there in the future.

The old custom of stopping to take on or let out passengers will have to be stopped too, officials said, if the true meaning of the safety zone is to be enforced.

Police said that no violation charges were made yesterday when motorists stopped in the area. Instead, the officer explained the new regulation and asked them to move on.

One or two automobiles were seen in the zone but they were quickly moved after motorists were informed the long time no parking restriction posted there means just that.

Vets For Dewey Being Organized

A Republican Veterans for Dewey and Warren organization is being set up in Allegany County with William H. Geppert, Cumberland attorney and member of the House of Delegates, as chairman.

Geppert was appointed Allegany County chairman by Gen. D. John Markey (retired), Frederick Republican, who is Maryland chairman.

An organization of veterans will be created in the county, Geppert said, with the prime purpose of getting all Republican veterans out to vote for Dewey and Warren and Congressman J. Glenn Beall on November 2.

While plans are still in the formative stage, Geppert predicted that a strong-knit organization will be established and that there will be considerable activity in connection with the campaign.

Geppert, who served in the Navy during World War II for five years, most of the time in the Pacific, said he will appoint a vice chairman in the near future.

Youth, 9, Runs Against Truck

A 9-year-old Green Point Addition youth, who police said darted from his front yard against the side of a truck on Route 36 yesterday at 5 p. m., was treated for lacerations in Allegany Hospital.

Attaches said Joseph Cioni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cioni, suffered lacerations of the scalp and abrasions about the body. He was treated and discharged.

Police said no charges were preferred against Harmon L. Robinette, Baltimore Avenue, who was operating a Maryland State Roads Commission truck.

Local Briefs

Cresaptown American Legion Auxiliary Chapter No. 209 will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the Legion home to make plans for the annual installation of officers. Mrs. Edna Hounshell, chapter president, said last night that a social planned by the auxiliary for tonight and tomorrow at the post home has been postponed indefinitely.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the post home. Clyde Kuhns, chairman of the entertainment committee, has arranged for showing of motion pictures after the business session.

Rev. R. M. Crowe Heads Methodist Ministers Unit

Rev. B. Ralph Mark Is Elected Vice President

The Cumberland sub-district of the Methodist Ministerium yesterday elected Rev. Raymond M. Crowe, Midland, president of the organization to succeed Rev. Watson E. Holley, Frostburg.

Rev. B. Ralph Mark, LaVale, was elected vice president and Rev. Joseph W. Young was re-elected secretary of the organization which embraces Tri-State area churches.

Rev. Winfield Hall, Paw Paw, W. Va., was elected treasurer and Rev. Mark was appointed chairman of the program committee. Rev. Norman Scribner, Centre Street Methodist Church, was appointed librarian.

The group was informed that a new projection machine has been purchased and is available for use in all Methodist churches of the Cumberland sub-district.

Committee chairmen making reports included Rev. Gordon Jones, Emmanuel Methodist Church, Cumberland, Rev. Gordon Hall, Union Grove; Rev. Ralph Mark, LaVale; Rev. Allen B. L. Fisher, Grace Methodist; Rev. Rosco Hall, Hyndman, Pa.; Rev. C. Fred Crowe, Ellerslie; Rev. Raymond Crowe, Midland, and Rev. Watson Holley, Frostburg.

Rev. Holley announced that an interdenominational training school will be held in Frostburg October 27, 28, 29 and November 3, 4 and 5 for all Sunday School teachers.

Rev. Gordon Hall said a series of meetings for the lay members of the Methodist church will be held at Pleasant Grove October 5 through October 17.

Following the business meeting many of the members spoke on their summer vacations and set October 25 as the date for the next meeting to be held in the Centerville Methodist Church, of the Bedford Valley Circuit.

Paper Collection Nets Three Tons First Day

About three tons of paper were collected yesterday in LaVale, Potomac Park, Bowling Green, Bedford Road from Nave's Crossroad to State Line and Baltimore Pike to Miller's Service Station in the first day of the monthly drive.

Today, collections will be made on the West Side.

To Observe Anniversary

Cumberland Optimist Club will hold its second anniversary dinner and ladies night meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club Friday, beginning at 6:30 p. m. A dance will follow.

According to Robert S. Arrington, president, there will be no regular meeting Wednesday of this week because of the ladies night and annivrsary affair.

Charter Group Offers Views On City Elections

Suggests Realignment Of Voting Places

Primary elections in Cumberland should be conducted by the county Board of Election Supervisors rather than by the city clerk, according to recommendations made last night in a preliminary report of the Cumberland Charter Commission's sub-committee on nominations and elections.

The report, read by John M. Robb, sub - committee chairman, pointed out that the present practice places too great a burden on the city clerk, and that the general city elections are conducted by the Board.

Alternative Suggested

The group's other recommendations with regard to drawing up the proposed new charter were as follows:

1. The new charter should contain a clause permitting, but not requiring, the use of voting machines in city elections.
2. Establishment of a seventh city ward.
3. Omit geographical delineation of precincts, which would be determined by city ordinance.
4. When any precinct numbers 1,000 or more voters, it should by ordinance be broken down into two precincts, with the voters therein divided as equally as possible.
5. City, county and state polling places should be made the same, if possible. (The report cites the fact that Saginaw, Mich., solved this problem by constituting that city as one election district of its county). This point was raised for discussion, with no definite recommendation.

The report points out that the lines of somt city wards may need adjusting, where there is inequal burden on polling places, adding that this could be determined jointly by the Board of Election Supervisors, the Mayor and Council and the city engineer.

October 18 Deadline

Attending the meeting in City Hall as a private citizen, W. A. Spruill, 743 Washington Street, local real estate man, offered several suggestions regarding the new city charter

He said the city should pay for paving all intersections and new streets, as well as for repaving streets and sidewalks This work, he said, should be supervised by the city engineer.

Spruill said the duties of the street commissioner should remain the same, minus the supervision of street paving. The commissioner, he added, should have charge of garbage removal and a general "clean-up" of the city twice yearly.

Loan Association Buys Henderson Office Building

A deed was filed for record at the office of the clerk of court yesterday, showing the sale of the Henderson Building on Pershing Street to the Western Maryland Building and Loan Association, Inc., for a consideration of approximately $28,000 according to attached tax stamps.

The property was conveyed by George H. Henderson and his wife, Joan Henderson, and others.

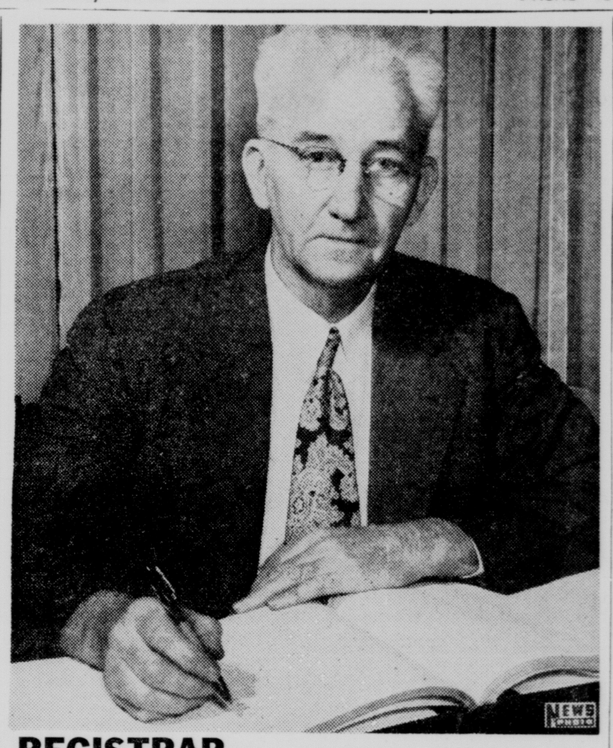

The structure, a three-story brick, houses the Western Maryland Building and Loan and Peter Pan Cleaners on the street floor, the law offices of Cobey, Carscaden and Gilchrist on the second floor and apartments on the third floor.

A lease was filed in clerk's office from Norman Kline to the Hi-Dee Club, Inc., for property at 136-138 North Mechanic Street. The document was signed by Kline as landlord, and Edward L. Belfoufe, president, and Joseph L. Belfoure, secretary-treasurer, of the Hi-Dee Club. The lease is for a 10-year period with rental at a fixed fee for the first two years, a higher fee for the next three years and a higher-fixed fee for the last five years.

Granted Divorce

A divorce decree was signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., for Kathleen De Lesline, near Westernport, vs William M. DeLesline, Atlantic City, N. J. She was given the right to resume her former name, Kathleen M. Foster.

REGISTRAR-- Today is the first of two registration days before the presidential election in November. Shown here is Gerald Brode at District No. 5, Precinct No. 4, A to J, 307 Franklin Street, ready to begin registering new voters and re-registering those whose names have been removed. Many names were stricken from the records for failure to vote and persons in doubt about the status of their franchise rights should go to their polling place today and register. There are 75 precincts in the county, all of which will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. today. A second registration day will be held October 5.

Mine Bureau Report Shows 2,240 Men Employed In State Operations

Garrett Production Exceeds Allegany

The 25th annual report of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, of which Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., is director and John T. Rutledge is chief mine engineer, has just been released covering the fiscal year 1947.

Published in booklet form, the report covers coal and fire clay mining in Allegany and Garrett counties, the only areas in Maryland where mines are operated.

In Allegany County, during the calendar year, mines employed 658 miners, 99 drivers (including motormen, brakemen, etc.) 163 inside laborers and 220 outside employes, making a total of 1,140 men.

The production of coal in Allegany County for the 12-month period was 904,134.13 net tons. This indicates a production average of 1,374.06 net tons per man.

Contrary to popular opinion here, Garrett County produced more coal for the year, employed fewer men and yielded a higher average production per man than Allegany County. The report shows Garrett County mined 1,145,861.17 net tons. A total of 1,022 men was employed for an average per man production of 2,392.19 net tons, or a thousand tons more than Allegany County miners produced. In Garrett County employes included 479 miners, 133 drivers (including motormen, brakemen, etc.), 175 inside laborers and 235 outside employes.

Fire clay production in the two counties totaled 202,054.05 net tons. Of this amount, 45,895 net tons came from Garrett County clay mines and 156,159.05 net tons were mined in Allegany. Garrett County clay mines, all strip operations employed five employes for an average production of 9,179 net tons per man.

In Allegany County there were in 1947, 43 miners, 12 drivers, 14 inside laborers and four outside employes for a total of 73 men. The production average was 3,631.6 net tons per man for the year.

First Area Draftees Due At Local Office Oct. 5

The first contingent of area draftees will come to the Cumberland Main Recruiting Station October 5, according to First Lt. George J. Gocke, recruiter-in-charge.

He said that he has been advised that 10 men will be sent from that city for preliminary physical and mental examinations at the local office. So far, he has not received word concerning draftees from any other section of this area.

Recent enlistments announced were Thomas R. Crambitt, 12 Laing Avenue, a former member of the 88th Infantry Division, going to the U. S. Constabulary Corps; Keith S. Ours, Petersburg, W. Va., Regular Army, unassigned; Robert Ronald Witt, Mt. Savage, United States Air Force, unassigned; Thomas William Folk, Route 2, Frostburg, Regular Army, unassigned, and Robert Lee Grimes, Frostburg, Regular Army, unassigned.

Although WAF S. Sgt. Marian C. Liupersbeck, of the Maryland Recruiting District left Friday, Lt. Gocke said that applications for the Woman's Army Corps and Women in the Air Force are still coming in at the station.

Among those passing the preliminary tests recently are Miss Pat Robinson, Luke, WAC; Miss Margaret Wagner, RFD 5, WAF; Miss Virginia Hannas, Keyser, W. Va., WAC; Miss Delores Fletcher, 99 Fayette Street, this city, WAF, and Miss Helen Ault, Independence Street, WAC.

Miss Ault served with the WAC for two years and one month during World War II. She was discharged June 17, 1946 with a T-5 rating.

Spiritual Ideals Support Nations, Minister Declares

Dr. Sloan Stresses Need Of Religion

The conquest of any civilization is brought about by its disregard for spiritual principles and not by armed might, Dr. Harold Paul Sloan, Methodist clergyman, told approximately 60 ministers and lay persons at the Central YMCA yesterday.

One of several speakers on a national tour to promote new loyalty to the spiritual ideals underlying the democratic system, Dr. Sloan, noted editor and speaker, explained that the basis of American democracy is the desire to worship God.

"When a nation or group of people loses sight of the principles of religion it is on its way to decay," the onetime editor of the Christian Advocate, told his audience.

After tracing the decay of civilizations during the past 1,000 years, Dr. Sloan pointed to the periodic civil strife in France and Mexico and explained that both countries have populations of which the large percentage professes no religion whatever.

In France, according to Dr. Sloan, the 40,000,000 population is made up of 9,000,000 Catholics, 1,000,000 Protestants with the rest professing no faith and for the most denying all religious principles.

France, he explained, has suffered numerous upheavals as a result of its apathy toward religion, the Philadelphia clergyman said, adding that in Mexico where similar conditions exist the country has been torn by an average of two revolutions a year for a long period.

After explaining the reason for the formation of each of the American colonies and the democratic principles that have resulted, Dr. Sloan told the group that Communism and Democracy are separated by many beliefs but added the principal dividing mark is that "Communism believes the individual is created for the state, while Democracy believes and practices a doctrine based on the idea that the state is created to better serve the individual."

Veteran Returns To U. S. Marine Corps

A veteran of one year's service in the U. S. Marine Corps, James A. Blankenship, Springfield, W. Va., re-enlisted for three years, according to T. Sgt. Vernon B. Debnam of the local recruiting office.

Sgt. Debnam also said that enlistments are now being taken to fill the October quota and that unlimited re-enlistments may be taken at the Cumberland office.

City Purchasing Division Favored In Group Report

Finance Director Post Suggested

A separate division of purchasing in the city's financial department was recommended in a preliminary report submitted last night to the Cumberland Charter Commission by its sub-committee on finance.

The group making the report also recommended that in the proposed new city charter, a department of finance be set up, headed by a director of finance.

The director would prepare the annual city budget, supervise and be responsible for all expenditures, maintain a general accounting system for the city, be responsible for the assessment of all property within the city, collect all taxes and other city revenues, have custody of all city funds, supervise and be responsible for all city purchasing, and prepare and submit to the city council necessary reports.

Four Divisions

Also recommended in the preliminary report was that such a Department of Finance should have four divisions, as follows:

1. Assessment division. (The report recommends that assessments should not be the duty of the tax collector.) This division would maintain tax cards showing the names and owners of all properties within city limits and would work with the office of the Supervisor of Assessments in the Court House in keeping the cards up to date.

The division would certify to the tax collecting division the tax roll of the city, showing names of taxpayers, assessed value of their property, tax rate, and tax to be collected.

2. Tax collecting division. This section of the department would maintain a certified tax roll and be headed by a salaried employe whose duty would be to collect all taxes and all other city income and revenue.

3. Auditing division. This would be headed by the city auditor, who would be the general accountant and comptroller of the city.

(The report recommends that the auditor be relieved of his present duty of preparing city tax cards and should merely have the duty of supervision, control and audit of the city's financial affairs.)

Handle All Purchasing

4. Division of purchases. This section would handle all city purchasing. All departments wishing to make purchases would request them through this division, which would check the cost against the unexpended balance of the department's appropriation, check the content, and then purchase on behalf of the city, pooling purchases wherever possible, not only with other city purchases but also with those made by other county and other governmental bodies.

The report, read by W. Earle Cobey, sub-committee chairman, recommended in conclusion that the director of finance prepare the annual city budget, after conferring with department heads and securing from them written requests for appropriations.

The proposed budget should also be published and a public hearing held by the council prior to its adoption, the report stated.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, who attended the meeting with Mayor Thomas S. Post, suggested that the present $10,000 maximum for the city contingent fund might be increased in the new charter, in view of increased city expenses in recent years.

Commission Chairman Isaac Hirsch ordered the sub-committee's report accepted and filed.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Wolf, Oldtown, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Reuschlein, Kensington, Md., announce the birth of a son yesterday at Washington Sanitarium, Tacoma Park. Mrs. Reuschlein is the former Miss Phyllis Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Holmes, 416 Beall Street, and Mr. Reuschlein is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Reuschlein, Decatur Street.

Equity Suits

Two bills of complaint were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday as follows: Winifred H. Said vs Mohammed Ben Said, and Marjorie Virginia Weaver vs Earl L. Weaver.

Times-News Opens Cooking School This Morning At Strand Theatre

Miss Edalene Stohr and her assistant, Miss Barbara Heide, are ready to receive Cumberland housewives today at the first session of the four-day Times-News Food Festival School of Cookery.

The doors of the Strand Theatre will open at 8:45 a. m. to give the audience ample time to get good seats for the program beginning at 9:15.

A home economics graduate and widely experienced in food demonstration, Miss Stohr will bring to the city the results of research by her own organization, the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Particularly emphasized will be methods of wise buying and preparation of meat. The modern homemaker, according to Miss Stohr, is more and more interested in seeing that her family gets the maximum nutrition from the meals she sets before them.

Each day will be devoted to a specific subject. Today, in line with her emphasis on economical meat dishes, she will demonstrate the preparation of Spanish pork chops, Swiss steak, baked sausage patties and leg of lamb. Other dishes on today's menu are banana cake, pumpkin pie, apple strudel, French fried onions and oatmeal cookies.

After the dishes have been prepared, Miss Heide will show the audience how they can be garnished to make the most pleasing picture on the luncheon or dinner table. Mirrors will be used to show the foods from all angles.

Every member of the audience will be presented with a cookbook containing the recipes used in the demonstrations so that they may try them out in their own homes.

During the program, the board's cooking school personnel will point out ways of having varied and nutritious, yet economical, meals. In presenting this program, the Times-News particularly realizes that the present prices of food makes it particularly important that the housewife have the benefit of every aid in planning budget-wise menus.

Allegany County Delegation To Hear Gov. Warren In Baltimore Saturday

A large delegation of Allegany County Republicans and other supporters of the Dewey-Warren presidential ticket, will go to Baltimore Saturday to hear GOP vice presidential candidate Gov Earl R. Warren of California.

A huge state-wide rally has been planned for the Lyric Theater in Baltimore at 8 p. m. Saturday, with Gov. Warren bringing the campaign actively into Maryland. Stanford Hoff, chairman of the Maryland Republican State Central Committee, will preside.

Paul M. Flecher, chairman of the GOP State Central Committee of Allegany County, said last night a large delegation from Cumberland and other parts of the county, along with a group from Garrett County, will attend the rally.

"Since this is the opening address of the campaign in Maryland, and is the first appearance in the state of one of the major candidates, it provides an excellent opportunity

Reserves Take Aptitude Tests Like Marine Corps Enlistees

Members of Company D, Fifth Infantry Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve, will soon be subject to classification tests similar to those given to personnel enlisting in the regular Marine Corps, Capt. John T. Fey, commandant, announced yesterday.

Beginning in October, he said, a class section, consisting of staff non-commissioned officers classification specialists from headquarters, Marine Corps, will visit all reserve units in the Fifth Reserve District for the purpose of testing and interviewing Class II personnel. They will also instruct unit class personnel in the art of Marine Corps classification.

Capt. Fey emphasized that this is a new policy of the Marine Corps Reserve. Formerly only regular enlistees took these tests. From now on, however, those applying for the Reserve are subject to the classification examinations.

Sgt. John E. Harris, 207½ Cecelia Street; Sgt. Donald C. Schneider, 323 Columbia Street, this city, and Pvt. Robert P. Schramm, RFD 5, will give the tests to recruits. These three men took a course in classification during their two weeks training duty at Camp LeJeune, N. C., last month.

All reserve personnel will receive blank questionnaires at the regular drill Thursday. These forms are to be filled out and returned prior to the arrival of the team for use in the classification process, Capt. Fey said.

The classification specialists from the local organization will be used only for new recruits. Members of the unit at present will be tested by the team coming in November.

Capt. Fey said that personnel are required to take a battery of two tests. The first examination is a general classification test used to classify Marines in terms of their

City Accepts Phelps Offer On Flood Sale

Two Bids Received After Deadline

The Mayor and Council yesterday accepted the bid of Phelps, Penn and Company, New York City, and their associates for $700,000 in serial bonds for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

Passage of the order accepting the Phelps offer, which was one of nine sealed bids involving 25 bonding firms, came at a brief session yesterday afternoon.

The session was a continuation of the regular Monday morning meeting of the Mayor and Council, which was recessed at noon until 2:30 because of paper work involved in figuring which bid would cost the city less money on its investment.

Two Received Late

Two of the nine sealed bids, both from New York firms, were received by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz by mail after the other bids had been opened at the 11 o'clock deadline yesterday morning. Neither topped the Phelps offer, however, officials pointed out.

The bid of Phelps, Fenn and Company offered an interest rate of four per cent annually on $84,000 bonds maturing from 1950 to 1952, inclusive; and interest at 2.20 per cent yearly on $336,000 due 1963 to 1974, inclusive.

City officials ordered all other bids rejected and the return of certified "good faith" checks submitted with the rejected bids.

Other firms associated with the Phelps concern are Braun, Bosworth and Company, Inc.; Ferris and Company, and C. T. Williams and Company, Inc.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson pointed out that the average interest rate of the Phelps bid was 2.192 per cent, lowest of the nine offers.

Highest Rate Cited

Highest average interest rate was 2.546357 in the bid of Drexel and Company, New York City, associated with Mackubin, Legg and Company; Mead, Miller and Company, and Robert Garrett and Sons.

One indication of the keen bidding, Buchholtz said, was the fact that the range of the average interest rate was only about one-third of one per cent from the highest to the lowest bids.

Harriman Ripley and Company, New York City, offered the second lowest average interest rate, which approximated 2.218857 per cent.

That firm, whose bid was one of the last two to be received, offered an annual interest rate of four per cent on $112,000 of bonds to mature from 1950 to 1953 inclusive; two per cent on $308,000 to mature from 1954 to 1964 inclusive; 2.20 per cent on $84,000 of bonds to mature from 1965 to 1967, inclusive; and 2.30 per cent on $196,000 of bonds due from 1968 to 1974 inclusive. The firm also offered to pay a premium of 42 cents per $100, or $2,940.

Third lowest bidder was Union Securities Corporation, New York

Police Investigate Theft Of Liquor

The theft of 120 miniature bottles of liquor from the Charlton Brothers warehouse, 802 Lafayette Avenue, was being probed last night after the owner said someone entered the building over the weekend.

Th bottles were removed from a crate, which was left behind, police said, adding that the intruder entered through a side door.

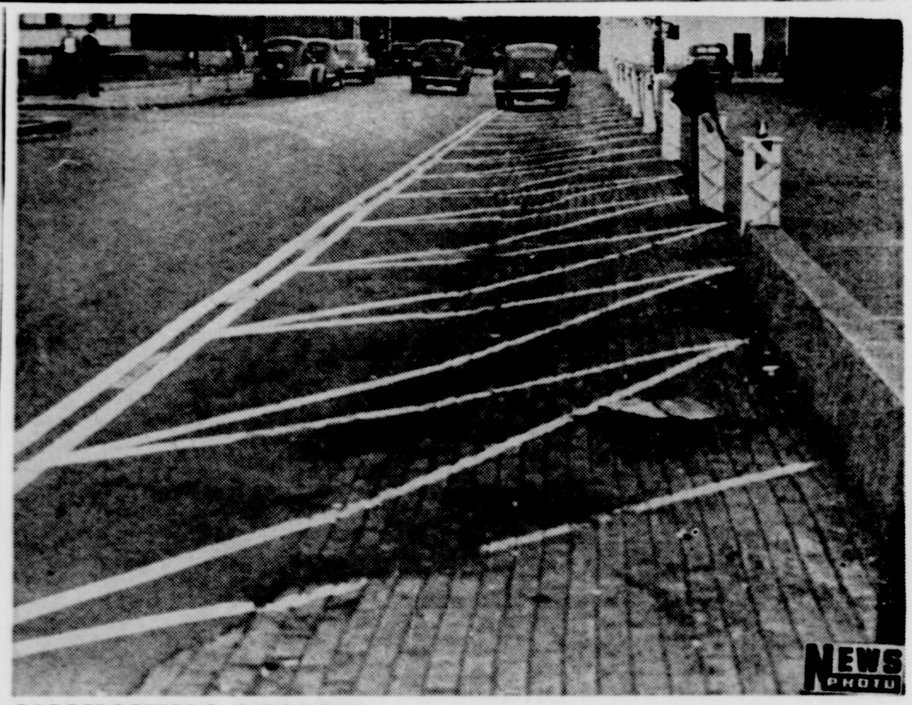

An attempted breaking and entering at Bopp's Flower Shop, 75 Baltimore Street, was also being investigated, after police were told someone climbed to the roof of the green house and attempted to force a window.

L. N. Miller, 7 Cresap Street, told police that a carbureter was stolen from his car while it was parked in front of his home. Police said it is the second auto carbureter theft reported in the past week.

Cletus Felter, 539 Columbia Avenue, reported that a hydraulic jack and two large coal scoops were stolen from his home between Saturday night and yesterday.

The Weather

The Indian Summer days couldn't last, it seems. The weatherman is predicting cloudiness and scattered rains for today. Yesterday was a little too warm for the winter clothes that weather-wary Cumberlanders were wearing. The thermometer climbed up to 75 degrees after registering a down right cold overnight low of 39. However, late last night's 52 was higher than it has been in some time at that hour.

VANISHING VISION-- Once a good spot for a quick stop to hurry to the Postoffice or business district, the area in front of the Western Maryland freight shed on South Mechanic Street has been marked off as a safety zone. Police said automobiles parking in the area, like the one above, is just a scene that "has vanished."

Mineral County Circuit Clerk Dies In Keyser

Eight-Year Illness Claims Paul Dayton

KEYSER, W. Va.—Paul Wagoner Dayton, 56, clerk of the Circuit Court in Mineral County for the past 24 years, died yesterday shortly after 2 p. m. at his home, 300 South Main Street, Keyser.

Mr. Dayton had been stricken with a heart condition approximately eight years ago, but had been able to attend to his duties most of the time. About two months ago he became worse and was confined to his home.

He was born in Mineral County, a son of the late Patrick M. and Amanda Wagoner Dayton. He received his early education in Mineral County rural schools and later attended Potomac State Normal School, Keyser. Mr. Dayton also studied agriculture at West Virginia University, Morgantown.

For several years he served as a field agent for the West Virginia Department of Agriculture. In 1925 he was appointed clerk of the 21st Judicial Circuit Court to fill an unexpired term. He was elected to the same position in 1926 and has filled it ever since.

R. Purdy Shawkey, president of Marshall College, Huntington, until 1935, mentions Mr. Dayton in his book, "West Virginia, Its History, Life Literature and Industries," published in 1928.

He pointed out that at least two generations of the Dayton family preceded Mr. Dayton in Mineral County and were active members of the Republican Party in that period. The late Patrick Dayton was County Assessor for 12 years.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Dayton served as a first lieutenant with the 37th U. S. Field Artillery and was later a member of Boyce-Houser Post No. 41, American Legion, Keyser.

He also belonged to Davis Lodge No. 51, A. F. and A. M., and Grace Methodist Church, Keyser.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Lillian Hite Taylor Dayton, Mr. Dayton is survived by two sons, William Patrick Dayton and Paul Taylor Dayton, both of Keyser, two brothers, Robert P. Dayton, Ridgeley, W. Va.; and Oliver J. Dayton, Keyser, and four sisters, Mrs. Blanche Nottingham, Machipongo, Va.; Mrs. Mabel Snyder, and Mrs. Ruth Blackwell, both of Hanover, Md., and Mrs. Mary Borrer, Ridgeley.

A funeral service will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in Grace Methodist Church with Rev. H. S. Myerly, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

Cresaptown Youth Hurt In Motorcycle Mishap

Cecil Welsh, 16, Cresaptown, was admitter to Allegany Hospital yesterday at 8:30 p. m. for treatment of lacerations and abrasions of the scalp, right hand, right hip, arm and knee.

Attaches said that the youth was hurt while riding a motorcycle on the Mason Road but they knew no details. He was reported in good condition. X-rays will be taken today.

Charles Detrick, Ridgeley, W. Va., who was admitted yesterday at 11 a. m. to the same hospital, for treatment of "back injuries" re*ceived when he fell while at work* at the Celanese Plant, is in good condition. Attaches reported that X-rays show no serious injuries.

No Parking In South Mechanic Safety Zone Means Just That

Old "Temptation" For Motorists Ends

A restricted area on South Mechanic Street that has long been a "temptation" to motorists seeking a convenient parking spot, yesterday became a safety zone for bus patrons and pedestrians.

Officials of the Traffic Division plainly painted the area in front of the Western Maryland freight shed and announced that buses which formerly stopped farther up South Mechanic Street, henceforth would stop in the newly painted area to take on and discharge passengers.

The enforcement was hard to believe for some motorists who have been parking there but an officer stationed in the zone blocked parking yesterday and he will remain there until the public is educated to the idea.

Restricting the zone is the first move toward making South Mechanic Street a two-way thoroughfare under the program to ease traffic conditions in downtown Cumberland.

Officials said that motorists were very willing to conform after the traffic officer explained the reasons and informed them that all automobiles will be barred from parking there in the future.

The old custom of stopping to take on or let out passengers will have to be stopped too, officials said, if the true meaning of the safety zone is to be enforced.

Police said that no violation charges were made yesterday when motorists stopped in the area. Instead, the officer explained the new regulation and asked them to move on.

One or two automobiles were seen in the zone but they were quickly moved after motorists were informed the long time no parking restriction posted there means just that.

Vets For Dewey Being Organized

A Republican Veterans for Dewey and Warren organization is being set up in Allegany County with William H. Geppert, Cumberland attorney and member of the House of Delegates, as chairman.

Geppert was appointed Allegany County chairman by Gen. D. John Markey (retired), Frederick Republican, who is Maryland chairman.

An organization of veterans will be created in the county, Geppert said, with the prime purpose of getting all Republican veterans out to vote for Dewey and Warren and Congressman J. Glenn Beall on November 2.

While plans are still in the formative stage, Geppert predicted that a strong-knit organization will be established and that there will be considerable activity in connection with the campaign.

Geppert, who served in the Navy during World War II for five years, most of the time in the Pacific, said he will appoint a vice chairman in the near future.

Youth, 9, Runs Against Truck

A 9-year-old Green Point Addition youth, who police said darted from his front yard against the side of a truck on Route 36 yesterday at 5 p. m., was treated for lacerations in Allegany Hospital.

Attaches said Joseph Cioni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cioni, suffered lacerations of the scalp and abrasions about the body. He was treated and discharged.

Police said no charges were preferred against Harmon L. Robinette, Baltimore Avenue, who was operating a Maryland State Roads Commission truck.

Rev. R. M. Crowe Heads Methodist Ministers Unit

Rev. B. Ralph Mark Is Elected Vice President

The Cumberland sub-district of the Methodist Ministerium yesterday elected Rev. Raymond M. Crowe, Midland, president of the organization to succeed Rev. Watson E. Holley, Frostburg.

The new ministerium head accepted the gavel from the retiring minister along with other officers elected yesterday who assumed their duties.

Rev. B. Ralph Mark, LaVale, was elected vice president and Rev. Joseph W. Young was re-elected secretary of the organization which embraces Tri-State area churches.

Rev. Winfield Hall, Paw Paw, W. Va., was elected treasurer and Rev. Mark was appointed chairman of the program committee. Rev. Norman Scribner, Centre Street Methodist Church, was appointed librarian.

The group was informed that a new projection machine has been purchased and is available for use in all Methodist churches of the Cumberland sub-district.

Committee chairmen making reports included Rev. Gordon Jones, Emmanuel Methodist Church, Cumberland, Rev. Gordon Hall, Union Grove; Rev. Ralph Mark, LaVale; Rev. Allen B. L. Fisher, Grace Methodist; Rev. Rosco Hall, Hyndman, Pa.; Rev. C. Fred Crowe, Ellerslie; Rev. Raymond Crowe, Midland, and Rev. Watson Holley, Frostburg.

Rev. Holley announced that an interdenominational training school will be held in Frostburg October 27, 28, 29 and November 3, 4 and 5 for all Sunday School teachers.

Rev. Gordon Hall said a series of meetings for the lay members of the Methodist church will be held at Pleasant Grove October 5 through October 17.

Following the business meeting many of the members spoke on their summer vacations and set October 25 as the date for the next meeting to be held in the Centerville Methodist Church, of the Bedford Valley Circuit.

Paper Collection Nets Three Tons First Day

About three tons of paper were collected yesterday in LaVale, Potomac Park, Bowling Green, Bedford Road from Nave's Crossroad to State Line and Baltimore Pike to Miller's Service Station in the first day of the monthly drive.

Today, collections will be made on the West Side.

To Observe Anniversary

Cumberland Optimist Club will hold its second anniversary dinner and ladies night meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club Friday, beginning at 6:30 p. m. A dance will follow.

According to Robert S. Arrington, president, there will be no regular meeting Wednesday of this week because of the ladies night and anniversary affair.

Local Briefs

Cresaptown American Legion Auxiliary Chapter No. 209 will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the Legion home to make plans for the annual installation of officers. Mrs. Edna Hounshell, chapter president, said last night that a social planned by the auxiliary for tonight and tomorrow at the post home has been postponed indefinitely.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the post home. Clyde Kuhns, chairman of the entertainment committee, has arranged for showing of motion pictures after the business session.

Charter Group Offers Views On City Elections

Suggests Realignment Of Voting Places

Primary elections in Cumberland should be conducted by the county Board of Election Supervisors rather than by the city clerk, according to recommendations made last night in a preliminary report of the Cumberland Charter Commission's sub-committee on nominations and elections.

The report, read by John M. Robb, sub - committee chairman, pointed out that the present practice places too great a burden on the city clerk, and that the general city elections are conducted by the Board.

Alternative Suggested

The group's other recommendations with regard to drawing up the proposed new charter were as follows:

1. The new charter should contain a clause permitting, but not requiring, the use of voting machines in city elections.

2. Establishment of a seventh city ward.

3. Omit geographical delineation of precincts, which would be determined by city ordinance.

4. When any precinct numbers 1,000 or more voters, it should by ordinance be broken down into two precincts, with the voters therein divided as equally as possible.

5. City, county and state polling places should be made the same, if possible. (The report cites the fact that Saginaw, Mich., solved this problem by constituting that city as one election district of its county). This point was raised for discussion, with no definite recommendation.

The report points out that the lines of somt city wards may need adjusting, where there is inequal burden on polling places, adding that this could be determined jointly by the Board of Election Supervisors, the Mayor and Council and the city engineer.

October 18 Deadline

Chairman Isaac Hirsch set Monday, October 18, as the deadline for submitting final reports before work is started on drafting the new charter.

Attending the meeting in City Hall as a private citizen, W. A. Spruill, 743 Washington Street, local real estate man, offered several suggestions regarding the new city charter

He said the city should pay for paving all intersections and new streets, as well as for repaving streets and sidewalks This work, he said, should be supervised by the city engineer.

Spruill said the duties of the street commissioner should remain the same, minus the supervision of street paving. The commissioner, he added, should have charge of garbage removal and a general "clean-up" of the city twice yearly.

Loan Association Buys Henderson Office Building

A deed was filed for record at the office of the clerk of court yesterday, showing the sale of the Henderson Building on Pershing Street to the Western Maryland Building and Loan Association, Inc., for a consideration of approximately $28,000 according to attached tax stamps.

The property was conveyed by George H. Henderson and his wife, Joan Henderson, and others.

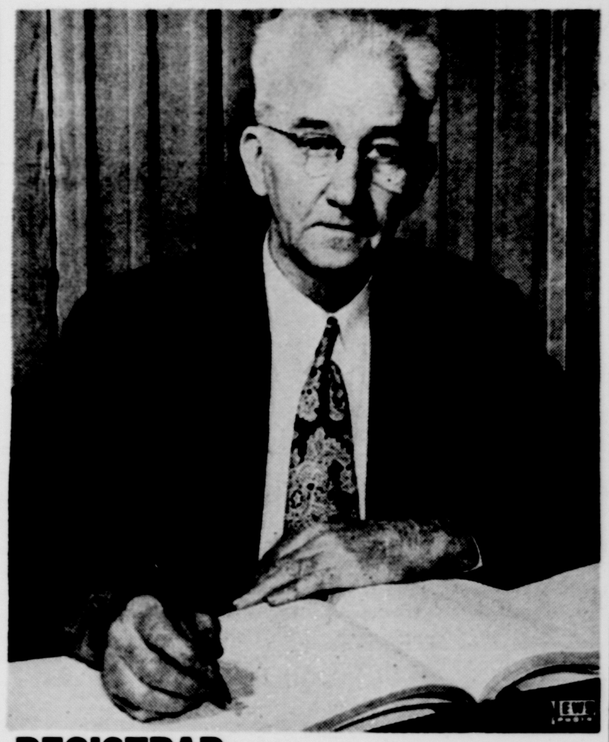

The structure, a three-story brick, houses the Western Maryland Building and Loan and Peter Pan Cleaners on the street floor, the law offices of Cobey, Carscaden and Gilchrist on the second floor and apartments on the third floor.

No immediate changes are planned in the structure, it was reported.

A lease was filed in clerk's office from Norman Kline to the Hi-Dee Club, Inc., for property at 136-138 North Mechanic Street. The document was signed by Kline as landlord, and Edward L. Belfoufe, president, and Joseph L. Belfoure, secretary-treasurer, of the Hi-Dee Club. The lease is for a 10-year period with rental at a fixed fee for the first two years, a higher fee for the next three years and a higher fixed fee for the last five years.

Granted Divorce

A divorce decree was signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., for *Kathleen De Lesline, near Western*port, vs William M. DeLesline, Atlantic City, N. J. She was given the right to resume her former name, Kathleen M. Foster.

REGISTRAR-- Today is the first of two registration days before the presidential election in November. Shown here is Gerald Brode at District No. 5, Precinct No. 4, A to J, 307 Franklin Street, ready to begin registering new voters and re-registering those whose names have been removed. Many names were stricken from the records for failure to vote and persons in doubt about the status of their franchise rights should go to their polling place today and register. There are 75 precincts in the county, all of which will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. today. A second registration day will be held October 5.

Mine Bureau Report Shows 2,240 Men Employed In State Operations

Garrett Production Exceeds Allegany

The 25th annual report of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, of which Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., is director and John T. Rutledge is chief mine engineer, has just been released covering the fiscal year 1947.

Published in booklet form, the report covers coal and fire clay mining in Allegany and Garrett counties, the only areas in Maryland where mines are operated.

In Allegany County, during the calendar year, mines employed 658 miners, 99 drivers (including motormen, brakemen, etc.) 163 inside laborers and 220 outside employes, making a total of 1,140 men.

The production of coal in Allegany County for the 12-month period was 904,134.13 net tons. This indicates a production average of 1,374.06 net tons per man.

Contrary to popular opinion here, Garrett County produced more coal for the year, employed fewer men and yielded a higher average production per man than Allegany County. The report shows Garrett County mined 1,145,861.17 net tons. A total of 1,022 men was employed for an average per man production of 2,392.19 net tons, or a thousand tons more than Allegany County miners produced. In Garrett County employes included 479 miners, 133 drivers (including motormen, brakemen, etc.), 175 inside laborers and 235 outside employes.

The state total of coal produced was 2,049,996.10 tons.

There were 868,890 net tons transported by the Western Maryland Railway from mines located on their lines in Western Maryland during 1947. Of this total, 246,830 tons originated in the George's Creek Region.

During 1947 the mines located on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Western Maryland made coal shipments amounting to 125,900 net tons.

Of this amount, 45,895 net tons came from Garrett County clay mines and 156,159.05 net tons were mined in Allegany. Garrett County clay mines, all strip operations employed five employes for an average production of 9,179 net tons per man.

In Allegany County there were in 1947, 43 miners, 12 drivers, 14 inside laborers and four outside employes for a total of 73 men. The production average was 3,631.6 net tons per man for the year.

First Area Draftees Due At Local Office Oct. 5

The first contingent of area draftees will come to the Cumberland *Main Recruiting Station Octo*ber 5, according to First Lt. George J. Gocke, recruiter-in-charge.

He said that he has been advised that 10 men will be sent from that city for preliminary physical and mental examinations at the local office. So far, he has not received word concerning draftees from any other section of this area.

Recent enlistments announced were Thomas R. Crambitt, 12 Laing Avenue, a former member of the 88th Infantry Division, going to the U. S. Constabulary Corps; Keith S. Ours, Petersburg, W. Va., Regular Army, unassigned; Robert Ronald Witt, Mt. Savage, United States Air Force, unassigned; Thomas William Folk, Route 2, Frostburg, Regular Army, unassigned, and Robert Lee Grimes, Frostburg, Regular Army, unassigned.

Although WAF S. Sgt. Marian C. *Liquersbeck, of the Maryland Re*cruiting District left Friday, Lt. Gocke said that applications for the Woman's Army Corps and Women in the Air Force are still coming in at the station.

Among those passing the preliminary tests recently are Miss Pat Robinson, Lake, WAC; Miss Margaret Wagner, RFD 5, WAF; Miss Virginia Hannas, Keyser, W. Va., WAC; Miss Delores Fletcher, 99 Fayette Street, this city, WAF, and Miss Helen Ault, Independence Street, WAC.

Miss Ault served with the WAC for two years and one month during World War II. She was discharged June 17, 1946 with a T-5 rating.

Spiritual Ideals Support Nations, Minister Declares

Dr. Sloan Stresses Need Of Religion

The conquest of any civilization is brought about by its disregard for spiritual principles and not by armed might, Dr. Harold Paul Sloan, Methodist clergyman, told approximately 60 ministers and lay persons at the Central YMCA yesterday.

One of several speakers on a national tour to promote new loyalty to the spiritual ideals underlying the democratic system, Dr. Sloan, noted editor and speaker, explained that the basis of American democracy is the desire to worship God.

"When a nation or group of people loses sight of the principles of religion it is on its way to decay," the onetime editor of the Christian Advocate, told his audience.

After tracing the decay of civilizations during the past 1,000 years, Dr. Sloan pointed to the periodic civil strife in France and Mexico and explained that both countries have populations of which the large percentage professes no religion whatever.

In France, according to Dr. Sloan, the 40,000,000 population is made up of 9,000,000 Catholics, 1,000,000 Protestants with the rest professing no faith and for the most denying all religious principles.

France, he explained, has suffered numerous upheavals as a result of its apathy toward religion, the Philadelphia clergyman said, adding that in Mexico where similar conditions exist the country has been torn by an average of two revolutions a year for a long period.

After explaining the reason for the formation of each of the American colonies and the democratic principles that have resulted, Dr. Sloan told the group that Communism and Democracy are separated by many beliefs but added the principal dividing mark is that "Communism believes the individual is created for the state, while Democracy believes and practices a doctrine based on the idea that the state is created to better serve the individual."

Veteran Returns To U. S. Marine Corps

A veteran of one year's service in the U. S. Marine Corps, James A. Blankenship, Springfield, W. Va., re-enlisted for three years, according to T. Sgt. Vernon B. Debnam of the local recruiting office.

*Sgt. Debnam also said that en*listments are now being taken to fill the October quota and that unlimited re-enlistments may be taken at the Cumberland office.

City Purchasing Division Favored In Group Report

Finance Director Post Suggested

A separate division of purchasing in the city's financial department was recommended in a preliminary report submitted last night to the Cumberland Charter Commission by its sub-committee on finance.

The group making the report also recommended that in the proposed new city charter, a department of finance be set up, headed by a director of finance.

The director would prepare the annual city budget, supervise and be responsible for all expenditures, maintain a general accounting system for the city, be responsible for the assessment of all property within the city, collect all taxes and other city revenues, have custody of all city funds, supervise and be responsible for all city purchasing, and prepare and submit to the city council necessary reports.

Four Divisions

Also recommended in the preliminary report was that such a Department of Finance should have four divisions, as follows:

1. Assessment division. (The report recommends that assessments should not be the duty of the tax collector.) This division would maintain tax cards showing the names and owners of all properties within city limits and would work with the office of the Supervisor of Assessments in the Court House in keeping the cards up to date.

The division would certify to the tax collecting division the tax roll of the city, showing names of taxpayers, assessed value of their property, tax rate, and tax to be collected.

2. Tax collecting division. This section of the department would maintain a certified tax roll and be headed by a salaried employe whose duty would be to collect all taxes and all other city income and revenue.

3. Auditing division. This would be headed by the city auditor, who would be the general accountant and comptroller of the city.

(The report recommends that the auditor be relieved of his present duty of preparing city tax cards and should merely have the duty of supervision, control and audit of the city's financial affairs.)

Handle All Purchasing

4. Division of purchases. This section would handle all city purchasing. All departments wishing to make purchases would request them through this division, which would check the cost against the unexpended balance of the department's appropriation, check the content, and then purchase on behalf of the city, pooling purchases wherever possible, not only with other city purchases but also with those made by other county and other governmental bodies.

The report, read by W. Earle Cobey, sub-committee chairman, recommended in conclusion that the director of finance prepare the annual city budget, after conferring with department heads and securing from them written requests for appropriations.

The proposed budget should also be published and a public hearing held by the council prior to its adoption, the report stated.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, who attended the meeting with Mayor Thomas S. Post, suggested that the present $10,000 maximum for the city contingent fund might be increased in the new charter, in view of increased city expenses in recent years.

Commission Chairman Isaac Hirsch ordered the sub-committee's report accepted and filed.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Youngblood, 106 Ashley Street, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Eberly, 611 Elm Street, a son.

Equity Suits

*Two bills of complaint were dock*eted in Circuit Court yesterday as follows: Winifred H. Said vs Mohammed Ben Said, and Marjorie Virginia Weaver vs Earl L. Weaver.

Times-News Opens Cooking School This Morning At Strand Theatre

Miss Edalene Stohr and her assistant, Miss Barbara Heide, are ready to receive Cumberland housewives today at the first session of the four-day Times-News Food Festival School of Cookery.

The doors of the Strand Theatre will open at 8:45 a. m. to give the audience ample time to get good seats for the program beginning at 9:15.

A home economics graduate and widely experienced in food demonstration, Miss Stohr will bring to the city the results of research by her own organization, the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Particularly emphasized will be methods of wise buying and preparation of meat. The modern homemaker, according to Miss Stohr, is more and more interested in seeing that her family gets the maximum nutrition from the meals she sets before them.

Each day will be devoted to a specific subject. Today, in line with her emphasis on economical meat dishes, she will demonstrate the preparation of Spanish pork chops, Swiss steak, baked sausage patties and leg of lamb. Other dishes on today's menu are banana cake, pumpkin pie, apple strudel, French fried onions and oatmeal cookies.

After the dishes have been prepared, Miss Heide will show the audience how they can be garnished to make the most pleasing picture on the luncheon or dinner table. Mirrors will be used to show the foods from all angles.

Every member of the audience will be presented with a cookbook containing the recipes used in the demonstrations so that they may try them out in their own homes.

During the program, the board's cooking school personnel will point out ways of having varied and nutritious, yet economical, meals. In presenting this program, the Times-News particularly realizes that the present prices of food makes it particularly important that the housewife have the benefit of every aid in planning budget-wise menus.

Allegany County Delegation To Hear Gov. Warren In Baltimore Saturday

A large delegation of Allegany County Republicans and other supporters of the Dewey-Warren presidential ticket, will go to Baltimore Saturday to hear GOP vice presidential candidate Gov Earl R. Warren of California.

A huge state-wide rally has been planned for the Lyric Theater in Baltimore at 8 p. m. Saturday, with Gov. Warren bringing the campaign actively into Maryland. Stanford Hoff, chairman of the Maryland Republican State Central Committee, will preside.

Paul M. Flecher, chairman of the GOP State Central Committee of Allegany County, said last night a large delegation from Cumberland and other parts of the county, along with a group from Garrett County, will attend the rally.

"Since this is the opening address of the campaign in Maryland, and is the first appearance in the state of one of the major candidates, it provides an excellent opportunity

Reserves Take Aptitude Tests Like Marine Corps Enlistees

Members of Company D, Fifth Infantry Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve, will soon be subject to classification tests similar to those given to personnel enlisting in the egular Marine Corps, Capt. John F. Fey, commandant, announced yesterday.

Beginning in October, he said, a class section, consisting of staff non-commissioned officers classification specialists from headquarters, Marine Corps, will visit all reserve units in the Fifth Reserve District for the purpose of testing and interviewing Class II personnel. They will also instruct unit class personnel in the art of Marine Corps classification.

The specialists should arrive in Cumberland November 18 and make their visit with the unit here dur*ing regular drill that night.*

Capt. Fey emphasized that this is a new policy of the Marine Corps Reserve. Formerly only regular enlistees took these tests. From now on, however, those applying for the Reserve are subject to the classification examinations.

Sgt. John E. Harris, 207½ Cecelia Street; Sgt. Donald C. Schneider, 323 Columbia Street, this city, and Pvt. Robert P. Schramm, RFD 5, will give the tests to recruits. These three men took a course in classification during their two weeks training duty at Camp LeJeune, N. C., last month.

All reserve personnel will receive blank questionnaires at the regular drill Thursday. These forms are to be filled out and returned prior to the arrival of the team for use in the classification process, Capt. Fey said.

The classification specialists from the local organization will be used only for new recruits. Members of the unit at present will be tested by the team coming in November.

Capt. Fey said that personnel are required to take a battery of two tests. The first examination is a general classification test used to classify Marines in terms of their
